WILL SUBPOENA ALL MEMBERS OF STOCK MARKET

Replies to Pecora's Questions Denied.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—[Special]—The New York Stock exchange today refused to require members of the exchange to reply to the questionnaire of the senate banking and currency subcommittee investigating stock exchange practices.

The questionnaire called for a record of the transactions of each member of the exchange in joint, pool, margin and cash accounts, and for other information, from July, 1929, before the stock market collapse, to July of the present year, including the boom market of 1933.

Ferdinand Pecora, counsel for the investigating committee, announced tonight that the decision of the governing authorities of the exchange leaves the committee "no alternative but to exercise the subpoena process upon the exchange members, and thereby compel their attendance as well as the production of books and records before the committee."

To Subpœna All Members.

Mr. Pecora said the service of the subpœnas would start tomorrow, and that they were to go to each of the 1,375 members of the exchange.

The refusal of the exchange to circulate the questionnaire, however, does not mean that the exchange itself has refused to furnish the data asked of it by the senate committee. The exchange agreed in a letter written by President Richard Whitney to provide the information, but "felt that it lacked the power to compel its members to answer the particular questions addressed to them."

Asserting that the questionnaire as originally submitted would have required in many instances that each customers' account be examined and analyzed over a period of almost five years, Mr. Whitney stated that it would have required a stupendous amount of work and expenditure by the members of the exchange "of many millions of dollars."

Would Cost Millions.

Even in the modified form, he is of the opinion that its cost would amount to several million dollars. In justice to the members of the exchange, Mr. Whitney wrote, such a huge expenditure should not be imposed upon them "for the sole purpose of securing economic statistical information."

"Certain of the questions," Mr. Whitney's letter said, "particularly those, referring to the income of members of the exchange and to the number of, and the debit balances in, margin accounts carried by them in 1929 and in 1933, would have required the members to furnish to you information which they have already given or are currently furnishing to the department of internal revenue. I was advised by your associate that the records of the treasury department are available to you and it therefore seemed grossly unfair to compel the members of the exchange to furnish the same information, almost duplicate in certain aspects, to two departments of the government."

Pecora Questions "Expense."

Mr. Pecora, in commenting on the exchange's refusal based on the expense, said:

"It is claimed by Mr. Whitney that this expense would run into millions of dollars. As a result of informal inquiries which I have caused to be made of representative New York stock exchange firms, I am led to believe that the required data could be compiled by each brokerage office at a very slight expense and within two or three weeks time.

"In his letter, Mr. Whitney stated that certain data which the questionnaire required from the exchange itself would be supplied to me. The most important information sought to be obtained through the medium of the questionnaire is, however, that which can be furnished only by the members of the exchange.

"Leaves No Alternative."

"The decision of the governing authorities of the exchange leaves the committee no alternative but to exercise the subpoena process upon the members and thereby compel their attendance, as well as the production of their books and records before the committee."

The committee will resume its investigation Wednesday and embark upon a new line of inquiry, going into the financial transactions of the Chase Securities corporation. Albert H. Wiggin, former chairman of the board of this corporation, was scheduled as

3 GO ON TRIAL FOR MURDER OF BANK CASHIER

State Seeks Death Penalty Jury.

Selection of a jury to try three young gunmen who are charged with the murder of a Niles Center bank cashier last May was begun yesterday in the Criminal court of Judge William V. Brothers. The defendants are John Scheck, already under sentence to die for the courtroom murder of Policeman John G. Sevick, and Carl Grundhoefer and Frank Keglovitz.

The slain cashier, Harry Mueller of Morton Grove, was shot down without warning in the lobby of the First National bank of Niles Center as he interrupted the holdup on his return from lunch. The state charges that Grundhoefer has confessed firing the fatal shot.

Only two jurors were accepted during the day long questioning of veniremen due to the cautious procedure of both defense and state attorneys. The state is seeking a jury qualified to inflict the death penalty. Each side is entitled to 20 peremptory challenges for each defendant and these were exercised freely yesterday.

New List of Witnesses.

Assistant State's Attorney Mal Coghlan opened yesterday's hearing by submitting a new list of state witnesses that did not include the name of Grundhoefer. Inclusion of the defendant's name in the original list had caused Attorneys James M. Burke and George Crane, representing Keglovitz, to charge that a deal for leniency had been made in behalf of the actual killer. This has been denied by the state's attorney's office.

Scheck, who shot and killed Policeman Sevick during an attempted escape from the courtroom of Judge Charles P. Molthrop, was handcuffed when he appeared in court this time. Grundhoefer, Scheck's companion in the break for freedom, and Keglovitz were not manacled.

"What's the matter with Grundhoefer?" Attorney Emmet Byrne, representing Scheck, demanded. "Is he considered a man of honor that he is not handcuffed?"

The appeal was ignored after the statement of the state that they felt "they could handle Grundhoefer." Attorney Burke asked a severance for Keglovitz on the ground that introduction of evidence concerning the Sevick murder would be unfair to his client. Judge Brothers overruled the motion, but announced that he would instruct the jury on this point.

Orders Bomb Trial to Begin.

The trial of William Palermo and James Catura on charges of conspiracy to transport a dynamite bomb was ordered held on the trial call for immediate hearing by Judge Molthrop. The judge ruled that the trial must be started following completion of a case now in hearing, which is expected to end today or tomorrow.

Assistant State's Attorney Richard Reagan asked for a short continuance because of the absence of Prosecutor Coghlan, who is engaged in the Scheck-Grundhoefer-Keglovitz case.

"This case has been in the building too long," Judge Molthrop said, referring to the bomb suspects. "It must go to trial immediately. The machinery of the state's attorney's office should run smoothly enough so that the absence of one man does not interrupt the administration of justice."

Palermo and Catura, henchmen of James [King of the Bombers] Belcastro, were arrested last April as they rode at Lake and Sangamon streets with a seven stick dynamite bomb in their automobile.

Sentence 42 Gangster.

Philip Marino, 28 years old, a member of the "42" gang, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Francis B. Allegretti to one year to life in the penitentiary on a charge of robbery. The defendant had been convicted by a jury for the robbery of the Ciba company, 326 West Huron street, on April 11.

Mrs. Rose Civelette of New Orleans, Marino's sister, was led sobbing to the bench as Public Defender Joseph Power withdrew a motion for a new trial.

"Do you realize that you are imposing a death sentence on my brother?" she asked Judge Allegretti. "He has an advanced case of tuberculosis and needs care."

"I'm sorry," Judge Allegretti told her, "but if a man puts his hand on a hot stove he's bound to get burned. That's what happened to your brother."

Trial of Kenneth Rucker and Russell McAtee for the murder of a garage attendant during a robbery will be started today in Judge Benjamin Epstein's court.

MISSING STUDENT RETURNS; TELLS OF KIDNAPING

William Walton Hall, 31 years old, law student and part owner of the Sea Dog inn, 335 East Illinois street, who was reported in the hands of kidnapers, turned up at Madison street and Crawford avenue last night. He had been missing since Friday night.

He told a story of being thrown blindfolded out of an automobile by one of his captors. The scene of his release was a half block away from a café at 22 North Crawford avenue owned by Lou Leider, his friend and classmate. Hall immediately went there and Leider notified his family at 613 Thomas avenue, Forest Park. Hall appeared bedraggled and fatigued. He said he had not eaten since Friday.

According to his story several armed men forced him into their car at Market and Randolph streets shortly after he had left the Kent College of Law, 10 North Franklin street. They kept him prisoner in a small room, he said. The kidnapers, Hall asserted, demanded $15,000 ransom, but cut their demand to $9,000 later. Then last night, he said, he persuaded his one remaining guard to free him.

Shortly before Hall's appearance last night at the Leider café an anonymous telephone caller offered to sell to THE TRIBUNE information of Hall's whereabouts. The offer was refused

During the investigation of Hall's disappearance, some doubt was expressed that Hall had been kidnaped, H. L. De Lisle, Hall's business partner, being one of the skeptics.

Hall was questioned early this morning by Melvin Purvis of the department of justice bureau of investigation. Mr. Purvis said the case appeared to be one for state authorities. He is investigating the use of the mails in the case.

BOY, 3, WOUNDED PLAYING WITH FATHER'S GUN

Under the pillow was a loaded pistol. While his mother was busy putting two younger children to bed, little Carl investigated the strange toy that was in the bed with him. A little later there was a shot and Mrs. Walberg ran into the room to find he had wounded himself in the abdomen. He was taken to Burnside hospital, where he is in a serious condi on.

Carl Walberg Sr., an unemployed laborer, learned of the shooting when he returned home soon afterward.

Absentee Ballots Mailed So Roosevelts Can Vote

Hyde Park, N. Y., Oct. 16.—(AP)—Applications and affidavits for absentee ballots have been mailed to the White House to enable President Roosevelt and members of his family to vote for Dutchess county officials next month without coming to the polls.

Boo Huey Long for Criticism of Roosevelt

New Orleans, La., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Senator Huey P. Long was booed, heckled and hissed during his speech at the South Louisiana state fair at Donaldsonville, Sunday, especially when he assailed President Roosevelt.

He expected a crowd of 20,000 to greet him at his well advertised appearance to explain his tax plan. Less than 6,000 persons attended the fair, and only 800 surrounded the pavilion where he spoke.

Several times during his speech the senator lost his temper. Surrounded by at least twenty highway policemen he invited any one of his hecklers to "come down here out of that there grand stand and I'll man to man it with you."

"And I won't have," he shouted, "five or six men jump on you like they did to me at Sandspoint. I'll Long Island anything that gets in my way around these diggings."

Says He Elected Roosevelt.

The greatest booing of the senator was during that part of his speech in which he attacked the President.

"You have been told," he said, "that I failed to back up President Roosevelt. That is correct, and I won't back him up any more unless I feel like it.

"I am running my job and Roosevelt ain't got nothing to do with me. The difference, I was elected without his help, and he couldn't have been elected without the help of Huey P. Long." Boos, hisses and laughter greeted this statement.

"Come on down here," shouted Huey, "and I'll make you giggle. I'll give you a dose of castor oil, and laudanum if necessary." Gov. Allen pulled the arm of the Kingfish and said so many heard him, "Now, don't lose your temper."

Attacks NRA Program.

Dwelling upon the NRA, Senator Long said:

"You know what that means. I'll not give you my definition, because you'll have your own definition soon, if you haven't got it already. The NRA was supposed to decrease hours, raise wages, and employ more people. As a fact it ain't done nothing.

"While the government was telling you what to do about raising pay and employing more people and shortening hours, the same government was firing employés, cutting wages and lengthening hours. I wouldn't be a party to that kind of stuff, just because the President told me to."

POLICEMAN SHOT IN CICERO AS HE AVERTS HOLDUP

Policeman Adam Harast, 32 years old, of the Cicero force, was shot in the right part of the chest last night when he tried to intercept two holdup men outside the meeting place of the Adam and Mickiewjcz Building and Loan association at 4929 West 30th street, Cicero.

The bullet coursed diagonally and passed through the right arm. Policeman Harast was taken to the Berwyn hospital. His wound was described as serious.

Carl Swoboda, president, and nine other officers of the loan company were in the meeting place, in the rear of a tavern, when the two robbers entered. Policeman Harast was standing nearby. When they saw the policeman they announced that a friend of theirs, who was waiting outside, was interested in the association and that they would bring him in. As they left through a side entrance Policeman Harast departed through a front entrance and intercepted them outside. One of the men shot him down. They then got into a car with a third man and escaped.

WOMAN LEAVES $57,500 IN BONDS IN A WASHROOM

Mrs. Margaret Delaney, 18 East Elm street, carried $57,500 worth of Liberty bonds yesterday to the First National bank, where interest coupons were clipped. Then, with the bonds in a handbag, she stopped at the North Western railroad station to inquire about train schedules.

A little later Miss Irene Haynes, 2129 Pierce avenue, a cashier in a Thompson restaurant, found the handbag and the bonds in a washroom. She handed the property over to Capt. Edward C. Weigle of the station police, who turned them over to the First National bank.

When bank officials restored the bonds to Mrs. Delaney she gave Miss Haynes $100.

ARSENIC MIGHT BE GOOD IN THIS CALIFORNIA MENU

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—California has had several serious cases of illness and even death due to eating vegetables that had been sprayed with an arsenic solution to protect them from bugs while growing.

Sunday night seven persons became ill after 16 had enjoyed a dinner at a bay club. Contents of their stomachs were examined and showed no trace of arsenic. Broccoli was suspected of bearing that poison.

Dr. Crandall, county health officer, absolved the broccoli when he heard the rest of the menu, which was: Lobsters, cheese cake, and a sauce dessert.

Mrs. Roosevelt Will Visit City; Stop at Hotel

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—[Special]—Mrs. Roosevelt is going to Chicago to spend the last two days of this month. But there is no need for you to clean your house and send her a telegram inviting her to spend the time as your house guest. For she's going to put up at a public hotel. It's what she prefers to do, and always does when she can.

The reason?

"I'm a perfect pest as a guest," she explained this morning when a newspaper woman at the press conference wanted to know "Who's guest you'll be in Chicago?"

Then she launched into the same theme she has developed before. That she's always running out at odd moments; that she's always having people come to see her at odd moments; that she makes life hectic for a hostess; hence the hotel formula.

Special but Impersonal.

As a matter of fact, however, she will be a special but somewhat impersonal guest on both days.

Monday, Oct. 30, a divisional meeting of the 1933 committee on mobilization for human needs, of which Newton Baker is head and she woman's chairman, is being held then and there so that she may be present and address it.

Tuesday, Oct. 31, she will be guest of honor at the Woman's day at A Century of Progress. And please, Mr. Rufus Dawes, if you have any influence with the weather man, have a pretty night, for she is crazy to see the Fair by mystic moonlight.

Mr. Baker's group is the sponsoring committee for the crusades of information [there are 182 now in progress in 182 cities] preliminary to the launching of a local community chest drive. Mrs. Roosevelt has been saying here in Washington, to the Crusaders, and will say in Chicago, that the need for private charity and personal giving has not been lessened by the fact that the government has taken over some share in the alleviation of want.

Enlist Personal Aid of Relief.

"Because the government has relief projects," says Mrs. Roosevelt, "does not mean that the private citizen can sit back and say, 'Let the government do it,' or 'Let George do it.' The responsibility is also on the private purse."

Balanced against this plea for private giving she puts an obligation on the charities to be benefited by the several community chests, that they put their cards on the table and tell the public exactly what they did last year, how much money they spent in overhead, how much for relief, and what they propose to do this year.

This week, Thursday, Mrs. Roosevelt plans to accompany Secretary of the Interior Ickes and other government officials to Reedsville, W. Va., there to visit the experimental community now in the process of development.

Here, under Secretary Ickes' direction, a government factory for the manufacture of postoffice furniture and fixings is being established. The employés are picked from the relief rolls and sent there; the men to work in the factories, their families to live in a planned community, where a subsistence farm project is calculated to furnish much of their food, and to give the men work in slack factory periods.

WARNS NATIONS TO SETTLE OWN DIFFICULTIES

Davis Bares Edict of Roosevelt.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, Oct. 16.—The United States, with Norman H. Davis, American ambassador at large, as its mouthpiece, tonight formally served notice on the nations of Europe that, in so far as political matters are concerned, they will have to get out of their present mess without America's help.

Davis said his country would "gladly continue" to take part in disarmament negotiations, but he said it is up to Europe to decide whether the world disarmament conference is to be continued.

It is known here that Davis, in giving the warning, was acting under orders directly from President Roosevelt, forcing Davis to take a stand of neutrality quite different from his own earlier position.

Arms Parley Adjourned.

The American envoy gave out his statement to the press following the decision of the general commission of the disarmament parley to adjourn the conference until a week from Wednesday. The recess was decided upon to give the delegates of the various nations time to formulate some plan of action as a sequel to the withdrawal of Germany from the league of nations and the conference.

The text of Davis' statement concerning the part to be played by the United States in European affairs follows:

"While there is a possibility of successfully carrying on disarmament negotiations we shall gladly continue to do our part.

"No European Alliances."

"We again make it clear that we in no way are politically aligned with any European power. Such unity of purpose as existed has been entirely on world disarmament matters.

"Whether or not conditions are favorable to continue the present disarmament effort is now a question for Europe and not the United States to decide.

"During this week there will be consultations between the capitals of Europe.

"We do not wish to take an active part in these, as the implications are purely political. The principles set forth last May by the President in his message to the heads of states remain the policy of the United States."

Replies to German Charges.

Davis' statement followed a lively session of the general conference commission during which the latter authorized Arthur Henderson, president of the conference, to send an answer to Germany's message of withdrawal.

Authorization was given after delegates from Russia, Poland and Turkey had launched an attack on recent secret negotiations, in which the United States played one of the leading roles, and issued a warning that their governments could assume no responsibility for the program of disarmament, which the big four powers —France, Italy, Great Britain and the United States—had worked out.

Henderson in his answer refuted the German argument that the former allies were not living up to their treaty pledges. It is understood that the objections of the Polish, Turkish and Russian delegates also reflected the sentiment of the little entente nations —Rumania, Jugo-Slavia, and Czechoslovakia.

Text of Henderson's Reply.

"I communicated to the general commission your excellency's telegram of Oct. 14 announcing the decision of the German government to discontinue participation in the work of the conference for the reduction and limitation of armaments and indicating the reasons for that decision.

"The German government took this step at the moment when the bureau had just decided to submit to the general commission a definite program.

"This program, to be completed within a limited period, provided for the realization progressively, in accordance with the resolutions of the conference in which Germany herself concurred, of the reductions of armaments comparable to those contemplated in the draft convention submitted to the general commission.

"This program was provided also with corresponding measures of security for the realization of the rights which the German government have always placed in the forefront of their demands.

"I regret, therefore, that this grave decision should have been taken by your government for reasons which I am unable to accept as valid."

Although Davis' statement tonight was believed to have been intended partly for domestic use in answering accusations such as that by Senator James Hamilton Lewis [Dem., Ill.] that the United States is meddling in European politics, its timeliness was enhanced by the European method of negotiating which led up to last week's crisis.

Davis' audience found his statement somewhat confusing owing to the hair-line distinction between "political" discussions, in which Davis denied he had ever engaged, and the purely "disarmament" matters which the United States is willing to discuss with anybody any time.

Some light on Davis' statement is shed by the following information concerning the real American position, which was obtained from a reliable source. Accusations that the United States is aligned with Great Britain and France against Germany on the arms question are perfectly correct insofar as the three countries are agreed that there should be no rearmament in Germany until international supervision of armaments has functioned satisfactorily for a few years.

Political Question to France.

This matter, which is one of technical disarmament from the American standpoint, is a political question in France, where it comes under the head of "security," and in Germany, where it contradicts the Nazi thesis of "immediate equality of rights."

Davis' attitude in the face of the present crisis, it is understood, is that while the United States must not get entangled in any European war, the best way to avoid this is to coöperate in trying to maintain European peace. In other words, the United States delegation does not feel that it should take sides in any quarrel, but does feel that it can fill a useful rôle as mediator, since the American delegates believe the Europeans trust in them and in their impartiality.

The Americans neglect to point out that by this very position they exercise a powerful political pressure on the Europeans, because it amounts to saying in a polite way that the United States will leave them to their fate unless they continue with the disarmament conference.

Recall Roosevelt Message.

No direct rewards are held out to the Europeans if they do continue with the conference, but President Roosevelt's message of last May, to which Davis referred in his statement, promised that when a convention is signed the United States will adhere to a consultation pact and will abandon neutrality under certain conditions.

Although this does not seem to be worth much on paper, all Europeans, particularly the French, attach great importance to it and are very anxious to keep Davis in Geneva conferring with them, whether it is on technical or political matters. That is why they are willing to make an effort to keep the conference going.

Prior to sending his reply to Germany, Henderson made a speech before the International Peace association, most of the members of which are Americans, in which he pleaded for a continuance of peace efforts. Henderson said:

"My message is that the struggle for disarmament must go on and that the covenant of the league of nations shall not be treated as a scrap of paper. We will not break faith with the dead who fell that there should be no more war.

"Nail your flag to the mast of the league. Make the will to peace stronger than the will to war. Every delay or defeat must call forth fresh reserves of stubborn and relentless energy. The flower of one generation was slain in the great war and it is our duty to give the world peace in our time.

"We must not hesitate to incur risks and make whatever sacrifice may be necessary to insure the final triumph of the reign of law over international anarchy that breeds war."

Says All Are Welcome.

Henderson said the league's efforts in behalf of peace are not confined to members of the league.

"We have welcomed as partners the United States and the soviet union," he said, "and they have both made great contributions to the cause of consolidating world peace—the United States through its nine-power treaty and other agreements concluded at Washington through the Paris pact, the London naval agreement and numerous conciliation arbitration treaties.

"However just its cause or good its intention, no government can be trusted to remain loyal to the cause of peace if it flouts the collective peace system to which the world is pledged. The government which rejects that system is inevitably encouraging its citizens to regard war as legitimate and inevitable."

Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan of Washington, D. C., representing the American Council of Disarmament, read cables selected from 50 received last night from numerous massmeetings in the United States urging continuation of disarmament efforts.

BRITAIN REFUSES TO GET EXCITED OVER GERMANY

Believes Hitler Acted for "Home Consumption."

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 16.—The British government today continued to preserve an attitude of calm toward the crisis created by Germany's withdrawal from the arms conference and the league of nations.

The foreign office and No. 10 Downing street announced they would have nothing to say until after Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon's return from Geneva. Simon is due in London tomorrow, but no special meeting of the cabinet will be called and the situation will not be discussed formally until the regular weekly cabinet meeting on Wednesday.

Call Hitler's Move "Strategic."

The feeling is growing that Chancellor Hitler's move was strategic, partly to bring France to a sense of the reality of the situation on armaments and partly for home consumption.

"I should not like to have the measure of moral responsibility the German government has laid on itself," the archbishop said. "If Germany is to rearm, it is difficult to see how France could avoid following in the same direction. Then there would begin again that piling up of armaments which was one of the contributory causes of disaster in 1914."

Pleads for Moderation.

A plea for moderation in dealing with Germany was made by Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, in a speech at a Conservative party rally at Nottingham tonight. Referring to Germany's withdrawal from the league and the arms parley, he said that Great Britain had made great efforts to restore confidence in Europe "to which nothing could be contributed more than adoption of a disarmament convention such as was proposed recently by this nation.

"We must, therefore, deeply regret the action of the German government, an action which seems to us to be both precipitous and ill judged because the proposals made by our foreign minister, which received the general support of not only France but also the United States and Italy, were specifically designed to give Germany complete equality of treatment within a reasonable period," he continued.

"We would do well to refrain from hasty comment and alarmist speculation. Let us reserve judgment until our representatives have had an opportunity of consulting with representatives of other countries as to the implications of this unfortunate incident and the course which should now be pursued."

Daladier to Address Deputies.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 16.—Premier Edouard Daladier will make a direct reply to Germany from the tribune of the chamber of deputies tomorrow, according to the Echo de Paris. He will discuss the new situation arising out of the German action after placing the government's budget project before the deputies.

Daladier will reply to Germany as a whole rather than to Chancellor Hitler's speech and, according to Echo's information, will stick to assertions recently made at Vichy, when he challenged Germany's motive in not only demanding more arms but training its youth. He will acknowledge Hitler's overtures to France, universally regarded here as a bid to two-party negotiations, but will indicate that in the opinion of France the problem cannot be solved by such a method.

The premier will appeal to the country to remain calm, pointing out that the frontiers are well guarded. He will say that France must not get excited over possible isolated incidents.

On the budget itself—on which the deepest pessimism prevails over the government's chances of surviving—Daladier will demand an immediate vote of confidence.

Austria Jails 10; Bares Nazi Plot to Seize Government

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, Austria, Oct. 16.—Police in Linz, an industrial town on the Danube 35 miles from the German frontier, announced tonight that they had run down a Nazi plot to seize the barracks and set up a government as the signal for a general uprising of brown shirts all over Austria.

Ten alleged conspirators, including two army officers, six soldiers, a locomotive engineer, and a girl, were arrested and a search of their lodgings, police say, yielded a sensational set of documents.

Certain papers were said to point to collaboration from the other side of the frontier of an ex-army captain, an ardent Nazi, who escaped to Germany and since then has been deprived of Austrian citizenship. The police refused to state whether they had found any other clues leading to Hitlerland, but said a large number of arrests are imminent.

Reveal Nazi Plans.

The Nazi project was elaborately conceived and planned, according to the police, to break before the end of the week. Maps were found with little flags showing the armed strength of Nazi units, officially dissolved, in all towns of upper Austria as well as plans of electric light plants and telephone exchanges.

First Lieutenant Franz Fritsch, about to be pensioned because of his Nazi leanings, was to have led the storm troopers against Linz barracks in the early hours of the morning, it is charged, seize the arms there and occupy strategic points of the town, and then send out news to the rest of Austria that a National Socialist government had been proclaimed in Linz.

These revelations of the extent of Nazi plotting, together with an epidemic of Nazi student riots at the universities and technical schools of Vienna, Graz, and Innsbruck today, are not calculated to calm Austrian nerves. In Vienna petards and stink bombs were exploded in the university and technical academy. From the latter a huge swastika banner was unfurled.

Police went into action with a gusto, since Dollfuss had lifted the centuries old immunity of the university buildings from police control. After violent scuffling ten Nazi students and ten other citizens were arrested.

The riots, which gave evidence of careful planning, were the first tangible expression of enthusiasm of Austrian Nazis at Hitler's gesture against the former allies. Nazi student leaders hailed Hitler's action as "the first real bid for freedom of the German people."

The Austrian Socialists tonight at the close of their party congress summoned Dollfuss to let them help in defense of the Austrian frontier against Germany. They called for the formation of a fully armed "workers' legion" to collaborate with the regular troops, constabulary and heimwehr who in the last few days have redoubled their vigilance on the frontier, particularly at Scharnitz, Kufstein, Innsbruck and Salsburg, where the local Austrian Nazis are understood to possess quantities of arms.

Fear For Own Fate.

"We want to help defend Austria against the brown barbarians because we know that if they get in we will be the first to suffer," read the Socialist resolution.

The Socialists agreed that in view of the dangerous situation of Austria within and without they would tolerate the Dollfuss dictatorship for a period of six months. But if the little chancellor yields to the insistence of the Fascist heimwehr that the Socialists be ejected from Vienna city hall and the party dissolved, they threatened to precipitate a general strike.

Dr. Otto Bauer, Marxist leader, said that although many Dollfuss supporters are advising him to strengthen his dictatorship by a compromise with the Socialists, there is little hope of this.

"Workers of Austria will eventually have to fight for their rights," he predicted.

SOVIET PRESS SEES GERMAN ACTION AS ENDANGERING PEACE

MOSCOW, Oct. 16.—(AP)—The Soviet press sees danger to world peace in editorial reaction to Germany's withdrawal from the league of nations and the disarmament conference. At the same time, however, it declares the action demonstrates the complete inability of the league to carry out its functions.

Izvestia, recalling the similar withdrawal of Japan, said: "When Germany wants to obtain freedom of action for its military adventures, it does likewise, and declares to the world that it has decided to enter the path of war preparations."

Declaring Germany's action was the result of the failure of Nazi domestic policies and consequent international isolation, the government organ continued with the assertion that withdrawal has cleared the way for new chauvinistic and militaristic propaganda. In the tumult of which the Nazis plan to elect a new reichstag—thus demonstrating "the unity" of the nation.

Pravda said: "Europe has become a volcano, with the whole capitalistic world preparing for war."

MANY ARE KILLED AS REBELS FIGHT SIAMESE TROOPS

BANGKOK, Siam, Oct. 16.—(AP)—Up country rebel troops and loyal forces clashed today in severe fighting which saw many killed and wounded and several fighting airplanes shot down. The fight for control of the government became largely a matter of supremacy in the air with the establishment by government forces of a temporary airport in the capital city.

GRAU OUSTS AID OF CUBAN ARMY HEAD; SPLIT SEEN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, Oct. 16.—Developments in Cuba today indicated the possibility of a break between Col. Fulgencio Batista, head of the army, and the government. During the absence of Col. Batista, who has been the mainstay of the present Cuban government, President Grau San Martin removed Lieut. Ulsaciano Franco as Havana's chief of police. He replaced him with Mario Labourder, 28 year old leader of the Caribbean students' army.

Lieut. Franco, who is Col. Batista's right hand man, will assume his former command at Camp Columbia. The ousting of Franco, for which no reason was assigned, strengthened indications that the Caribbean army, termed Grau's "porra" [strong arm force] in some quarters, has more power now than the regular police or army authorities.

This condition was further evidenced today what "Caribs" arrested Col. Juan Cruz Bustillo, commandant of Cabanas fortress under former President Machado, as he attempted to board a plane for Miami. Bustillo, despite a permit signed by Col. Batista to leave the island, was imprisoned. Col. Batista left Camp Columbia early today with five staff officers for an unannounced destination. Palace officials said he has gone to inspect conditions in the interior. Rumors were revived that he is planning a coup d'état.

DAVIS' WARNING GIVEN ON ORDERS FROM ROOSEVELT

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—President Roosevelt today sent orders to Norman H. Davis, his ambassador at large at Geneva, to keep the United States wholly aloof from the political battles of Europe.

As a result Mr. Davis, whose speechmaking and conference holding activities in Europe have stirred several senators to demand his recall, tonight issued a statement at Geneva which clarifies the position of the United States.

In the statement, which, it is understood, was dictated word for word by President Roosevelt and then cabled to Mr. Davis, the American government was taken completely out of the heated issues now pending on disarmament.

If the broken down disarmament conference, brought to a virtual collapse by the withdrawal of Germany, is to be patched up and resumed, it will be done without any promises by the United States, the statement made clear. Mr. Davis will not participate in the patching up conference.

Davis Attacked by Lewis.

While no detailed interpretation of the instructions was obtainable tonight, it was reported as the view of the President that Davis should concern himself with naval disarmament and not with the extent of land forces and armaments of European nations.

Mr. Davis' speech at Geneva on Saturday was interpreted by Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois, an administration adviser on foreign affairs, as an effort to commit the United States eventually to enter into a pact to guarantee by some system the security of France against attack by Germany.

Senator Lewis expressed the opinion that Davis should be recalled "to practice his oratory upon the mountains of Tennessee."

Makes Public Davis Message.

A development which preceded the new restatement of policy was the making public in the state department of laudatory messages delivered by Mr. Davis to Lord Robert Cecil of England in connection with a mass-meeting at Geneva yesterday.

The first message, drafted and sent before the Germans withdrew from th disarmament conference, stated:

"The secretary of state on behalf of the President wishes me to convey to you his sympathetic interest in the mass meeting which is to take place on Sunday and to express his belief that this imposing demonstration of the aspirations of millions who are looking to the conference to take a decisive step toward reducing armaments will constitute a solemn reminder to the representatives of the nations of the world that they must not allow the conference to fail.

"Should Redouble Efforts."

"Fortified with the knowledge that world opinion is backing them in their difficult task, they should redouble their efforts to overcome the obstacles which are still blocking their path and bring about the constructive achievement which mankind confidently awaits."

Because of the collapse of the conference, a subsequent message was sent. Mentioning the change of events, Mr. Davis then said:

"I see no reason, however, to suggest that the message be recalled because, while the action of Germany may alter the situation and make the task more difficult, a solution of the disarmament problem is, in my opinion, of such vital importance that every effort should still be made to achieve it."

FOUND DEAD OF GAS.

George Danovski, 52 years old, 6243 School street, was found dead yesterday in the gas filled basement of his home. Six jets were open. His widow, Marie, told police that he had been ill and had worried over the impending foreclosure on his home.

Priest Says Press Freedom Ended in 'Stagnant Swamp'

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—The Rev. Peter F. Dietz, pastor of St. Monica's church of Whitefish Bay, who yesterday designated the freedom of the press as an outworn fetish, today grouped it with the liberty of speech, the liberty of association and the liberty of the stage as having ended in a stagnant swamp.

"There is a trend," he said, "away from all the so-called freedoms that have come since the French revolution. It is a trend back to the recognition of authority.

"The new liberties and freedoms did not come with the French revolution, nor with our modern democracies," he declared. "Whil e the idealists swept from height to height in their apotheosis of man, the realists, via capitalism unrestrained, drove straight into the slough of economic slavery and such is now the common lot of man; the liberty of speech, the liberty of the press, the liberty of association, the liberty of the stage, the liberty of universal exploitation have ended in a stagnant miasmic swamp.

No Quarrel with Theory.

"I have no quarrel with the theory of a free press. Its practice is something else. As long as editors are subject to the common limitations of man at his best there can only be approximations of a truly free press.

"It is futile to assume liberal attitudes as long as a man and an editor has not freed himself from many inward shortcomings. Editors and newspapers have preconceived and sometimes prepaid opinions which they endeavor to sell the public.

"As society becomes more complex individual liberties will secede. When freedom interferes with traffic society interferes with freedom."

The middle aged priest denied that his approval of Hitlerism expressed in a sermon Sunday morning was actuated by a German nationalist feeling. He is American by birth, born in New York and educated there, ordained at Baltimore under the late Cardinal Gibbons.

Aided Labor Movement.

Until coming to Milwaukee, the Rev. Mr. Dietz most actively devoted himself to the union labor movement. He professes that his sentiments are the antithesis of socialism and said tonight that it was to keep socialism from making headway in the ranks of union labor that he interested himself in the Federation of Labor.

His support of Hitler in Germany, he explains, is that he credits Hitler with having halted the spread of communism over Europe.

"Italy picks up the tattered and scorched ends of unavailing modernism," the priest said. "Germany returns to the discipline of a closed corporation. Parties have lost their significance. Individualism is dead. The newest aristocracies begin to lean upon the oldest heirarchies and universal society is coming of age.

"Even America will adopt a regulatory code if need be, to vindicate a first natural law of self-preservation. The social instinct is beginning to penetrate with scholastic accuracy the commonwealth of Christian idealism. President Roosevelt will provide a living for every man in America even if the road will lead back to positive, organized thinking."

Engaged in Social Work.

He came into the Milwaukee archdiocese during the time of Archbishop Sebastian G. Messmer after spending his earlier years in the priesthood in social work during which time he was located in Cincinnati, O.

His extraordinary statement yesterday received little attention in Milwaukee except the report as published in The Tribune was rewritten in an afternoon paper.

The publishers of the Milwaukee papers refused to comment on his classification of the freedom guaranteed by the constitution of the United States as an outworn fetish.

Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch read the report of the sermon in The Chicago Tribune and made no comment. He declined to answer for publication any inquiries.

BERLIN CHARGES FRANCE, BRITAIN CAUSED CRISIS

Foreign Chief Challenges Powers to Disarm.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 16.—Germany today answered its critics regarding the reich's withdrawal from the league of nations and the disarmament conference. The nation's spokesman was Baron Konstantin von Neurath, Nazi foreign minister. His audience was made up of the Berlin correspondents of the foreign press.

First of all, Baron von Neurath placed the blame for the present world crisis upon France and Great Britain. In the next breath he challenged those two nations as well as the league to do something about mutual disarmament.

Ready to Deal on Equality Basis.

Then, as if to soothe an irate world, the foreign minister said:

"It goes without saying that Germany will always be ready to examine serious disarmament proposals and come to an understanding regarding her future armament régime on a basis of equality."

To the question of "What next?" Von Neurath replied:

"The answer thereto is not up to Germany, but up to the other powers. They have the floor. Let the Geneva conference show whether it can accomplish anything. Our withdrawal need not interfere with its work, as we are disarmed and nobody can deny the inequality of the armaments between us and the rest.

"For them there is no longer the possibility of concentrated efforts on a second disarmament of Germany, but all the clearer let us hope it does the task that has become evident and agree among themselves about their mutual disarmament."

Praises U. S. and Italy.

Von Neurath in his attempt to fix the responsibility for the "world's tangle" upon Great Britain and France handed a bonquet to the United States and Italy. These two nations, he said, sought to mediate differences between Germany, France, and Britain at Geneva.

The foreign minister also charged that President Roosevelt's government had been misled by the British foreign office which distorted Germany's disarmament memorandum to convey the impression that Hitler's government was demanding new arms.

"In reality," he maintained, "Germany only is insisting upon equal rights and security as guaranteed by the Versailles treaty. These were promised to Germany when she entered the league. This promise was reiterated at Geneva last December.

"One of the purposes of the disarmament conference was to reduce armaments. Another was to create a balance of armaments between the highly armed and the disarmed nations.

Points Out Insecurity.

"A single instance is sufficient to illustrate the intolerable insecurity of Germany's position:

"France alone has more cannons than Germany has machine guns. France has more machine guns than Germany has rifles and Germany, despite the fact that she is wedged in between nations, has no single means of defense against the thousands of fighting airplanes of France and her allies."

"The cardinal question around which the entire politics of the present day turns, and concerning which the unequivocal answer must be given, is:

"Shall the division of nations into victors and vanquished be eternalized, or is, at last, the principle to receive recognition that all states are members with equal rights in the community of nations?

"The recognition and realization of this principle is decisive for every form of international coöperation.

Warning to League.

"The more evident the political opposition to the execution of general disarmament became, the more earnestly did Germany warn that the league of nations' fate was sealed if it failed to fulfill the task of bringing about a general disarmament and thereby the restitution of Germany's equality. Possibly the renewed warnings were not taken seriously enough, but that was not Germany's fault.

"When we reëntered the conference we learned with disappointment that the foundations of the conference discussions no longer existed. There was but one answer to make, namely, to leave the conference. Public opinion abroad seemed surprised at our reply.

"That is understandable, since the recent negotiations were conducted confidentially, but the participating statesmen were in no wise surprised.

"With satisfaction I observe that during these last negotiations the representatives of the United States and Italy left no effort untried to mediate.

"All the efforts, however, failed, on account of the efforts of the other powers to erect a united front against Germany, to which Germany could do nothing but yield. This united front failed to develop."

A large part of Von Neurath's speech was devoted to military details and how far Germany was ready to go to help bring about universal disarmament.

He said that transformation of the German army into one of short enlistment would weaken it.

"This would mean that Germany would have to replace the well-trained 100,000 men in the reichswehr with a less efficient force of 200,000 men," he maintained. "This would place 200,000 rifles in the hands of partly trained men compared to the 8,000,000 rifles held by the French alone."

Von Neurath termed the arms plan submitted by Britain and supported by France and the United States as "defamatory." The plan calls for a "trial period" in order to prove the god faith of Germany.

"Thereby the powers destroyed the foundation on which the honest and truthful coöperation of nations alone is thinkable," the foreign minister said.

"They thereby deprived Germany of the possibility to participate within the framework of the Geneva institution in discussions of actual international problems.

"The German people would defame themselves and act dishonestly if, despite this condition of things, it attempted to keep up the appearance of such coöperation."

EX-KAISER APPROVES GERMANY'S EXIT FROM LEAGUE OF NATIONS

DOORN, Holland, Oct. 16.—(AP)—The former German kaiser, believing it was a matter of honor for Germany to withdraw from the league of nations and the disarmament conference, expressed whole hearted approval today of the action. Germany entered the league with honest intentions, but was always treated on an unequal footing, Wilhelm declared.

Far from being surprising or unexpected, Germany's move was regarded by him, he said, as the logical consequence of the treatment to which it has been subjected.

Regarding his own position, Wilhelm asserted it was not changed and there was no question of his return to the fatherland. He fully realizes, he said, that Chancellor Hitler is now engaged with matters other than restoration of former rulers and that this is not a part of the Nazi program.

The last Hohelzollern ruler is in excellent health and continues to work in the municipal wood land surrounding his exile retreat.

GERMANY HOLDS 3 ASSAILANTS OF 2 U. S. CITIZENS

BERLIN, Oct. 16.—(AP)—German-American discussions regarding the punishment of German assailants of United States citizens momentarily ceased tonight pending the government's completion of the investigation requested by American Secretary of State Hull.

Earlier in the day, Ambassador Dodd received a written communication from the foreign office saying that the assailant of Dr. Daniel Mulvihill of Danbury, Conn., who was struck in the head in Berlin on Aug. 8 for failing to salute a Nazi parade, is under arrest. The assailant, the foreign office said, was taken into custody on Aug. 24, lodged in a concentration camp, and has remained there ever since.

The foreign office also reported that two men who struck Roland Velz of Meriden, Conn., for not saluting a Nazi emblem were taken into custody last Saturday in Dusseldorf and taken to Berlin for questioning.

SECRET TUNNEL KEY IN REICHSTAG FIRE MYSTERY

Passageway to Goering's Home Raised at Trial.

BERLIN, Oct. 16.—(AP)—Testimony regarding an underground passage from the reichstag building to the official residence of Gen. Hermann Wilhelm Goering, Chancellor Hitler's right hand man, furnished a new sensation today in the trial of five men on charges of firing the reichstag last winter.

An employé of the reichstag said on the stand that the subway had no safety lock, but merely a makeshift screw-key device which could be opened easily.

This was the first time during the hearings, now in the seventeenth day, that the tunnel was mentioned, but after the February blaze a government communique said it was likely incendiaries escaped from the parliament building through the secret passage.

Bulgarian's Queries Barred.

It was recalled that during the fire no one was admitted to the building or the tunnel entrances and that police cards of newspaper men were voided for the evening.

George Dimitroff, a Bulgarian refugee and one of the defendants, tried to ask about the lock and doors to the mysterious corridor, but did not get far before the court barred further questions by him in this connection.

A defense attorney, Alfons Sack, came to Dimitroff's aid, and as a result it was thought testimony about the passage would be an important part of subsequent sessions.

Goering is the premier and minister of interior of Prussia as well as national minister without portfolio.

Marinus Van Der Lubbe, a young Dutch brick mason and another of the accused, was identified by three reichstag officials today as one of three wandering journeymen tourists who visited the building two weeks before the fire.

Dutch Youth Silent.

It was Van Der Lubbe whom Chancellor Hitler last Saturday called a "creature" and a "menace." He has admitted starting the fire.

Today he continued his stolid, lethargic mien, although Presiding Justice Wilhelm Buenger told him that "you are only acting."

The Dutchman was silent when asked about his movements the afternoon of the blaze and rose only after repeated requests from Buenger. He seemed to be in a daze.

Prosecutor Karl Werner branded as false a detail brought out in an unofficial lawyers' investigation of the fire conducted in London before the present trial opened. This concerned testimony that a witness saw heaps of inflammable material removed from the reichstag.

Werner took exception to a letter Arthur Garfield Hays, an American attorney, wrote in protest against what he called an unfair estimate given by the reichstag fire court against the unofficial London hearings.

German Frontier Guards Kill Fleeing Socialist

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 16.—Otto Eggerstedt, former police president of Altona-Wandsbek, and Socialist member of the reichstag since 1921, was shot to death today while attempting to flee across the German frontier into Holland. Eggerstedt was interned at the Kapendorf concentration camp from which he escaped. He concealed himself in a forest during the night. At dawn he sought to cross the frontier, but was spotted by guards. Eggerstedt was a world war veteran.

FRANCE TO LEND JAPS $56,000,000 FOR MANCHUKUO

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

MUKDEN, Manchuria, Oct. 17 [Tuesday].—Preliminary negotiations marking the first large incursion of foreign capital into Manchukuo have been concluded between Vice President Hatta of the South Manchuria railway and Andre D'Olliver, a representative of French capitalists.

A French long term loan of 1,000,000,000 francs [$56,300,000 at the current rate of exchange] has been arranged. The matter now merely awaits approval of the overseas ministry at Tokio.

Japs to Handle Money.

Details are not yet available, but apparently the South Manchuria railway, which is Japanese owned, is guaranteeing the handling of the money and providing for subletting it.

Part of the loan is earmarked for development of Rashin harbor, the new north Corean outlet for the Kirin region of Manchuria, and also for railways and power plants.

Early this year the league of nations adopted in regard to Manchukuo what has come to be known as the Stimson doctrine of nonrecognition of territorial gains acquired contrary to treaty stipulations. The United States gave its approval of this action and the league appointed an advisory committee on Manchuria to decide on strong measures to make the policy effective.

League Frowns on Loans.

Among other recommendations of this committee to the league assembly was one that all loans be refused to the new state and that it be excluded from the international services, such as posts and telegraphs.

The introduction of French capital, though it comes as a loan not to Manchukuo but to the Japanese owned South Manchuria railway, provides, in fact, the first foreign funds for the development of the state that is under the league's stigma.

GENEVA CLAIMS GERMANY STILL IS IN THE LEAGUE

GENEVA, Oct. 16.—(AP)—Although Germany announced its intention of withdrawing from the league of nations and the disarmament conference last Saturday, observers pointed out tonight that Germany has not yet formally withdrawn from either.

Foreign Minister Von Neurath's note of Saturday said: "The German government, accordingly, will be compelled to leave the disarmament conference." But no actual resignation has been received.

The conference went into recess today with many delegates voicing the hope that Germany will present no resignation. League officials said that even should Germany present its resignation from the body, two years must elapse, under its rules, before the resignation can take effect and the reich may change its mind in that length of time.

REVOLT RUMORED IN PORTUGAL OVER "DICTATORSHIP"

LISBON, Oct. 17.—[Tuesday.]—(AP)—Rumors of a revolution in Portugal were current early today, rising from a sudden ministerial crisis due to Premier Salazar's recent establishment of trade corporations under the control of the government.

Salazar discussed the government's position yesterday with President Carmona, who also interviewed the commanders of the army and the navy.

An emergency meeting of the cabinet was called for 4 p. m. today, at which time it is expected the question of Salazars resignation may be discussed.

SELL $300,000 FURNISHINGS OF REYNOLDS HOME

Open Banker's Mansion on Drive to Public.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

The George M. Reynolds mansion, 1444 Lake Shore drive, one of the two gold coast homes that have withstood the march of the apartment skyscraper in their block, yesterday opened its doors unreservedly to the public. A canvas sign stretched across a front balcony announced to the city's busiest thoroughfare that the $300,000 furnishings of the home would go on the auction block.

Mr. Reynolds, former chairman of the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company, now lives in California. The contents of the home, although valued at $300,000, are to be sold for approximately $80,000, according .o Gerald Grant of the Grant Art galleries, who is in charge of the sale. The bidding will continue today and tomorrow when, it is expected, the more valuable articles, mostly on the first floor, will be sold.

House Is Crowded.

The three story home filled rapidly with prospective buyers as the antiques and semi-valuable articles listed in the catalogue began to be placed on the block. Until 6 p. m. second hand store men, housewives in search of antiques to be bought cheaply for their more modest homes, art dealers, and the plainly curious thronged the upstairs rooms while the auctioneer sang off the articles. Limousines parked before the house with waiting chauffeurs indicated that members of other gold coast families were attending the sale.

Visitors examined the rich furnishings of the drawing room, its walls of tan brocaded silk, its Louis XIV. furnishings, the $25,000 Savonnerie rug, the satinwood and palisander commode, and a French clock, fully seven feet high. A Flemish tapestry of the 17th century hung on one wall. Another article that excited interest was a fish bowl valued at $3,000.

Tudor Furniture in Dining Room.

In the dining room were massive Tudor furniture, objects of silver and glass placed out for examination. A fountain played in the archway to the breakfast nook, which was furnished in Heppelwhite.

The auctioneer moved to Mr. Reynolds' room in the afternoon. Although most of the second floor furnishings were also in the French manner, this was furnished in heavy mahogany. Six window draperies sold for $25. A mahogany occasional table sold for $6, and a huge dresser for $7.50. Valuable rugs sold from $150 up. Furniture in the servants' quarters on the third floor were sold during the morning.

TRAGEDY ENDS DIXIE COUPLE'S VISIT TO FAIR

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Hammett Sr., elderly residents of Parksville, S. C., who had come to Chicago to visit the World's Fair, left yesterday for Johnson City, Tenn., where their son, C. L. Hammett Jr., 31 years old, was shot and killed yesterday. A second son, F. L. Hammett, lives in Chicago.

Rob Smith, assistant county jailer in Johnson City, was held for questioning about the death of young Hammett, an Atlanta chemical salesman. Smith said that he and Hammett were resisting an attack by two other men while returning from a dance, when Hammett was shot accidentally.

WARNS BUDGETS MUST BE SLASHED TO MEET TAX CUT

Maintain Essentials, Trim Frills, Expert Asks.

A warning that the 25 per cent reduction in 1932 real estate assessments will reduce drastically the funds available for operating expenses of local governments was given to the public affairs committee of the Union League club at a luncheon yesterday by John O. Rees, director of the committee on public expenditures.

He added a plea that rather than cut the heart out of such essential public services as schools, and fire and police protection, budget makers seek other means of avoiding deficits as a result of their decreased income.

As fields for possible reductions which would not harm the fundamental operations of government, he suggested the elimination of tax levies for governmental fads and frills, of which he named the county zoo as a type; the reformation of present pension fund systems with their swollen tax expectancies, and the avoidance of public works construction which must inevitably boost the levies for bond and interest payments, already consuming a third of the tax dollar.

Easy Money Must Be Repaid.

The so-called "easy money" of the federal public works fund will not be easy money to the taxpayers, Rees warned. Since 70 per cent of these federal advances must be repaid, every such project started in Cook county means an immediate increase in bond and interest tax levies, and one which will endure for 20 years.

Under the budgetary laws passed at the suggestion of the Strawn committee in 1930, he pointed out, the city, school board, and county must not only limit their expenditures for a given year to their expected revenue, but they must likewise, before providing for any current expenditures, take care of deficits incurred in the past.

The assessment reduction recently announced by Assessor Jacobs for 1932 will carry over to 1933 and 1934, and since the legislature has fixed minimum rates which the governments may levy for operating purposes, will reduce drastically their revenue for such purposes.

Sees Falling Off in Income.

"With the most optimistic estimate of 1934 resources permissible there will be available, according to the existing budget laws," he said, "about $32,000,000 for school educational fund appropriations, as against the reduced expenditures of $42,300,000 in 1933. Except for the 1933 retrenchment policy, the amount available for 1934 would be about $5,000,000 less.

"Expenses of fire, police, health, and other primary functions are payable from the city corporate fund. With the most optimistic estimates of resources possible, there will be available for appropriation for the 1934 corporate fund about $37,700,000, which is about $7,500,000 less than the reduced expenditures for 1933 will be.

"Such further drastic reductions in the primary functions of local civil government is certainly not consistent with the levy of taxes to build a zoo, to build up working cash funds, to build school buildings or any kind of public works, large deficiency levies for bonds and interest, or large levies for pension funds. Retrenchment in the running expenses of civil government must and should go farther, but there should be a proper balance between the primary functions and those things of less importance to the welfare of the people at the present time."

CRA TO EYE LOAN PLEAS

The executive committee of the Chicago Recovery administration, comprising in its membership the heads of major local governments and organized for the purpose of reducing public expenditures in Chicago, yesterday authorized the appointment of a subcommittee to investigate all of the requests by Cook county governments for "easy money" loans from the federal public works fund.

The action was taken after Newton C. Farr, chairman of the executive committee, had pointed out that since 70 per cent of these loans must be repaid the government by local taxpayers, every such loan is bound to increase tax levies for bond and interest purposes.

Hatton Asks Dicrimination.

Prof. A. R. Hatton, political scientist of Northwestern university, suggested that the CRA attempt to separate the sheep from the goats, or, as he put it, "to discriminate between those projects which will actually aid national recovery by increasing employment and those merely offered to get some 'easy money.'"

The committee voted to ask Carter H. Harrison, chairman of the Chicago district committee on federal public works, for a report on all projects which have been suggested to the public works administration.

The committee adopted a report of its subcommittee on emergency relief indorsing the $38,000,000 state bond issue for relief purposes, and recommending that the sales tax be used for relief purposes after Jan. 1. The School Board Wins Hearing on Plea for Federal Loan

The state advisory board on public works and the Chicago school trustees will confer this week on the trustees' application for federal funds to complete school building projects in the city. The school board is asking the government for $14,023,643, which is the amount needed to complete the building program.

Joshua D'Esposito, chief engineer for the public works advisory board, said that the meeting would be held "in a day or two."

"We would like to know more definitely what is needed," said D'Esposito. "It is out of the question to finish all these buildings. Besides the matter of desirability, we want to look into the financial condition of the school system before making a loan."

Fry Back from Washington.

Announcement of the meeting followed the return of Trustee Charles W. Fry from Washington, D. C. Fry went to the central office of the public works administration in Washington to see what could be done about starting school construction again in Chicago. He found that the advisory board had not forwarded to Washington the school board's application for funds, which was filed on Aug. 21.

Then followed a series of telephonic and telegraphic communications between Mr. Fry and James B. McCahey, president of the school board, who was in Chicago. Mr. Fry came home and the school trustees appealed to the advisory group for a discussion of the entire matter.

The school board had expended $10,216,016 on its building program up to two years ago when funds were exhausted for this activity as well as for others. In its application the board is asking an outright grant of $5,739,595, which is 30 per cent of the cost of completion plus 15 per cent of the amount already spent, and a loan of $8,284,048.

Tax Warrants As Security.

The security offered for the loan consists of school building fund tax warrants at 4 per cent. The period for amortization is approximately two years, or whenever taxes are collected to redeem the warrants.

The school building projects and the amounts needed to complete each one are as follows:

Senn High addition	$ 289,327
Lane Technical High	2,581,040
Steinmetz High	658,874
Phillips High	2,153,780
Wells High	1,376,548
Verdi High	1,346,946
Rembrandt High	1,259,384
Jamieson elementary	374,889
Tuley High	1,250,000
Kellogg High	1,250,000
Legden elementary	500,000
Mount Greenwood elementary	500,000
New elementary at 42d street and Lake Park avenue	387,850
Riverdale elementary	125,000
Total	$14,023,643

In the loan application, which was compiled by Don C. Rogers, director of building survey for the school system, under the direction of Supt. William J. Bogan, it was estimated that the total number of man hours of labor on the jobs would be 5,687,360. More than 6,000 men would be put to work if the request of the board is granted in full.

A Loss from Deterioration.

Work on ten of the buildings has been started and halted in various stages of construction. A loss is expected to be incurred because of the deterioration.

The survey of the Chicago schools made last year by Dr. George D. Strayer and his staff of experts from Columbia university is quoted in the loan application as follows:

"One child out of four attends school in a building erected before the Chicago World's Fair of 1893. Practically all these old structures are obsolescent, unhygienic, and in many cases unsafe."

From 1920 to 1930 the school board constructed an average of thirteen new buildings and additions a year in order to keep pace with the growth in school enrollment and to reduce the accumulated seat shortage of the war period. In spite of the better housing program adopted by the board in July many of Chicago's children still go to school in portables, subbasements, and neighborhood stores.

COUNTY WORKERS WILL GET $450,000 IN PAY TOMORROW

County employés, 4,000 in number, will receive about $450,000 tomorrow in payment of their salaries for the last half of July, County Treasurer McDonough announced yesterday. The money will be advanced from other funds in his possession in anticipation of fees on delinquent taxes which he expects to collect later in the year.

Twins Five Weeks Old Pass Through on Air Line

The youngest twins that have ever ridden on an air line passed through Chicago yesterday. They are Susan and Signy Bush, 5 weeks old, daughters of Mrs. B. H. Bush of Cleveland, who traveled with them. She was returning to Cleveland after visiting her parents at Iowa City, Ia., traveling on United Air Lines.

HUNT VISITOR FROM MAINE.

Chicago police yesterday were asked to look for Philip Hobb of Bridgeton, Me., in a message from the chief of police of Portland, Me. The message states that Hobb's father had died.

HORNER MAY BE ASKED TO LEAD RELIEF BATTLE

Move to Break Deadlock in Legislature.

Gov. Horner may be asked by the state senate when it reconvenes today to appear and present the case for the $30,000,000 winter relief bond issue program.

The program has been tied up for the first two weeks of the legislature's special session by minority opposition which demands as a substitute that Chicago and Cook county be compelled to feed and clothe their own poor directly from taxes they would be permitted to levy under the Lantz bills.

The deadlock in the upper house is expected to continue today. It is doubted that the attendance will warrant calling up the bond issue relief bills for another vote. Therefore there are tentative plans afoot to have speakers before the chamber occupy the waiting time with discussion of the bills.

Graham Waits for Votes.

"I shall not call the bills up for another rollcall until the votes are actually in sight," said State Senator Richey V. Graham, president pro tem, who is in charge of the program. "If they aren't there on Tuesday we shall wait until Wednesday."

It had been proposed to him that Corporation Counsel Sexton, who in addition to being a member of Mayor Kelly's cabinet, is a member of the Illinois emergency relief commission, present the arguments that the majority says make the $30,000,000 bond issue necessary. There was a suggestion that this would look like a plea from Chicago alone.

Then it was proposed that perhaps Gov. Horner might present the entire subject from the viewpoint of the state. The question whether the governor will be asked to supplement orally the message he delivered at the opening of the special session will be taken up at Springfield today.

Full Discussion Sought.

It is contended by sponsors of the bond issue plan that neither the necessity of this program nor the alleged futility of the Lantz plan has been discussed systematically by any speaker. The speaking during the joint hearing held by the two houses at the opening of the session on Oct. 3 was limited almost entirely to a discussion of the work of the relief commission up to this time and the estimated needs for the winter months.

The administration bills have not been taken up in the house of representatives and in the senate the discussion, it is admitted, has been piecemeal and haphazard.

Senator Graham and his associates now contemplate placing the entire situation before the senate at once. Graham insist, that the bond issue plan is the only one that meets the problem and that the Lantz plan would not produce funds for months to come.

BUILDING OWNED BY MALONE GOES TO TAX RECEIVER

TAX COLLECTIONS.

Real estate tax collections yesterday were $519,071, making a total of $78,328,662 collected since enforcement of the Kerner-Skarda act began on April 28. The day's collections of real estate taxes and the uncollected taxes for the last four years follow:

Oct. 16	$ 38,046	$ 82,390
Uncollected	17,036,365	45,351,535
	1930.	1931.
Oct. 16	117,452	272,177

County Judge Jarecki yesterday ordered into tax receivership a two story brick building at 6150-52 Northwest highway, which is owned by William H. Malone, former head of the Illinois tax commission who is now under federal indictment for alleged evasion of income tax. The property, which is used for business purposes, owes $1,284 in 1930 real estate taxes.

County Treasurer McDonough was named receiver for the building under the Kerner-Skarda act to collect the taxes. Judge Jarecki appointed the treasurer receiver for 41 other properties as he began his twenty-fifth week of enforcement of the Kerner-Skarda act. The total tax bill owed by the 41 properties is $136,000. Payments totaling $75,000 were made by attorneys for other properties to avoid tax receiverships.

Philadelphia, Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Art B. Smith, commander in chief, who deserted his Khaki Shirt army in the wee hours of last Thursday as they were mobilizing for the much-heralded march on Washington, surrendered to police here today. He denied having slipped out of a window when his headquarters were raided. He said he had stayed in the city since the raid.

"I am still the commanding general. My attorney will shortly have a statement that will shock the world. And the charges brought against me are a lot of hot air," he said at the district attorney's office.

He permitted himself to be "mugged" and fingerprinted.

and Gentlemen it leaves the Ladies flat!

IF you use lipstick—or if you really prefer a chocolate pecan sundae with whipped cream to a Scotch and soda—you might as well stop reading right at this point. ESQUIRE is not for you and you had better face the grim fact now.

If, however, you are a genuine adult male—if you prefer old wine and new stories—if you have a healthy masculine taste for good clothes and strong language—if you like the real inside on sports written by the men who have busted the records and not by some "ghost writer"—if you'd rather read a brief saga by Ernest Hemingway than a sugar-coated tale of love in the suburbs—

Oh boy! In that case you will want to rush right out and get your copy of ESQUIRE before this first and somewhat limited issue is sold out. For here, at last, is a man's idea of a magazine come to life! Nothing like it has ever been printed before.

Here are "short" short stories (there are no long stories in ESQUIRE) by such writers as William McFee, John Dos Passos, Dashiell Hammett and Manuel Komroff.

Here is humor by such a rollicking list as George S. Chappell, Montague Glass, Robert Buckner, George Ade, Harry Hershfield and David Monroe. Here are 16 pages on what to wear and when to wear it—written for men who think that good tweed is something to be smelled with reverence and worn with case.

Charles Hanson Towne comes to the rescue of a bathtub gin generation with some hard-and-fast advice on how to behave when the waiter hands you a wine card—and won't that be a help! Benny Leonard himself tells about some fights for the lightweight championship that were never entered in the record books. Charlie Paddock gives the inside on why some famous championships changed hands. Never before, in fact, has such a list of contributors been gathered together in a publication. The first issue of ESQUIRE contains, in addition, forty pages in color including the greatest number of full-page cartoons ever printed in a magazine.

Because of its exclusive masculine interest, ESQUIRE is sold at leading men's shops and department stores as well as at newsstands. The price is fifty cents. If your dealer cannot supply you address Esquire Publishing Company, Palmolive Bldg., Chicago, Ill.

No More Piles

You Can End Your Awful Misery Quick Without Cutting or Salves

Thousands of Pile sufferers do not know that the cause of Piles is internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel.

That is the scientific truth about Piles—the real reason why salves and suppositories do not give permanent relief, why cutting does not remove the cause.

Your Piles will go only when you actually remove the cause—and not one minute before. External treatments can't do this—an internal medicine should be used. HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, sold by good druggists everywhere, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, heals and restores the almost dead parts.

So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when Walgreen's invites every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID with guarantee of money-back if it does not end their Piles, no matter how stubborn the case?

Chicago's September Bill for Idle $4,625,134.

Despite the fact that more than 10,000 families were lopped off the relief rolls in Chicago in September, the cost of relief increased more than half a million dollars in that month, according to a report made public yesterday.

In August the Illinois emergency relief commission cared for 127,974 families at a cost of $4,089,381, the report released by Joseph L. Moss, director of the county department of public welfare, revealed. In September there were only 117,405 families to feed, house, and clothe, but the cost mounted to $4,625,134.

The figures thus revealed that the cost of relief increased 13.1 per cent in September, although there were 8.2 per cent fewer "clients" on the relief rolls.

Explains Increase as Seasonal.

Mr. Moss, when asked for an explanation of the figures, said that the increase was seasonal. He said more money was being spent for rentals and othat increased expenditures for fuel and clothing were necessary because of the approaching winter. He also pointed to the increased prices of all commodities as an excuse for the rising cost of relief.

The relief cost figures for August and September of 1932 were then obtained. These showed that the relief commission had taken care of 108,130 families in August, 1932, at a cost of $2,944,526. In September, 1932, there were 115,566 families on the rolls, an increase of 7,436 families, and the cost was $3,122,774, an increase of $178,248.

Half Million for 10,000 Families.

"Why the discrepancy?" Mr. Moss was asked. "The relief commission was apparently able to take care of an additional 7,436 families in September of a year ago at an added cost of only $178,248 while in September of this year it costs $535,753 more to care for 10,569 less families."

Mr. Moss replied that the relief commission was expending many thousands of dollars now in the payment of rentals for needy families. Formerly rents were only paid when the tenants were about to be evicted, but the commission this summer began the practice of paying rents regularly in the case of many families.

Cost per Family Now $34.50.

Further examination of the report disclosed that the cost per family for relief increased from an average of $29.31 in August of this year to $34.59 in September.

"We are increasing our service in every possible way," declared Mr. Moss. "The needs of relief families increase each month as replacements of clothing, household furniture, and other absolute needs have to be met. We are supplying more clothes this year than last year."

INLAND PRESS ASSOCIATION TO CONVENE TODAY

Representatives of 254 daily newspapers of the middle west and Canada will convene at the Morrison hotel today for the autumn meeting of the Inland Daily Press association. The principal subject before the convention in its two day session will be the NRA newspaper code as it affects every department of a newspaper.

The meeting will be opened by an address on President Roosevelt's report on newspaper code hearings and conferences by Charles R. Butler, president of the press association. This is to be followed by discussion of various business problems. At a luncheon Phil S. Hanna, editor of the Chicago Journal of Commerce, will speak on the destiny of the country under the NRA.

In the afternoon members of the association will go into executive session to consider fifty-one questions relating to the code. These are grouped under various newspaper departments and are of vital importance to newspapers.

Tomorrow morning Col. R. R. McCormick, publisher of THE TRIBUNE, will speak on freedom of the press. He will be followed by S. N. Becker of the McJunkin Advertising company, who will discuss advertising and the NRA. Tomorrow afternoon convention delegates will be guests of A Century of Progress.

PLAN CAMPAIGN FOR $4,000,000 COMMUNITY FUND

Open Drive Nov. 1 for Private Charities.

Chicago will open a campaign on Nov. 1, to raise the annual fund to maintain its private charities. The announcement was made last night before 200 leading citizens who met in the Chicago club. They, with others, will act as sponsors of the campaign. These sponsors have formed the Community Fund, Allied Chicago Charities, which will take the place of the Emergency Welfare fund of last year.

The announcement of the 1933 campaign for private charities follows the public plea of President Roosevelt last Sunday in the White House. In his address the President appealed to the American citizens to support the private charities in their own communities. He said that many families will need the help of relief agencies this winter, despite steadily growing reemployment. He called upon every citizen to support community chests and other private charity fund campaigns.

Seek Fund of $4,000,000.

The Chicago campaign will have as its aim the raising of $4,000,000 by private subscription. James H. Douglas and H. A. Behrens are co-chairmen of the campaign. Headquarters will be established at 111 West Washington street on Nov. 1.

At last night's meeting where plans for conducting the citywide campaign were discussed, leaders of various charity organizations addressed the committee of 200.

Robert J. Dunham, chairman of the Illinois emergency relief commission, declared that the work of private charities is essential because of limitations on the expenditure of federal and state funds. Mr. Douglas presided. Other speakers were R. Douglas Stuart, who will be president of the community fund; Mr. Behrens, and Samuel A. Goldsmith, executive director of the Jewish Charities.

Nearly 100 agencies are to benefit from the fund.

Meet and Change Name.

Directors of the Emergency Welfare fund met yesterday at the campaign headquarters and changed the name of the organization to the new name of Community fund. They elected in addition to Mr. Stuart, A. B. Dick Jr., Clifford W. Barnes, and Victor A. Olander, vice presidents. Frank D. Loomis, secretary, and James B. Forgan Jr., treasurer.

The executive committee will be composed of the officers and the following: Lester Armour, Ernest S. Ballard, H. A. Behrens, Kent S. Clow, Nicholas J. Conrad, David A. Crawford, James H. Douglas, Robert A. Gardner, D. F. Kelly, Sol Kline, and Edward L. Ryerson Jr.

Buckingham Fountain to Be in Operation Another Week

The Buckingham fountain in Grant park will continue in operation for another week, it was announced yesterday by south park board officials. Major light displays will be held on Wednesday and Saturday nights between 8 and 9 o'clock at night. Favorable weather conditions and World's Fair crowds led to the decision to keep the fountain open after the usual closing date, which has been Sept. 30.

Hold Policeman's Son

Evansville, Ind., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Police still are searching for the gun they believe was used to kill Miss Mary Elizabeth Robb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Robb. They also seek the pocket knife with which a clumsy and unsuccessful attempt had been made to extract the bullet.

The gun was the property of Cyril Staab, 22, son of Traffic Officer Staab. He was with Miss Robb at the time of her death and he is being held without bond. His explanation is that Miss Robb killed herself. Prosecutor Winfield K. Denton says he will seek to have Staab indicted for murder as soon as the grand jury meets.

With Staab and Miss Robb were Edward Gumbel, 23, and Miss Beulah Bender, on their Saturday night party. Gumbel is being held for questioning. The girl was released. Miss Bender said the shooting took place in the dark near an auto in which the four had gone to the Brown Derby tourist camp. She did not see who fired. Miss Robb died in a hospital about two hours later.

William Burnett, 21, attendant at the tourist camp, said the four had proposed to rent a cabin and he was nearby when the shot was fired. He was taken into custody today for questioning. The police were told by Miss Bender and Gumbel that they drove around and Staab hid the gun before going to the hospital.

SWEARS DYING WIDOW ACCUSED WILL EXECUTOR

Dr. Alexander M. Henderson of Aurora, a brother-in-law of Mrs. Fannie Bishop Henderson, wealthy Aurora widow who died in May, 1931, testified yesterday in the suit to break her will on trial before Judge Frank Shepard in the Kane county Circuit court at Geneva. Dr. Henderson, called as a witness for Mrs. Henderson's cousin, Charles F. Earle, who brought the will contest, testified that Mrs. Henderson on her deathbed had accused William George, bank president, who is executor of the $700,000 estate.

"I talked to Mrs. Henderson a few days before her death," Dr. Henderson said, "and she told me: 'If I'm going to die, I want to get back the papers Mr. George made me sign. I think he's crooked.'"

NO SLUR ON JEWS INTENDED BY HIM, M'KEE DECLARES

Denounces La Guardia for Raising Religious Issue.

New York, Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Race and religion occupied a major place tonight in the bitter three cornered campaign for mayor of New York city.

Joseph V. McKee, independent candidate, denied that he had any racial or religious prejudice, and denounced F. H. La Guardia, his fusion opponent, for having injected the issue into the campaign.

Mr. McKee declared that in an article published May, 1915, written when he was a teacher in De Witt Clinton High school, he neither made nor intended a direct or indirect attack on the Jewish race or religion and that a perusal of the entire article would convince any fair-minded person.

An Appeal to Parents.

"My article" he said, "was contributed to the Catholic world and it urged parents to see to it that their children received not only the benefits of secular education in the grammer and high schools but also the great advantages of religious education. I realized then, as I do today, that religious education is a most powerful factor in the development of fine character.

"It was in that spirit that I pointed out that when the Jewish youth left the great teachings of Judaism, they lost the moral fiber which the precepts of Judaism inculcate. I did not criticize Jews or Judaism. I criticized only those who abandoned Judaism. Do Jews do less?"

The phrase in the McKee article which has caused most of the storm read, in reference to Jewish students: "They recognize no code of morals and are concerned with no motives higher than those originating from fear of detection and consequent loss of money."

Quotes Late Louis Marshall.

Mr. McKee pointed out that in 1925 when he a candidate for president of the board of aldermen an effort was made to make a political issue out of this remark. He said that the late Louis Marshall, Jewish leader, threw the whole weight of his influence to squelch the raising of the religious issue at that time.

Mr. McKee quoted Mr. Marshall as having said then that "to raise the issue of anti-Semitism in a political campaign on the basis of such utterances as contained in McKee's article is to engage in an indefensible action which is injurious to the best interest of the community."

Mr. McKee went on:

"I abhor bigotry. I have the utmost contempt for those who either preach or practice race hatred. Directly or indirectly, I regard racial and religious intolerance as a menace in whatever shape or form it rears its ugly head. It must be combatted with the utmost vigor by every right thinking man and woman.

"Such is my conviction now, such was my conviction then. It was for this reason that in 1915, although still a young man with no dream of a political future I immediately stated my position.

Praise for Jewish People.

"My friends, by deed and by speech, I have for many years given concrete expression to my high estimate of Jewish genius and of the rôle of the Jewish people in the drama of mankind's progress. He is a poor American who fails fully to appreciate the manifold contributions of American Jewry to the spiritual as well as the economic development of our nation. He is a grossly ignorant New Yorker who is not aware of the tremendous part played by Jewry in the phenomenal rise of our city in the last century and a half.

"Let Mr. La Guardia justify, if he can, the one thing that all Americans resent—the intrustion of religion or of social distinction into politics. Did he do this thing as a friend of the Jews or for political advantage, was he seeking their good of his own gain? He has done a contemptible thing which all right thinking people will resent. He and men associated in this effort have done no service to any race or religion."

Samuel Untermyer, who for many years was the law partner of Mr. Marshall and who denounced Mr. McKee in a statement on Sunday, remained unconvinced by Mr. McKee's explanation.

"I am sorry and disappointed," Mr. Unterbyer said. "Mr. McKee's explanation explains nothing. This lifelong friendship with my friend and partner, Louis Marshall, is news to me. Knowing Mr. Marshall as I did, I have a pretty lively conception of how he would feel about such a libel upon our people as that contained in the Catholic World."

Mr. McKee's speech, which was expected, is understood to have been decided upon at a conference of his supporters late Sunday night. There was no disposition among some of Mr. McKee's supporters to minimize the damage that might be done to his candidacy by Mr. La Guardia's action in opening up the issue and Mr. Untermyer's denunciation.

The reported plan of Brooklyn district leaders to force Boss John M. McCooey to shift his support from Mayor O'Brien, Tammanyite, to McKee, independent, or else surrender the leadership failed to take form today.

A meeting of district leaders which had been called for the purpose of dropping O'Brien for McKee was held this afternoon, but no vote was taken.

McCooey was at home in bed, sick, and that may have had a softening effect upon the revolt, but it was admitted that if a vote had been taken the McCooey forces would have won.

Some District Leaders Cool.

The meeting finally was postponed and the question of mayoralty support left in status quo. Which means that almost half of the district leaders will continue to back McKee, while McCooey and the remainder remain loyal to their deal with Tammany and Mayor O'Brien.

Both the Fusionists and Tammany Hall were trying to make political capital of McKee's 1915 article, but Tammany had a major worry of its own on its hand. This concerned the expected paucity of "big leaders" at tomorrow night's formal Tammany Hall rally, at which Mayor O'Brien will speak. Heretofore, former Gov. Al Smith has always been a speaker, but no word has come from him this year. Neither have U. S. Senators Robert Wagner and Royal Copeland indicate any intention of being present.

AUNT IS TORTURED, NEPHEW SOUGHT AS AUTOIST'S KIDNAPER

New Castle, Ind., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Police here said today Russell Leadbetter, his wife, Ruby, and Edward Manger have been identified as the kidnapers of Edward McDonald, who was forced to drive them to Louisville on Saturday night.

Before that, the police said, the trio beat Mrs. Minnie Clark, 80, in her home here to obtain money.

Mrs. Clark is an aunt of Leadbetter. He escaped two months ago from the Indiana reformatory at Pendleton. McDonald was bound and thrown from his car near Louisville.

AUTOMOBILE THEFTS.

Stolen, 91; recovered, 50; stripped, 8 [from police records for twenty-four hours ending at midnight Sunday].

California Woman Offers to Surrender $84,000 Gold

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 16.—(AP)—United States Attorney H. H. McPike said today Mrs. Effie L. Martin of Fresno, Cal., had offered to surrender $84,000 in gold and gold certificates she was accused of hoarding in violation of a presidential order. The offer, McPike said, was presented United States Attorney Pierson Hall at Los Angeles, in whose jurisdiction the case arose. Hall advised McPike he will refer the matter to Attorney General Cummings in Washington.

TAVERN OWNER SEIZED IN MAIL HOLDUP INQUIRY

Charged with Sheltering Machine Gun Kelly.

Abe Caplan, owner of the Michigan Avenue Tavern, Michigan avenue and Roosevelt road, was arrested yesterday on the charge that he assisted in harboring George [Machine Gun] Kelly while Kelly was a fugitive in Chicago during the roundup of the kidnapers of Charles F. Urschel, Oklahoma oil millionaire. Caplan is a brother of Charles Caplan, who was arrested last week with Joseph Bergl, gang automobile dealer, on the same charge of giving shelter to Kelly.

Government detectives indicated by these arrests that they are slowly closing in on the men who robbed the Federal Reserve bank mail on Sept. 22 as well as on the gang that robbed the First National bank's mail last Dec. 6. Both robberies occurred in the loop.

Two Other Arrests Revealed.

Two other arrests in connection with the mail robbery investigations were revealed yesterday. The prisoners are James de Grassi and his wife, who are alleged to have aided in disposing of bonds taken in the December holdup. De Grassi was arrested in Kansas City, Mo., six weeks ago and brought here by plane. His wife was seized later.

The government has made a number of arrests in connection with the conspiracy to dispose of the stolen securities. Among the prisoners are John J. [Boss] McLaughlin, gambler and former legislator, and Joseph Sans, employé of the late Edgar B. Lebensberger, night club owner. Lebensberger shot himself to death when he learned he had been indicted with McLaughlin and Sans for complicity in disposing of mail robbery loot.

A link between the December and September robberies, investigators say is the fact that Gus Winkler, slain gang chief, was involved in disposal of loot from the first robbery, while his partner, Bergl, was connected with the September holdup because he had a hand in equipping the automobile used by the robbers.

Bergl Freed on Bail.

Bergl and Charles Caplan won their release on bail yesterday. Abe Caplan was held in $15,000 bonds by United States Commissioner Walker after Assistant United States Attorney Warren Canaday stated that Kelly spent part of his time at Caplan's tavern while in Chicago.

Morris Caplan, brother of Abe and Charles, who was arrested with Abe, was not held.

Two of the Caplan brothers and Bergl are said to have furnished Kelly with the automobile in which he drove to Memphis, Tenn., immediately after the September mail robbery and the killing of Policeman Miles Cunningham by the robbers. Kelly's actual participation in the robbery and murder has not been positively established and he is now in Leavenworth prison serving a life sentence for the Urschel kidnaping.

Public Administrator Halbert O. Crews yesterday halted the sale of the furnishings of the Lebensberger apartment at 1258 Lake Shore drive after Probate Judge O'Connell had issued a citation to discover assets of Lebensberger's estate.

WITNESSES GUARDED AS TORTURE SLAYING TRIAL OF TWO OPENS

Newton, Ill., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—While state police guarded the witnesses against a second attack by gunmen, Harry Shelby and John Allen went on trial today for the torture murder of Mrs. Mary Schrader, 82 years old, in a country home Aug. 29.

The jury was qualified to inflict the death penalty by State's Attorney Homer Kasserman. A motion of the defense to quash a count in the indictment stating the aged woman's death to be caused by rape was overruled by the court.

Armed with riot guns, the state policemen were guarding Miss Anna Schrader, a daughter of the slain woman, and Bernard Weldon, 84 years old, a brother. They were also tortured by the bandits in an attempt to force them to tell where their money was hidden in the house. A week ago shots were fired into the home from a passing automobile, in what was supposed to be a desperate attempt to silence the prosecution.

Graham McNamee's Girl Elopes with Another Man

Philadelphia, Oct. 16. —[Special.]—Anne O'Brien, New York artists' model, whom Broadway gossip had recently mentioned as the intended bride of Graham McNamee, the radio announcer, eloped 11 days ago with Frank Keifer, 28 year old Dickinson college law student. Although the bridegroom's father, William Keifer, president of the First National bank of Mount Carmel, Pa., denied the elopement, the bride's parents in Shenandoah confirmed the marriage, which they said took place Oct. 5 before a Catholic priest at Milton, Pa. Miss O'Brien, blonde, blue eyed, and 24 years old, has often posed for famous artists.

TWO CONVICTED FOR HARBORING KIDNAPER KELLY

Uncle of Bandit's Wife Turns State's Evidence.

San Angelo, Tex., Oct. 16.—(AP)—A verdict finding Will Casey guilty of conspiring with Cass Coleman to harbor George "Machine Gun" Kelly, kidnaper of Charles F. Urschel, Oklahoma City oil man, was returned in federal court tonight within an hour after the case was given to the jury. Coleman pleaded guilty and testified for the government.

Casey, 60 year old Coleman county farmer, had denied from the witness stand that Coleman ever told him, or that he had any other reason to know, that the man who paid him $200 late in August for the use of a one room house was George Kelly.

Wanted to Do Prospecting.

Casey said he knew the renter as "Mr. Baker" and that he never suspected he was Kelly until he identified the kidnaper from the witness stand in Oklahoma City last week.

"Coleman said he was a friend who wanted to do some prospecting," Casey said. "I thought he was just an honest prospector, hunting for treasure."

"I carried him some water in a milk can just as one neighbor to another, and just like I would do for any of you gentlemen," he told the jury.

District Attorney Clyde O. Eastus asked:

"Were you not suspicious when a perfect stranger gave you three $100 bills?"

"No," Casey replied.

Casey testified "Baker" gave him two of the bills to pay the house rent "for as long as he wanted it," and the third to provide supplies.

The Kellys, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Shannon, on whose farm Urschel was held, Harvey Bailey, and Albert Bates, machine gunners, all have been sentenced to life imprisonment for the kidnaping. Of the $200,000 ransom, $73,250 was found buried on Coleman's farm.

Face Trial for Aiding Bandit.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 16.—[AP]—William McClanahan, United States attorney, announced today that the trial of Langford Ramsey on a charge of conspiring with George [Machine Gun] Kelley to violate the Lindbergh law will be delayed until after his trial Saturday on a charge of harboring Kelly and his wife in a bungalow here.

Ramsey, a former brother-in-law of Kelly, was released under $10,000 bond last night. He is under indictment for conspiracy in the Charles F. Urschel kidnaping by reason of his alleged unsuccessful attempt to obtain part of the Urschel ransom money at Coleman, Tex., for delivery to Kelly.

McClanahan said Ramsey would be tried Saturday for conspiring with John Tichenor and S. E. Travis to harbor the Kellys in Tichenor's home where they were captured Sept. 26.

Mrs. Kelly Off for Prison.

Shawnee, Okla., Oct. 16.—(AP)—Kathryn Kelly, wife of "Machine Gun" George Kelly, and her mother, Mrs. R. G. Shannon, both sentenced to life imprisonment for the kidnaping of Charles F. Urschel, passed through here tonight on a Rock Island passenger train bound for Memphis under guard of four federal agents.

The women were secretly removed from the Oklahoma county jail at Oklahoma City and federal officials refused to give their destination or any other information, but it was believed Mrs. Shannon would be taken to the federal workhouse at Memphis and her daughter on to a federal prison at Cincinnati.

Stolen Effingham Mail Sacks Found Near Gary

Several mail sacks, taken by robbers last Tuesday night from a baggage room at Effingham, Ill., have been recovered near Gary with the contents intact, it was announced yesterday by the officials of the Railway Express agency. Artnur Kross, a baggageman at Effington, was forced to lie on the floor while the bandits selected the sacks from a pile in the room. Postal inspectors said that there was nothing of value in the sacks and that the bandits apparently had been misinformed about the contents.

WEBER RETURNS; "NOTHING TO SAY 'ABOUT WINKLER"

County Commisioner Charles H. Weber on his return from Miami, Fla., yesterday refused to discuss the slaying of Gus Winkler, gang chief and public enemy. Winkler was shot to death in front of Weber's beer distributing company at 1414 Roscoe street on the afternoon of Oct. 9. Weber left for Florida two days before the killing to sell some real estate.

"I have nothing more to say," said Commissioner Weber. "At the time of the shooting I said I had no connection with Winkler and did not know him. That still stands as the truth. Of what people may be talking about and reports going around, I have nothing to say.

"I understand I am wanted as a witness before the coroner's jury investigating the case. I will gladly appear, but I can tell nothing because I know nothing about the case."

The Columbian Exposition opened May 1; A Century of Progress opened May 27.

Officials of A Century of Progress announced yesterday that they were considering appeals from Mayor Kelly and the Association of Commerce to keep the Fair open until Armistice day, and indicated that if the daily attendance holds up around the 100,000 mark this week the request will be granted.

President Rufus C. Dawes received a letter from Mayor Kelly urging that the Fair be continued at least until Nov. 11, with a Personal Liberty day, celebrating the voting of prohibition repeal, on Nov. 8, and another celebration on Armistice day. In another statement the mayor reiterated his demand that the Exposition be run next year, as an expression of confidence in President Roosevelt's national recovery program.

Puts New Business at $400,000,000.

The Association of Commerce statement, issued by President George W. Rossetter, estimated that World's Fair visitors will have brought $400,000,000 in new business to Chicago by Oct. 31, and declared that continuation of the Exposition until Nov. 11 would be of "immeasurable value" to the city.

"With good weather there is no reason why the Fair should not continue at least until Armistice day," Mayor Kelly's letter said. "It will give the many Chicagoans who have not gone an opportunity to see the Exposition, and it is my estimate that at least another 1,000,000 persons will attend during the first eleven days of November.

Mayor Proposes Free Barbecue.

The mayor suggested that the personal liberty celebration be made "a gala day," with free barbecue and other refreshments for all comers. He proposed that the Chicago packers supply the meat for the barbecue.

In his statement on keeping the Fair open next year, Mayor Kelly said:

"If there is national recovery, the 1934 Fair will attract crowds as large as this one has. We'll show the world our confidence in the recovery of the United States by keeping the Fair open. It will be an incentive to the people to believe that good times are coming back."

Travels 700 Miles

Glenn Putnam, 11 years old, encountered Sergt. Tom Sheridan of the motorcycle division of the police department in a restaurant at 1332 Indiana avenue, next door to the division headquarters at 1330 Indiana avenue, early yesterday. He told the sergeant he was hungry and he also had an appetite to see the World's Fair. He had made his way from Jasper, Ala., 700 miles distant, without funds. Sergt. Sheridan ordered a meal for the boy and at his own expense took him to A Century of Progress. He plans to return the boy to his home, probably through the Travelers' Aid society.

Married, Bound for Fair; Man Hurt, Their Car Held

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Piggott, married today in Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., were en route to Chicago to see the Fair, but Clifford Palmer, 28, of Saulte, Ont., riding on the running board of the Piggott car as it pulled away from the American ferry landing, fell off, striking his head on the pavement. Doctors feared a fractured skull and the bridegroom was held on a reckless driving charge. His car was held as bail and the bride and bridegroom decided to spend the night here.

FAIR ART SHOW DRAWS 20,813 IN DAY, A RECORD

All records for attendance at an art exhibition were broken Sunday at the Art institute of Chicago with 20,813 persons viewing the masterpieces of painting and sculpture. Officials of the institute revealed yesterday that more than 1,300,000 persons have seen the official World's Fair exhibition of art since May 23, the opening day.

On only one day in the history of the institute have there been more persons inside the building, according to officials. This occurred in the summer of 1911 when crowds flocked in to the institute on a free day before and after air races on the lake front, but no exhibition was being held at that time.

The fifth edition of the exhibition catalog is being printed and more than 70,000 copies have been sold. The exhibition has more than paid expenses, including high insurance costs. Officials expressed the hope that 1,500,000 persons would have viewed the $75,000,000 collection before it closes at the end of the World's Fair.

Approximately 1,000 persons on the relief rolls of Cook county were admitted free at the Art institute yesterday and the performance will be repeated again next Monday.

FAIR ANNOUNCES ANOTHER 10 PCT. NOTE PAYMENT

Officials of A Century of Progress yesterday announced the payment of another 10 per cent installment on its outstanding note obligations, making a total of 40 per cent that will have been paid more than two weeks before the scheduled closing date. The obligations will have been reduced from $9,736,800 to $5,842,080.

Financing of all previous world's fairs was accomplished through government, state, and city subsidies, but A Century of Progress neither sought nor received subsidies. The Columbian Exposition of 1893 received $5,000,000 from the city of Chicago and also sold $5,617,154 in stock, only $548,985 of which was repaid, in the form of a 10 per cent dividend.

CENTURY OF PROGRESS NOTES

A lion cub was born at the Lion Motordome concession early yesterday to an African lioness, Queenie. It was sired by Brutus, one of the lions used in the stunting in the show. Both mother and cub were reported doing well last night.

A skunk trapped by John H. Hatke, a farmer of Hanover, Kas., proved of such value that Hatke paid a mortgage from the proceeds and had enough money left for a trip to the Fair. He arrived yesterday and went directly to the Sears exhibition where he told his story to officials there. The skunk's pelt won a $750 prize in the annual fur show of Sears-Roebuck & Co.

The A. & P. carnival at the Fair set a new attendance record Sunday when 303,585 persons visited the exhibit. Approximately 2,000,000 persons have visited the carnival since the opening of the Fair.

About 400 Montanans are in Chicago for their special day at the World's Fair today, the feature of which will be a buffalo barbecue feast and campfire celebration in which the tribes of the Indian village will participate. A three year old buffalo from Yellowstone National park arrived yesterday. The barbecue feast will be held at 12 o'clock noon and at 6:30 p. m. There will be a dinner dance in the Casino D' Alex for Miss Montana. Among those here for the celebration are Gov. Frank H. Copney; David A. Steel, commissioner; W. W. Macodwell, former lieutenant governor of Montana and President Roosevelt's envoy to Ireland, and O. S. Warden, Great Falls publisher and chairman of the state highway commission.

Alfred E. Smith, former governor of New York and Democratic nominee for President in 1928, will visit the Fair Saturday. He will be taken for a tour of the grounds before noon and will speak in the court of the Hall of Science at 2:30 p. m. A banquet will be given in his honor by the trustees of A Century of Progress in the trustees' lounge in the Hall of Science at 7:30 p. m. Gov. Horner announced yesterday that he would participate in welcoming Mr. Smith.

HUNT TAX DODGERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—The federal government today started out on a hunt for tax dodgers, armed with power to inquire into records of individual speculative transactions during the last four years.

Acting under authority granted in the revenue act of 1932, Commissioner of Internal Revenue Guy T. Helvering is requiring brokers throughout the country to divulge information which will enable him to determine whether speculative losses claimed by income tax payers are bogus or valid.

Official Explains Stand.

"The commissioner feels," an official announcement today stated, "that due to the wild fluctuations of the market during these years, there were probably many transactions which were not properly reported in the income tax returns; and that because of the fact that certain individuals have taken advantage of the opportunity through sales that have a fictitious character as between husband and wife, or between a taxpayer and an individual in close relationship to him, to distort taxable income through claims of losses that have no basis in fact, it is particularly appropriate this year to invoke the authority conferred upon him by the acts mentioned above."

Prior to issuing his order Helvering had discussed it with representatives of the New York Stock exchange, it was learned today. Although the order calls also for reports from commodity brokers, the Chicago board of trade was not consulted, as far as could be learned here tonight.

Commodities Are Included.

Bureau of internal revenue officials, however, were emphatic in explaining that dealings in wheat, corn and other commodities would be checked, along with other ventures on the stock market.

Returns for 1929, 1930, 1931, and 1932 must be filed by Nov. 15. They are to show the name and address of each customer "with such details as to profits, losses, or other information which the commissioner may require, as to each of such customers, as will enable the commissioner to determine whether all income tax due on profits or gains of such customers has been paid."

In an effort to narrow his new investigation, Commissioner Helvering offered immunity from prosecution to all tax dodgers who confessed before they were discovered.

ITALIAN BOXER SAYS HE INTENDS TO WED J. J. ASTOR'S WIDOW

New York, Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Enzo Fiermonte, Italian heavyweight boxer, returned from Bermuda today and confirmed reports that he is to marry Mrs. Madeline Dick, widow of John Jacob Astor. Fiermonte was a passenger on the Queen of Bermuda of the Furness line.

The boxer said that he intended to leave in two weeks for Paris and that the marriage to Mrs. Dick would take place there as soon as Mrs. Dick is discharged from a Bermuda hospital, where she is recovering from a fractured arm. Fiermonte intends to give up boxing and become a broker, he said.

Mrs. Dick was divorced from William K. Dick in Reno last July.

Fiermonte was indignant over the refusal of the Bermuda authorities to permit him to land on Friday. He said he intended to hire "one of the best lawyers in New York" to find out who was responsible for the refusal. He also intends to make a formal complaint to the Italian consulate here, he said.

"If it costs me my last penny, I'll find out who is responsible," he said.

The boxer was preparing to sail for Europe from St. Johns, N. B., when he learned of Mrs. Dick's injury. He canceled his plans and sailed for Bermuda, only to be kept aboard the ship there.

LIQUOR BOARD READY TO DRAFT A CONTROL PLAN

Sen. Ward Says Report Will Be Ready in Time.

State Senator Harold G. Ward predicted yesterday that the Illinois commission on liquor control legislation, of which he is chairman, will have its report ready for action by the general assembly before prohibition repeal is completed.

Ten of the fifteen members of the commission are members of the legislature and will be occupied with the work of the special session on relief until Thursday or Friday, he said, but he plans a conference meeting as soon as the ten are released from their Springfield duties.

Hearings Are Over.

"We have completed our hearings," he said, "and have given everybody a chance to be heard. Therefore we're ready now to sit down and determine the policies we should recommend for enactment into law. So far as I know there is no member of the commission that has fixed views on all of the many questions involved and I feel we should have a conference as to the method to be followed in working out an agreement."

Senator Ward said that he and his associates appreciate clearly that they face an unusual task in preparing an outline or draft of legislation that will succeed in the expected special session on liquor control. In a regular session bills on this subject could be passed by majority vote. In special session they require a two-thirds vote of each house.

Plan Uniform Laws.

"So we must propose a plan," said the commission chairman, "that we are confident will be acceptable to such substantial majorities or Illinois might be flooded with uncontrolled liquor when repeal comes."

Senator Ward said the commission will be represented at a conference of midwest states at Des Moines on Oct. 26, which was called by Gov. Clyde Herring of Iowa for the consideration of uniform laws.

PROBATION PLAN OF U. S. JUDGE IN DRY LAW CASES

Policy Is Announced from Bench.

Salisbury, N. C., Oct. 16.—(AP)—Judge Johnson J. Hayes in opening federal district court here today, said prohibition law violators, "except hardened criminals," coming before him at this time will be placed on probation and not sentenced to prison.

"The courts should be responsive to public opinion and the overwhelming majority of the American people have already decided that they wish to repeal the 18th amendment," Judge Hayes said.

"Against Popular Will."

"I do not see how any one could have the heart to sentence a person to six months in jail or a year in the penitentiary for a crime which is already evident as against the popular will. Before they finished serving their term the law would be repealed.

"Of course, I do not mean to turn anybody loose, because the law is still on the books, but where a man who is by the facts and his record not a type that will violate any law that might be written, I am going to give him a chance to show his manhood by putting him on probation."

Old Liquor Charge Dismissed.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 16.—(AP)—Stating that the 18th amendment is "now on its last legs," United States District Attorney Louis H. Breuer today dismissed a charge of conspiracy to violate the Volstead act against Heber Nations, Jefferson City, former state labor commissioner.

Nations was convicted three times of the charge, each conviction being followed by a reversal in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

The district attorney in a statement before Federal Judge C. B. Fairs today said that since the first trial of Nations, in 1925, witnesses in the case had died, beer had been legalized and "the 18th amendment is now on its last legs." Breuer acted on instructions from the attorney general's office.

Court Acquits Executive Seized on Ex-Wife's Charge

Judge Jay A. Schiller in the Stockyards court yesterday dismissed a disorderly conduct charge brought against John S. Plummer, 46 years old, western branch manager for a printing firm. The charge was brought by Plummer's former wife, who alleged that he evicted her from a house at 6319 South Irving avenue last Saturday. This was one day before she was required to move, according to a court order granted last May when she divorced Plummer.

DEFENSE FIGHTS JUDGE FINNEGAN IN RACKET TRIAL

Attorneys for 24 defendants charged with conspiracy to terrorize Chicago business men yesterday argued that Judge Philip J. Finnegan is not qualified to hear the case. Attorney Joseph Harrington, speaking for the battery of defense counsel, held that Judge Finnegan was not a member of the Criminal court when the hearing was assigned to him by Chief Justice Philip L. Sullivan.

The case in which several labor leaders and hoodlums are under indictment was assigned to Judge Finnegan last Friday on the same day on which his transfer from the county building to the Criminal court was announced. At that time Chief Justice Sullivan said that "he had been forced" to assign the case to Judge Finnegan in defiance of "scurrilous charges" in the Federation News, described on the front page as the official organ of the Chicago Federation of Labor.

The article to which Judge Sullivan referred charged that there had been a conspiracy to place the case before Judge Finnegan. The latter yesterday announced that he would hear argument Monday on the defense motion in his courtroom in th e county building.

A defense motion to file seven additional petitions for changes of venue also was overruled by Judge Finnegan. The defense attorneys announced that they planned to attack the constitutionality of the 1933 change of venue law. Defendants, who are forced to file all change of venue petitions at once under the new law, were allowed to file petitions one at a time under the old law.

SUIT ATTACKS AUTO PARKING LEASE AT FAIR

A bill for an accounting was filed in the Circuit court yesterday against W. C. Kominske, operator of several parking lots at the south entrance to the World's Fair, alleging that the contract of employment between Kominske and the south park commissioners is illegal and that the profits earned by the parking lots be turned over to the south park board.

Under the terms of the contract Kominske receives 90 per cent of the gross receipts for managing the parking places, and the balance, plus all improvements, goes to the south park board. The bill contends that this contract is a lease of public lands and therefore illegal.

An immediate hearing was asked for the suit, but Chief Justice Dennis J. Normoyle of the Circuit court refused to act until the defendants had been served with notice. The suit probably will be heard today.

Former Judge Carpenter Retained by Law Firm

George A. Carpenter, who recently resigned as a judge of the United States District court, has been retained as counsel in the law firm of Tenney, Harding, Sherman & Rogers, it was announced yesterday. Judge Carpenter was elected to the Cook county Circuit bench in 1906 and held the position until 1910, when he received an appointment as a federal judge.

LOVE SUIT FOE OPENS FIRE ON MRS. WILLETT

Trip to Mexico Aired in Deposition Hearing.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

Mrs. Mary Cave Hall, defendant in a million dollar alienation of affections suit filed last February by Mrs. Howard L. Willett, wife of the teaming company executive, may counter with an attack on the character of the plaintiff when the litigation comes to trial, events yesterday indicated. In a prologue enacted in a Waukegan law office the name of Edmund Harris of Baltimore, a young architect formerly of Chicago, was brought into two depositions taken by Miss Alice Greenacre, attorney for Mrs. Hall.

The witnesses in the depositions are Dudley Crafts Watson, widely known art authority and tour director, and Mrs. Bertha Baker Alling, member of an old Chicago and Lake Forest family. Their testimony concerned a tour of Mexico by a party of 16 early in 1932. Mrs. Willett, Harris and the two witnesses were members of the party.

Mrs. Willett at Hearing.

Both witnesses emphatically denied any knowledge of misbehavior between Harris and Mrs. Willett. Mrs. Hall was not present at the taking of the depositions, but Mrs. Willett followed the proceedings intently.

With a cold rain slanting against the windows of the crowded little room, Miss Greenacre led the deponents to mention of tropical settings and foreign adventures; of a bullfight near Mexico City and a day's roving through the canals and hanging gardens of Xochimilco; of the carnival of the Mardi Gras in New Orleans and a cocktail gathering in the Roosevelt hotel there.

Mr. Watson was chattily inclined and frequently, before he could be interrupted, volunteered extraneous details which sent a chuckle around the snug little circle, but failed to amuse the attorneys.

Lawyer Objects in Vain.

Attorney Bennison Bartel, representing Mrs. Willett, interposed objections to practically every question asked, but since Miss Stella Koper, notary public who administered the oath to the deponents, was the only semblance of a jurist present, Miss Greenacre pressed for answers and got them. Their admissibility will be ruled on when the evidence comes up in court.

Mr. Harris, according to Mr. Watson, was at no time definitely a member of the group that made the excursion into Mexico. He attached himself to the party in the guise of photographer for an eastern magazine, the witness explained, and at first intended to go only part way, to make pictures of the Mardi Gras.

Later Harris attempted to borrow funds from the tour director, was repulsed, Watson said, but received funds by wire and purchased additional transportation to Mexico.

The Stay in New Orleans.

The questioning of Mr. Watson by Miss Greenacre proceeded.

Q.—Now in New Orleans, where did you stay? A.—At the Roosevelt hotel.

Q.—What were the rooming arrangements? A.—Harris roomed with me, and I will say he was one of the most awful roommates imaginable. He spread his paraphernalia all about, left me no room for my things, and if there had been thirty towels in the bathroom he would have used them all. He used one every seven minutes. So [with a grin] I had enough. Nothing could have induced me to share another room with such an individual.

Q.—How did he act on the train from Houston to Mexico City? A.—He got very drunk; so drunk that I informed him he must not register at the same hotel with the rest of the party, or I should be compelled to inform him that all his associations with the group were through. He retorted that he would go wherever he wished, but I didn't see him around after that.

On the Train to Mexico.

"What were his relations with Mrs. Willett on the train?" was the next question.

The form of this query precipitated an argument between Attorneys Bartel and Greenacre, with the latter insisting that it was proper.

Watson answered: "Mrs. Willett is a highly socialized person. She always goes out of her way to make others comfortable and to be friendly. I cannot say that she was any different to Harris than to any one else."

Q.—Was Mrs. Willett ever absent from the party in Mexico? A.—On one occasion. I got a note from her about 11 one morning saying she was going to a bullfight with Harris and some Mexicans he had got acquainted with on the train, and that we would probably see her there. Later at the bullfight I saw her with Harris and these Spanish persons. At 9 that night, when we returned to the hotel, she was waiting for us in the lobby.

Q.—Now in New Orleans, was Mr. Harris ever in Mrs. Willett's hotel room, to your knowledge? A.—Yes, one night before dinner when she served cocktails to the whole party. I remember Harris was there.

Q.—Now, Mr. Watson, was Harris ever in Mrs. Willett's hotel room when no one else was there? A.—Not that I have any knowledge of.

Q.—Was he ever in her berth? A.—Definitely no—as far as I could say.

Mr. Watson was dismissed on that note. Mrs. Alling took the chair he had vacated, walking slowly with a cane. Her testimony was brief.

She was, she said, a member of the group that traveled together to Mexico, although she joined the party at Houston and left it at Tucson on the return trip to go to California. She has known Mrs. Willett for some years, and has met Mrs. Hall "once or twice—not at all recently," she said.

"What were the relations between Mrs. Willett and Mr. Harris?" Miss Greenacre asked.

Another passage at arms ensued between the attorneys as Bartel voiced his objections to the query. Again Miss Greenacre insisted on its propriety and demanded an answer.

"As far as I can answer, they were friendly," the witness said.

Q.—Did you travel with Mrs. Willett and Harris? A.—No, I can't recall that I was ever with them. The party traveled in three or four cars, and usually I was with a married couple from Milwaukee and another lady.

Q.—What did you observe as to the conduct of Mrs. Willett and Harris? A.—As far as I can answer, they did just the same as the rest of us did.

The Questioning Concluded.

Miss Greenacre signified that she was through, and Mrs. Alling, who had once or twice appealed to Mrs. Willett, seated beside her, for help on details that had escaped her memory, left the room as rapidly as possible.

"Miss Greenacre sprang a surprise on us in this action," Mrs. Willett said after the hearing. "Three weeks ago Mrs. Hall signified that she wanted very much to settle this case out of court. Mr. Willett also expressed himself as eager to have it kept out of court—everybody was anxious to keep it from trial but Miss Greenacre, who instituted this hearing while supposedly a truce was on.

"I had withheld some important evidence that was to be recorded last week simply because I thought a settlement was in prospect, but now I shall go ahead."

History of the Case.

The history of the Willett-Hall suit ranges from the University of Chicago campus to the sky garden and opulent penthouse at 2130 Lincoln Park West, where, until the latter part of 1932, the Willetts were frequent and gay hosts to many friends. Their separation followed soon after the marriage of their daughter, Jane, to Samuel Gale Taylor III, early this year. Not long after the separation Mrs. Willett filed her $1,000,000 suit charging that Mrs. Hall had stolen Willett's affections.

Howard Willett and the late David Hall, husband of Mrs. Hall, were friends in their years at the University of Chicago and David was best man when Willett married Grace Williamson in 1909. Mrs. Willett was president of the Drama League of Chicago for eight years.

She and Mrs. Hall, who had been Mary Cave before her marriage to Hall, spent much time at the Art institute. Both have been members of various tours of the old world and the new, under the direction of Mr. Watson. Mr. Hall before his death was an executive of the Addressograph company. MRS. ROOSEVELT WAITS FOR LAW ON WINE; SHE DOESN'T DRINK IT

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—(AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt today let it be known that, as far as serving liquors in the White House is concerned, she will cross that bridge when she comes to it.

"When repeal arrives will you serve wine at diplomatic receptions?" was a question put to her at her press conference.

"There will be no statement until repeal has come, and until it is an accomplished fact in the District of Columbia," Mrs. Roosevelt said. "Then there will be a statement just as there was on beer."

On April 3, four days before the sale of 3.2 per cent beer became legal, Mrs. Roosevelt issued a statement saying:

"When it is legal to serve beer in any government house it will naturally be proper to do so for any one who desired it at the White House.

"No matter what the legislation," she said, "I myself do not drink anything with alcoholic content, but that is a purely individual thing. I should not dream of imposing my own convictions on other people as long as they live up to the law of the land."

NEW CHARGES OF COLLUSION MADE IN WINDSOR SUIT

3 Women Tell of Read's Lovemaking.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 16.—(AP)—An affidavit that Alfred C. Read, Jr., had been heard promising his now divorced wife he would return to her after the disposition of her alienation of affections suit in which she recently obtained a $75,000 judgment against Claire Windsor, blonde actress, was filed in Superior court today.

Attorneys for the actress, who seek to have the judgment set aside, also presented affidavits by three women who stated Read had made love to them, first representing himself as a single man and later saying that he was married, but getting a divorce. In the trial of the suit against her by Mrs. Marian Read, Miss Windsor said that was the story Read had told her in their romance.

Listened in on Conversation.

Henry Stuart Trumbower of Philadelphia, Pa., in an affidavit, said he "listened in" on a conversation between Read and Mrs. Read in which Mrs. Read asked her husband to aid her in her suit against Miss Windsor and to "turn over to her additional letters written by Miss Windsor."

During the conversation, Trumbower said, Read promised to return to Mrs. Read after the alienation case was disposed of.

The three women—Julie Carter and Dorothy Granger, actresses, and Aljean Hemming—said they would have come forward to aid Miss Winsor before, but had felt certain she would win her case without their testimony.

Miss Hemming said Read in April, 1931, asked her to marry him and when she charged him with being a married man, he told her he was married but was going to Reno to get a divorce.

Read, she said, urged her to go to New York with him on the very trip on which he met Miss Windsor.

Miss Granger said she met Read at Christmas time in 1930 and was told by him at that time he was not married. She went to a party with him and he "made violent love" to her, she asserted.

Miss Carter said she became acquainted with Read in April, 1931, when she was playing in the farce, "Once in a Lifetime," and that he evinced "a romantic interest" in her and "consistently gave her the impression he was not married."

Attorneys for the stage and screen beauty obtained a continuance until Oct. 30 of the hearing on their motions for a new trial. They promised more affidavits would be filed in behalf of Miss Windsor.

INSULL IS SUED BY WOMAN OVER TITLE TO LAND

Samuel Insull was named defendant in a civil suit filed in the McHenry county Circuit court at Woodstock yesterday, in which Mrs. Evelyn Hatch of Spring Grove seeks an accounting and the right to regain clear title to 400 acres of valuable McHenry county land. The suit, filed by Attorney D. R. Joslyn of Woodstock, states the complainant and Mr. Insull entered into an option contract for the land on Jan. 3, 1930. According to the agreement, Insull was to pay $800 a month to keep the option and if he decided to purchase the property, was to pay from $350 to $425 an acre, depending upon when he exercised his right to buy. Insull had planned to turn the property into an estate, the suit said. The bill besides petitioning to clear title, asks an accounting to determine any damages done the property.

U. S. Interference Up to Business, NRA Aid Asserts

The extent of governmental interference in business under the NRA will be determined by the manner in which industries accept their codes and abide by the provisions of the recovery act, Lieut. Col. George S. Brady, assistant deputy NRA administrator, told several hundred hardware manufacturers and wholesalers in convention last night at the Palmer house. He asserted that in the last seven months three million persons have been reemployed and buying power has increased 17 per cent.

BRITAIN TO OUST GIRL SAID TO BE 'RICH CHICAGOAN'

Arrested with Man for Passport Violation.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 16.—Lange Cummer, 19 year old native of Chicago, and described as the "abandoned daughter of a millionaire American businessman," was fined $100 and recommended for deportation in the Bournemouth police court today when she was tried with Gilbert Murray on charges arising out of the immigration laws.

Miss Cummer was convicted of landing in England without permission. Murray was fined $500 on charges of harboring her, knowing that she had landed without a passport.

An immigration inspector testified that he went to a house in Bournemouth and asked Murray, who is 31 and married, "Is the person living here known as Mrs. Murray, your wife?"

Murray replied: "No. She is Miss Desmond."

Says She Was Born in Chicago.

The girl later admitted her name is Cummer, after first posing as a Canadian, and added that she was born in Chicago. She said she had lived in France during the past few years.

"I have done this to be with Murray," she said, according to the inspector.

A. W. Malin, speaking for the girl, pleaded that she is the daughter of an American businessman who is "probably a dollar millionaire." The girl met Murray at Nice, Malin said. Shortly after the meeting Miss Cummer quarreled with her father, who went to Algiers. The girl was friendless, Malin said, so she followed her father to Africa, where he established her in a third class rooming house with an allowance of $50 monthly. Soon afterwards her father left, Malin said, and the girl again was without resources.

She wrote to Murray, whom she regarded as her fiancé, and he brought her back to Nice. Murray was returning to England, and the girl pleaded to be taken, but Murray could not do so. After Murray's departure she decided to come to England to see him.

The American embassy said Malin was trying to obtain a passport for the girl. Miss Cummer was allowed bail pending consideration of the deportation recommendation by the home office.

GIRL UNKNOWN HERE.

Immigration authorities here said no passport had been issued from Chicago for Miss Lange Cummer. After investigation, they reported that they had been unable to find any of the family name living in the Chicago area.

SEIZE BRITISH PEERESS IN PLOT TO SWINDLE HEIR OUT OF $30,000

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 16.—A conspiracy to defraud a peer's son out of $30,000 was charged against Lady Strabolgi, 70 year old wife of the ninth Baron Strabolgi, and Robert Muller, 62, today before the magistrate in the West London Police court.

Their intended victim, according to the prosecution, was Francis Alexander Innys Eveleigh de Moleyns, younger son of the wealthy Lord Ventry. Lady Strabolgi is the mother of Commander Joseph Montague Kenworthy, former member of parliament, leader of the Labor party, and heir to the family title. Both defendants described themselves as financially independent.

Only a preliminary hearing was held today and the pair were remanded for a week on bonds of $2,500 each. Two detectives testified how they had trapped the peeress and her alleged accomplice. Lady Strabolgi denied the charge. Lady Strabolgi, before her marriage in 1884, was Elizabeth Florence Cooper, daughter of George Buchanan Cooper of Sacramento City, Cal.

MOE ROSENBERG TAX CASE IS SET FOR TRIAL DEC. 4

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday denied a motion for a bill of particulars in behalf of Moe Rosenberg, Democratic leader in the 24th ward, who is under indictment on a charge of evading income tax payments of approximately $65,000 for the years 1929 and 1930. The judge set Dec. 4 as the date for the opening of Rosenberg's trial.

Defense Attorney John L. McInerney took an exception to the refusal to grant his motion for a bill of particulars, and asked for more time to prepare his case. This request also was overruled by Judge Wilkerson.

AMATEUR SLEUTH FREED AFTER HE TRAILS KILLERS

Supervising Captain Thomas Condon of the sixth division yesterday ordered Michael Schwartz, 26 years old, 3431 Bosworth avenue, a filling station operator, released on the charge of carrying a concealed weapon. Schwartz was arrested Sunday night with a gun in his possession after his own detective work had led to the arrest of Jack Biewar, 32 years old, 3907 Sheridan road, and three others who are suspected of murdering Nicholas Schwartz, brother of Michael, in a holdup on the night of Sept. 12.

After the slaying Michael went to the detective bureau and recognized the pictures of Biewar and John Fritz as the two men who had asked his brother for money on the night he was killed.

On clews given by Schwartz, the police arrested Biewar at 3907 Sheridan road and later seized Fritz, William Russell, and Dorothy Reno.

SOCIETY WIFE SUES SCULPTOR FOR A DIVORCE

Desertion Is Charged by Helen Szukalska.

Mrs. Helen Walker Szukalska filed suit for divorce yesterday in the Superior court against Stanislaw Szukalski, the eccentric sculptor and painter, to whom she was married eleven years ago following a romance born while they were fellow students at the Art institute.

Her bill, filed by Attorney Lloyd A. Faxon, charges desertion. Attorney William Boyden, representing her husband, said, after the bill was filed, that Szukalska will not contest the divorce.

Mrs. Szukalska is the daughter of the late Dr. Samuel J. Walker and is prominent in Chicago society. Her brother, S. J. Walker Jr., lives in Lake Forest. Her husband, born in Poland, came to Chicago when he was 14 years old with his father, a blacksmith. After a stormy artistic career he won considerable recognition, and now lives in Hollywood.

On one occasion, because a trustee of the Art institute ordered one of the paintings which he had on exhibition there removed, he attempted to smash the rest of his pictures there, and succeeded partially before guards restrained him.

On another occasion he tore up the honorable mention which had been affixed to one of his statues, announcing that authorities at the institute could not sit in judgment on his work because their awards came "from souls which can never appreciate the effusions of a soul on a higher plane." Eventually he withdrew from classes there, announcing that his instructors could teach him no more.

Live in Greenwich Village.

He was married to Miss Walker on May 31, 1922, shortly after she had been an intended bridesmaid at the famous ceremony when Mary Landon Baker left Allister McCormick "waiting at the church." Szukalska and his bride went to live in a studio in Geenwich Village.

Last April Mrs. Szukalska filed suit for divorce at Nogales, Mexico, charging incompatibility. She withdrew the action later after deciding to seek a decree in Chicago. She asks the custody of a child, Elizabeth Kalinka, 6 years old.

$25,000 Year for Life

CLAIRE LUCE.
(Acme Photo.)

New York, Oct. 16.—(AP)—Claire Luce, actress, and her society husband, Clifford Warren Smith, have agreed "to disagree," and as a result the one time Follies girl is scheduled to receive $25,000 a year for the rest of her life.

Announcement of the agreement, which involves no divorce, was made today by attorneys representing both the blonde actress and her wealthy amateur aviator husband.

"Miss Luce is in London with Fred Astaire and Mr. Smith is with his dad at the country home," said Bennett Siegelstein, representing Smith. "We felt no legal action was necessary. It's just a case of signing an agreement; they simply agree to live apart. What's going to happen a month from now, or six months, I don't know."

Miss Luce is starring in "The Gay Divorcée," in which she appeared on Broadway last season.

ESTONIANS VOTE SELVES RIGHT TO PICK PRESIDENT

End Executive Powers of Parliament.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TALLINN, Estonia, Oct. 16.—Estonia's seven political parties received a blow today when the republic's electorate by a large majority passed an amendment to the constitution reducing the membership in parliament by one half, rescinding its right to appoint the president and cabinet, and withdrawing all its executive powers.

Seventy-six per cent of Estonia's registered voters visited the polls in the three day election. A total of 411,000 voted for the amendment and 160,000 against it.

Parliament's Fight Fails.

Parliament's efforts to save its skin by passing a law a fortnight ago raising the quorum necessary for amending the constitution from one third to one half the total of registered voters failed. Under the new law, 382,000 votes were required.

Three months from today the amendment becomes a law and within the following three months Estonia will elect her first president by direct vote. Two of the most likely candidates are Gen. Johann Laidoner, and former President Konstantin Pats.

Asked if he thought the amendment was a step towards dictatorship, Gen. Laidoner said, "Decidedly not. Estonia is remaining a democratic nation but with a strongly centralized government, which is one of democracy's best safeguards."

Demand End of Martial Law.

Former President Pats, together with Arthur Sirk, youthful leader of the Estonian war veterans who drafted the amendment and forced its passage, demanded that the government immediately lift the military press censorship and cancel the state of martial law.

A special meeting of parliament has been called for Wednesday evening when it is expected President Jaan Tonisson and his cabinet will resign.

WILLIAMSON KEPT AS PRESS SECRETARY, SO COLLEAGUE RESIGNS

Hillsboro, Ill., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Clinton P. Bliss, 58, editor and publisher of Montgomery News, Hillsboro, who was elected first vice president of the Illinois Press association at Champaign on Saturday, offered his resignation Monday to C. R. Denson, Minonk, president of the association. Reasons for his resignation are set forth in a statement made by him.

"After due consideration of the fact that members of the Illinois Press association, at their meeting held Saturday in Champaign, saw fit to reëlect H. L. Williamson to the office of secretary," his statement said, "I feel that I cannot accept the honor bestowed upon me by the association in electing me first vice president.

"I therefore offer my resignation as first vice president, as I feel that I cannot serve with Mr. Williamson until he has proved himself innocent of the charges preferred against him by the governor of Illinois.

"I also wish to tender my resignation as a member of the Illinois Press association, which, I feel, has ceased to represent the publishers of Illinois."

RAIN CAUSES TAG SALE TO BE PUT OFF UNTIL TODAY

Rainy weather and overcast skies yesterday caused the Chicago Children's Benefit league tag day to be postponed until today in the hope that more favorable weather would add to the proceeds of the tag sales. Volunteer workers will again be stationed on the busiest corners in the city. The money they raise will go to fifty children's charities, such as orphanages, hospital clinics, nurseries, and homes for the crippled. All of the charities are indorsed by the Chicago Association of Commerce. The tag day was further indorsed by Mayor Kelly, who issued a proclamation on Friday urging the public to contribute.

FOUR LAW FIRMS GET MILLION IN RECEIVERS' FEES

House Committee Holding New York Inquiry.

New York, Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Four law firms appointed by the Irving Trust company to handle equity receiverships and bankruptcy proceedings from 1929 to 1933 collected fees aggregating $1,043,584, according to testimony today at the opening hearing of a subcommittee of the house judiciary committee, investigating the Irving Trust company's so-called "monopoly" on receiverships and bankruptcies in the southern district of New York.

The firms that got the fees were the following:

Bank Official Testifies.

The facts came out during the testimony of Paul E. Mead, executive vice president of the bank. Attorney Leo T. Kissam, counsel for the house committee, developed through his questioning of Mr. Mead that the law firm of Cravath, De Gersdorf, Swaine & Wood has received $409,602 in fees, and that the firm of Rosenberg, Goldmark & Colin has received $268,987.89 for its handling of forty-two cases.

"Sensation" Is Predicted.

The investigation is expected to involve other banking institutions, city and state legal associations, and the federal district judge in charge of receivership appointments. Representatives of the various groups will be called on to give information, and Mr. Celler has predicted that the disclosures will "prove sensational."

Since the Irving Trust was appointed as receiver to terminate certain scandals, there has been widespread criticism, particularly among lawyers, that it has developed itself into a receivership monopoly with wide patronage powers which otherwise would go to the federal bench.

ROBBED IN REAR OF HOME.

Edward T. Leonard 2622 North Hamlin avenue, was robbed of $80 by two men who halted him as he was placing his automobile in a garage at the rear of his home early yesterday.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

HITLER AS ADVOCATE.

The case for Germany could hardly be put more eloquently or more effectively than in Chancellor Hitler's broadcast accompanying the retirement of the German delegation from Geneva. It was not a judicial statement. It is not Herr Hitler's function to make the case for other nations than his own. It is his duty to present the facts and arguments supporting the German government's course and the German people's attitude toward armament conditions, and he did this with amazing skill and forcefulness.

Apart from partisans whose minds or emotions are incorrigibly fixed, the address must favorably impress opinion, at least in neutral countries, with what is valid in Germany's case. When Herr Hitler asserts that faith was broken with the German republic in the imposition of peace conditions which were a repudiation of the Wilsonian terms, he is on the strongest moral grounds. The Versailles treaty was formulated in a spirit flagrantly violative of the spirit which Wilson, with the ostensible acquiescence of the allied governments, promised the German people would govern their treatment by the victors if Germany became a republic. But the German case does not rest on this general moral ground alone. It rests on the indubitable fact that unconscionable from the viewpoint of the Wilsonian assurance as the treaty was, it has not, after 14 years, been fulfilled in its declaration upon German disarmament.

But the relations of nations, our ingenuous internationalists to the contrary notwithstanding, are not finally governed by legal argument nor even by disinterested considerations of equity and good faith. They are governed by interests and forces. The injustice and bad faith of the terms imposed upon the German republic, once it had been induced to lay down its arms and to rely upon agreement, are, unhappily for Germany and perhaps for the world, irrelevant at this stage. The issue is how to meet present conditions so as to maintain peace, and upon this issue Herr Hitler's eloquent advocacy is gravely compromised by the belligerency of his policy and by utterances and conduct which have alarmed not only the nations opposed to German revival but neutrals and would-be friends.

The Hitler appeal, in short, has little if any support in the character of the Hitler régime, which has continued to revive the fears of all Germany's neighbors and to unify them at least for the present in defensive understandings which have isolated the Nazi state more completely than that of Potsdam in 1914. It takes more eloquence and skill of advocacy than even so remarkable an orator as Hitler possesses to convince the world that under the Nazi régime Germany can be permitted to rearm or even that her neighbors can afford to experiment with substantial reductions in armament.

THE TRIAL OF SENATOR DAVIS.

United States Senator James J. Davis of Pennsylvania was acquitted in the federal court in New York by jurors who found he had not violated the lottery laws. The prosecution has been hanging over the senator's head a long time and this was the second trial, the first resulting in a mistrial because of the irregular conduct of a juror. The Pennsylvania senator, former secretary of labor, is interested in Mooseheart, the home for children and dependent families maintained by the Loyal Order of Moose. The institution has a very good reputation in all respects. The charge against him was that he not only had part in the money raising scheme by which cash prizes were given to certain holders of charity ball tickets but that he, as well as the institution, made a profit.

If the jury had found the senator guilty and if he had been given the full sentence, he could have been sent to prison for 28 years. The United States government bears down on games of chance as if they were wholly constituted of original sin. Nevertheless, everybody knows that they are to be found not only in the amusements of the sons of Anak but in church bazaars and charitable undertakings. From the smallest county fairs to the biggest race meets, the instinct of the human being to take a chance and hope he can make a killing is found in a multitude of amusements and considerable of piety and charity. So sensitive has the government become on this question of alleged morals that until recently a newspaper was tabu at the postoffice if it published the name of the person who had won in the Irish sweepstakes, and that person was considerably frightened before he got his money for fear he'd also get Leavenworth.

Mr. Davis' prospect of 28 years in prison because Mooseheart gave away prizes to winning tickets in charity balls was a prospect that the most outrageous criminal in the country would think represented tough justice for his crimes. The thought of a lottery is something that stiffens Uncle Sam's moral spine, apparently in the fear that if he relaxes in the slightest the nation will instantly become a madhouse of irresponsible soft boiled eggs.

It is a prevailing theory that the moment a citizen puts up 10 cents in the rosy hope that it might bring him a hundred dollars he has become a danger to the social fabric and that the illusioned moments during which he dreams he might get something are wholly given over to the devil. That will take a lot of proving. It isn't improbable that the reason so many people make such magnificent fools of themselves in the stock market is because the government chases them up the alley every time they venture in a bit of hazard which wouldn't necessarily take their shirts if they lost. From any viewpoint of reasonable public policy the case of the government against Mr. Davis looked a good deal like piffle, and even people who aren't overfond of this statesman can be rather glad that for his part in the charity affair he does not get 28 years.

FREEDOM OF OPINION IN DANGER.

Gen. Johnson, denying a reporter for a Washington news letter the right to be present at his newspaper conferences, said he did not object to constructive criticism, but he refused to give information to a man who distorted it and engaged in sabotage against the recovery program. The reporter has denied that the accusation is true and insists on his privilege.

The general is one of a number of reasons for fearing that the constitutional guaranty protecting the freedom of the press, of opinion and criticism, is in none too strong a position these days. He professes his respect for the principle, but he has opposed a statement of it as a condition in the newspaper code. That opposition is remarkable inasmuch as a pledge to the principle is a part of an official's oath of office. He might as well refuse the oath and say that his intentions were well enough understood without it.

This incident in the newspaper relations with Gen. Johnson gives point to such other incidents as the punishment of the news letter reporter. The general's constructive criticism may mean to him criticism which must be generally favorable. In the war he was administering the draft law, from which he may derive his ideas of political action.

Marlen E. Pew, editor of the Editor and Publisher, has reason to say that the proposal for the licensing of the press carries with it the implication of Hitler, Stalin, and Mussolini. The government at Washington is engaged in adventures for which the authority is as uncertain as the consequences. The enterprises are mostly new to American experience and they put the citizens under compulsions with which they are unfamiliar. Administration has taken over many judicial functions and punishments may not come from the courts but from the bureaucracy. Many rights have been lost and the government seeks to make its proceedings popular not only by promises of good results but by attaching odium to criticism and opposition. The radio and the moving pictures have been made or persuaded to toe the line and many of the administrators are not in the mood to have their authority or their practices questioned. If there are fears that they would not need much encouragement to muzzle opposition newspapers there are also reasons for the fears.

Some people with their hopes highly aroused by the government subsidies, gifts and special pleadings may forget themselves and their own real stake in the constitutional order. They may yield to a partisan hysteria and indorse in the United States such violent acts against liberty as now mark the course of Germany's internal policies and as have frightened opposition into silence in Italy and sent it to death or exile in Russia.

A German Catholic clergyman in Milwaukee found the time propitious to tell his congregation that Hitler was right in bringing the German press to heel and compelling the journalists to praise and indorse acts of government. Men who believe that conformity should be forced upon people in politics or religion, that one man's ideas shall be another man's code of private conduct and personal belief, readily support the doctrine of suppression. The United States had a dose of it under the eighteenth amendment and it would be strange if in escaping from one dominion of intolerance it found itself imprisoned in another and larger one.

There are intelligent and cultured people who abhor the conditions forced upon them in Europe, but they do not dare protest now. They allowed the dictator to get out of hand. Now they are under his hand. It is not enough that the domestic press in Europe should be under the command of the censor, but it is proposed that foreign correspondents shall be made agents of government or suppressed. The American newspapers can meet that situation abroad, but if Americans permit their officials to abrogate guaranties of freedom of opinion at home it will be the end of government as they have known it and have wanted it.

INDIANA KILLERS IN OHIO.

The Indiana sheriff who was picked up when the convicts made their break from the Michigan City penitentiary got off with his life and without even rough treatment. The Ohio sheriff who stood in the way of some of these same criminals seeking to release an associate from the jail at Lima was not so fortunate. He is dead in the discharge of his duty, which was to prevent the jail delivery.

The political practices which disordered the discipline and watchfulness in the Indiana prison have their results in Ohio and they are the consequences to be expected when negligence permits hardened men to escape punishment for one crime and be free to commit others. Gov. McNutt's administration in Indiana has been held responsible by criticism in the state which charges him with political management of the prison for patronage purposes. The prison break revealed carelessness, if not incompetence, and left innocent people to pay the price.

[Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.]

The depression cut severely into the incomes of airfields which made a specialty of passengers on first flights, who went aboard a plane for curiosity and a thrill. But the big passenger lines which are establishing the airplane as a permanent and dependable part of the nation's transportation system have made headway in spite of the depression.

This is demonstrated by a report from Pennsylvania Airlines, Inc., a company financed by Pittsburgh capital, which operates passenger lines out of the Pittsburgh-Butler airport to Cleveland, Akron, and Washington.

Since the winter of 1930 the miles flown have increased from 20,000 to 90,000 per month. In the three months of June, July, and August, 1931, a total of 153,930 miles was flown. In the same months this year this figure had jumped to 263,172.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, le. the quips fall where they may.

THE ILLNESS OF THE league of nations has reached a critical stage. Physicians at the bedside reported from Geneva late last night that at that hour the league was resting quietly, but had a high fever and had refused nourishment. Old Doc John Bull, who is taking the patient's pulse every five minutes, said: "The league is very sick; oh, very sick indeed. The patient seems to be out of his head and cries out continually, 'Oh, no, no, no, Herr Hitler; don't do that! I'm just a young league trying to get on in the world! Say, gimme a chance, won't you?'" Doc Bull said that the patient was undoubtedly suffering from a severe blow or a great shock. "Either," said Dr. Bull, "the patient was struck by a railroad train or given a severe kick in the pants. I am not prepared at this moment to say which. But excuse me now, as I must give the poor league another shot in the arm." Later, at the hour of going to press, the league of nations was reported sinking and an effort was being made to find its friends, but the dam thing doesn't seem to have any.

THE MISTS OF SPRING.

THE CAVALIER.

Mist was low on the meadows, but John could see
Trees through the white scarves, at the water's edge.
Now in the lane, closed in by hedgerows, he could hear
Somewhere the sound of water running past
And then the splash, as if an otter leaped.
He rode forward, listening for the sound
Of spur-chains clanking or a barking dog;
The fear he knew had eaten at his heart
Was changing to serenity and peace.
"'Tis a girl singing," he said, and rode on.
"A ford should be around that turn," said John,
—In Sussex where he never rode before,
Yet felt this strange familiarity,
This sense of knowing this deep, winding lane
Traveling the valley down toward Glyndon Brook.
"My shoulder's easier now," said John.
"That pistol was well saved there at the last,
"Terrible at that psalm-chanter's hairless dome.
"Any day, a pistol's better than a pike.
"A horseman's better than a foot-soldier.
"Miller the footman was a Roundhead man,
John said, "Better he'd never left the mill."
Long lane has no turning: here's the turn.
The turn, the brook, the crossing and the house,
Senseless before a strange and puzzled girl.
"Mary, I came," he said, and smiled and slept,
Cheerfully in the willows by the brook.

"WE ARE FACING," says Senator Bill Borah, "another war." But if you take it from Bill, aren't we always facing another war? When the correspondents in Washington interview the senator, no matter what year or month, and he hasn't said we were facing another war, they always sent out the news that he was in bad health or sick or something.

THE SLENDER SINGING TREE.

It must have been as long ago as 1930 that I began to receive (and the worst part of it, have to answer) letters asking me if Adelaide Love had ever had her poetry published in book form. Two of her poems especially seem to be wanted continually, "Walk Slowly" and "Quiet Hands." I almost resolved once to write the dates when those two poems were published up on the wall, so many of you inquired about them. I put them in the 1931 Linebook, but Linebooks sell out so quickly it didn't do much good. However, I'm pleased and proud to say you can now get them, and all your other favorites among her Line poems, plus dozens that have been published elsewhere and you may have missed entirely, in book form: The Slender Singing Tree, by Adelaide Love, was published last Saturday and all the bookstores are stocked up and prepared to supply you with it. I think I agree with you that "Walk Slowly" and "Quiet Hands" are her loveliest poems, though sometimes it's hard to choose when such fine sonnets as "Joyous Affidavit" and "Death Comes to a Poet" and such memorable poems as "I Shall Belong to You" are offered you. Still I always come back to my first love: Listen to "Walk Slowly" again:

"If you should go before me, dear, walk slowly
Down the ways of Death, well worn and wide,
For I would want to overtake you quickly

"I would be so forlorn not to descry you
Down some shining highroad when I came;
Walk slowly, dear, and often look behind you
And pause to hear if some one calls your name."

The Slender Singing Tree would be worth while if it had nothing in it but that.

ANYHOW, if a general world conflagration should start again I know what I'm going to do when one of the flag wavers shouts, "This is a war to end war." I am going to stand right up on my chair and before the one hundred per cent Americans can lay their hands on me I am going to say in clear, ringing tones, "Balony"! Then they can throw me out. I won't care just so I have gone on record.

ORNAMENTATION—ITS DRAWBACKS.

DR. L. HOLLANDER, who reports some cases of skin rash due to the use of hair waving compound, gives the following as the kind of cosmetic to be suspected when the rash is of the appearance and location listed:

If a rash is pale pink with fine blisters, and if it appears on skin where creams have been used, these cosmetics should be investigated as the probable cause. The finer the texture of the skin and the more vigorous the rubbing the greater the danger of a cream rash.

In a properly located rash that is reddish-bluish in appearance the probable cause is face powder or rouge. A dry, scaling, red eruption around the mouth is apt to be caused by the chemicals in a tooth powder, paste, or wash. On such eruptions there are sometimes small blisters. All eruptions around the lips are liable to cause cracks or fissures which run at right angles to the free border of the lips. In the case of tooth powder rash these cracks are quite persistent, but they heal quickly when use of the preparation is stopped.

Hair lotions, tonics, and dyes produce redness and swelling of the scalp itself, the skin of the brows, and the eyelids. There may be small blisters near the hair line and on the ears. An eruption due to a tonic is apt to come quickly and cause more swelling and itching. One due to a dye is more liable to come slowly and to cause breaks in the skin and blisters, and to result in pustules and sores.

Cracks behind the ears are apt to be due to dyes used on the hair or clothing and to hair tonics.

If an eruption first appears on a part of the body that has been exposed to sunlight, and if it comes in large, red, swollen plaques and turns brown after being red, a perfume dermatitis should be suspected. The rash due to sunburn is apt to be more easily spread over the suspected area, to be more sore, more like an erysipelas, and to be almost free from itching. Scaling is suggestive of a sunburn not aided by perfume.

Nail cosmetics cause some inflammation of the skin near the root, and sometimes peeling of the finger tips.

An eruption which appears on the skin of body folds and regions where there is hair, and which is accompanied at first by a good deal of itching, and which goes on to small blisters and pustules, is apt to be due to the use of deodorants and depilatories. By reason of the locations and their nature these eruptions are rather apt to become mildly infected with staphylococci.

An eruption which itches out of all reason is apt to be due to hives or uticaria, to some local poison such as poison ivy or other poisonous plant, or to the use of cosmetics. The eruptions due to cosmetics may be caused by bedding and pillows that have been used by a person who has beautified himself. [The word himself is chosen with deliberation.] There are other ways in which a person can get his cosmetic rash by proxy.

ALBUMIN IN YOUTH.

2. Is it all right for him to play tennis, football, and the like?

3. For over a year I have had albumin at intervals and one doctor said to be on a diet and take little exercise, while another said it would be all right to exercise and to eat anything.

4. Is it all right to eat candy and other sweets?

REPLY.

1. As a rule it is not. I assume there is no other evidence of kidney disease.
2. Yes.
3. If you have no other evidence of kidney disease you should eat about as other active, growing, young persons do.
4. Yes, within limits.

ADULTS MAY HAVE THEM.

Mrs. E. A. T. writes: 1. Are adults ever troubled with worms?

2. What are the symptoms?

REPLY.

1. Yes, often.
2. There are several kinds of worms. There are very few symptoms. Such symptoms as there are depend on the kind of worm present.

NO SPECIAL DANGER.

G. W. writes: Will the eating of too much raw lettuce or raw onions cause worms?

REPLY.

People are likely to get worms from eating raw foods. There is no special danger in eating lettuce and onions. It is not the quantity but the lack of cleaning that makes the hazard.

FRIEND OF THE FARMER

Inquiries on farm management, financing or governmental regulations addressed to this department must be accompanied by stamped, addressed envelope for reply.]

W. J. asks: I am an ex-service man with a permanent and total pension rating, and wish to know my status relative to making a loan from the government to enable me to purchase a small tract of say 5 acres with a home. I am married and have two children.

Answer: To our knowledge your status as a disabled ex-service man has little bearing on any application you might care to make for a loan from the federal land bank in buying a farm. The loans, however, are granted on specific properties, and you must determine the farm which you would buy before making application for a loan. For details concerning a farm loan we suggest you write to Mr. Wood Netherland, care Federal Land bank, St. Louis, Mo.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. ask: Can you please let us know what we must do to get information about government land grants or government claims? We read an article in a magazine that an ex-service man can buy government land outright for a very small amount of money. Is this true? In what states? Could we get a government loan to buy a place?

Answer: We suggest that you write to the agent, Farm Credit administration, care of Federal Land bank, St. Louis, Mo., stating the same facts which you have given us regarding what you have in the way of funds and what sort of a farm you wish to purchase.

THE POLITICAL PROTECTION.

Chicago, Oct. 14.—Twice within the last two weeks, the last just last night, there has appeared a statement with regard to the Scheck-Grundhofer case in the Criminal courts "that a very powerful Cook county politician was trying to get clemency for Grundhoefer," the actual murderer.

If you know this much, why don't you expose the politician? It would be a wonderful opportunity to show Chicago a sample of the hookup between crime and politics. Certainly we ought to know who it is that would stop the wheels of justice so that we could dispose of him as a political power at the next elections. I believe that the public is so aroused over this crime situation that if you would go the full length in this point and make the exposure it would stop the mischief in this case and do more than even the killing of another policeman to further awaken the citizens of this town to what is going on.

I for one demand such knowledge. You have undertaken to arouse the public to such action in printing the article as you have, therefore complete your responsibility and make the exposure. I'm sick and tired of politicians disposing of justice at the wave of their hand and their will.

Chicago can only win this fight if the big papers keep the crime situation right on the front page and keep making exposures. We have no other way of learning what is going on. Therefore, won't you fulfill your obligation to the public? A. L. B.

WHY LONGER?

Chicago, Oct. 11.—Why are all these learned doctors congratulating themselves over the extension of life to some 78 years or more? Why extend it? Isn't it possible that soon, like other commodities, we will have too much of this thing called life? Has society caught up with the supply of life on hand? Wouldn't it be just as well to make an intensive study of the quality of output—so that the product would be better adapted to modern usage, or new designs—capable of a finer finish? Life, not longer but more vibrant.

ANNA E. GILBERT.

V. P. IS GOING HOOKWORM.'

Chicago, Oct. 11.—An attorney, as reported in today's TRIBUNE, made the insulting remark to a policeman: "You have only the intelligence of an average cop."

We feel sure the attorney in question has not carried out tests to determine "the intelligence of the average cop," for, if so, he would undoubtedly have had the curiosity to determine his own, and we are inclined to the opinion he would not then have made the disparaging remark.

But even if, as compared with the average cop's, his intelligence is of such a superior order, it might be well for him not to overlook [in future] that in the domain of intelligence there are as many ranks and magnitudes as in the solar system, and that, as viewed from the heights of planetary minds, both an attorney's and a policeman's might appear equally inconsequential.

Ernest Haeckel, for instance, speaking of judges and counsel, wrote: "It is popularly supposed that they are men of highest education . . . however, this famed 'legal education' is for the most part of a formal and technical character. They have no time for it [study beyond the cramming of a certain number of pages of legal text], their time is already too largely bespoken for an intensive study of beer and wines and sports." C'EST RIRE.

A COMPLIMENT FROM DIXIE.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 10.—I have just returned to Atlanta, in the heart of Dixie, from a most pleasant and extended visit to your wonderful city, where I was a visitor to the Fair and in attendance at the American Legion national convention.

No other city in the whole world could have accomplished the feat of entertaining so many visitors at one time as well as Chicago did. There was absolutely nothing left undone in providing for our comfort and entertainment, and I can truly say that Chicago should be called the "convention city of the world" for good reasons and reasons that will certainly bring the visitors more than once, and those are: Hospitality, housing, transportation, and entertainment; they are all perfect in your city. Being born and reared in the south, I am like most southerners—I feel that I know what real hospitality is, and I must say that Chicago certainly has it and showers it upon its visitors 100 per cent. I felt like thousands of others while there, that we were still south of the Mason-Dixon line, the hospitality was so genuine. MILTON E. FERRELL.

LIQUOR ADS.

Odebolt, Ia., Oct. 10.—I have just completed reading a statement to the end that your paper has said "it will accept no liquor advertising after the 18th amendment has been repealed." Is that correct?

If so I congratulate you and hope for your advanced success in your business. I know personally what this business has done to and for a man. I cannot let pass the opportunity to extend my praise for your advanced stand.

PERMIT FOR REMOVAL ISSUED.

Chicago, Oct. 11.—[Friend of the People.]—There is a tree in front of my home which is dangerous to leave standing. Will I need a permit from the city to have it cut down and to whom must I apply? E. Y.

Inspection shows this to be a live 36 inch willow tree, the roots of which have broken up the sidewalk and are also causing sewer trouble. A permit was issued for the removal of the tree, which the owner desires to replace with an elm.

MORTGAGE HOLDER.

Chicago, Oct. 12.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—What steps can be taken regarding a second mortgage I have on some property in this city? The first mortgage is held by a building and loan company in which they keep the interest paid, but they are one year and a half behind in my interest. What can I do regarding the matter? L. M.

In general the only way for a second mortgage holder to make his claim good by foreclosure is by taking up the first mortgage. If a debtor has sufficient assets or income you might collect by suit on the notes. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

A STRAIN ON THE FAMILY TIE—

ATTORNEYS CALL MILK LICENSE IN CHICAGO ILLEGAL

Independents Fight Code Before Wallace Aids.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Marked by attacks of lawyers on the legality of a government body hearing evidence on violations of regulations it had promulgated, and the evident intent of the government to proceed with plans for boosting milk prices in Chicago, the federal farm adjustment administration's first hearing on violations of an AAA code was in session here today without having established a solution to Chicago's troublesome milk situation.

The testimony and arguments will be reviewed by Secretary Wallace.

Attorneys for three independent Chicago dairies, who have been cited to show cause why their licenses to sell milk should not be revoked by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, challenged the government's position constantly throughout the hearing. They sought to have the hearing, which virtually is a civil court trial minus a judge and court rules, removed to Chicago, where violations are said to have been committed.

Gather Samples of Milk.

They challenged the evidence of violations submitted by government agents hired to gather up samples of milk sold at less than the 10 cents a quart price fixed by the secretary Aug. 1. And they further charged that the Chicago milk license was unconstitutional on the grounds that it had been promulgated "not for the benefit of farmers but in the interest of profiteering dairies in Chicago."

Attorneys for the AAA entered a plea that "it is imperative that this hearing proceed. We should go ahead and have these violations of the milk agreement stopped by the government." Answering pleas of the defendant dairies that the hearing be moved to Chicago, Attorney Yost of the department of justice declared:

"They do not come here with clean hands. They have been violating the license from the time the agreement was started. While others have been living up to the agreement and trying to support the secretary of agriculture in his program of helping the farmer these dairies have been undermining this program of helping the farmer by their cut rate practices."

Calls Agreement a Forgery.

Leo D. Schein, attorney for the Lake View Dairy company, charged that the signature of a Mr. Brown reproduced on the original agreement was not that of any officer of the Lake View company, and that it was a "forgery." Whoever purported to sign the agreement for his firm has never been an employé of the company, Schein said.

The attack on the constitutionality of a government license "which deprived a firm of rights, liberties, and properties without a court trial" was led by Joseph C. Kanak, attorney for the Joseph Wagner dairy of Cicero. His contention was supported by arguments from Arthur R. Seelig, attorney for the Edgewater Dairy company.

R. C. Grundum, 6024 Nevarre street, Normal Park, Ill., described himself as investigator for the dairy administration and as the first witness called by the government told of purchasing milk from an Edgewater dairy store at 8 cents a quart when the license called for a retail price of 10 cents. He was obliged to wait a half hour while attorneys bickered over just what right he had to testify, how he would testify, and how he could prove his testimony. He later testified having purchased Edgewater dairy milk at thirty-five other depots on Oct. 11 and 14 at the cut rate price.

Represented Mayor Kelly.

At the same time William A. Hamilton of Chicago, who said he represented Mayor Kelly, called upon Mrs. C. C. Rumsey, chairman of the NRA consumers 'advisory board and Dr. Fred C. Howe, consumers' counsel for the AAA, with a demand that new increases in retail milk prices in Chicago be halted at once.

D. N. Geyer, manager of the Pure Milk association, bargaining agency for 18,000 dairy farmers and one of the sponsors of the price boosting amendment recently approved by Secretary Wallace, declared that in a previous hearing it has been "conclusively proved" that the price increase proposed from 10 to 11 cents a quart was justified by the farm adjustment act. He said it was expected that the price boost soon would be put into effect by the AAA in the near future regardless of plans to hold a public hearing in Chicago.

None of the three dairies who face loss of their license and fines of $1,000 per day for selling milk without such license made any effort to deny that they had sold milk at less than the price fixed by the government.

ALDERMEN OPEN FIGHT TO PREVENT FURTHER MILK PRICE INCREASES

Protection is to be afforded to milk consumers of Chicago against an attempt of the "milk trust" to gain the support of the federal government in boosting retail prices, possibly to 15 cents a quart instead of the present 10 cent price, it was announced yesterday by Ald. David L. Sutton [8th], chairman of the city council subcommittee investigating milk prices here.

Ald. Sutton returned yesterday with four other aldermen from Washington where arrangements were made with George N. Peek, federal farm administrator, to hold public hearings on the milk situation in Chicago in the early future. He declared that milk dealers in Chicago are part of a "national milk monopoly" taking too large a share of the consumer's milk dollar, and that these dealers "may find it advantageous to work with this subcommittee for lower prices."

The Sutton committee said it has just obtained some startling figures on the wide spread between what farmers get and what consumers pay for milk, and that it would "continue to fight for lower prices in the interests of consumers and farmers." The subcommittee answered charges made by D. N. Geyer, manager of the Pure Milk association, Saturday that the council subcommittee had accomplished little in two years of investigations by stating that much of the credit for bringing retail prices from 14 cents to 9 cents a quart in Chicago belonged to the subcommittee.

BYRD IMPROVED; MAY BE ABLE TO SAIL WITH SHIP

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—The condition of Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd was "much improved" this afternoon after a sore throat last night prevented him from attending exercises in honor of his second Antarctic expedition. Dr. Guy Shirley, physician with the exposition, diagnosed the ailment as an acute attack of laryngitis and general pharyngitis.

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone company was investigating the cutting of a wire leading to Admiral Byrd's hotel room, which interrupted his eight minute talk over a radio network after he had spoken only two minutes. The hookup had been arranged when it was found he could not leave his room.

Meanwhile the Jacob Ruppert, flagship of the Byrd expedition, was loaded with 4,000 tons of coal and brought around to the Norfolk naval base to take on three airplanes. According to Dr. Shirley, Admiral Byrd will sail aboard the Ruppert if the largest of the three planes is loaded here, otherwise he will fly south to the Panama canal and join the boat there.

COLONEL DELAYS SULLIVAN, IND., CURFEW AN HOUR

Sullivan, Ind., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—As a reward for good behavior for several days, Col. Albert Whitcomb, in command of the National Guard in Sullivan county, announced today that places of business may stay open an hour longer at night, until 10 o'clock. Consequently streets will not be cleared until 11 p. m.

Quiet in the mining districts continued, with both union and nonunion shafts open again. Union workers had walked out when the troops arrived to keep order, but returned to work when their action brought no result.

Col. Whitcomb had been enforcing a 9 o'clock curfew since the National Guard arrived last week.

Wagner's Board Will Meet at Once.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—In response to a telegram from Senatorf Robert F. Wagner, chairman of the national labor board, Abner E. Larned, chairman of the Detroit NRA compliance board, Wm. S. Knudsen, executive vice president of General Motors, and Alvan McAuley, president National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, will go to Washington. They will meet with the labor board on Wednesday to discuss mediation of the tool and die makers strike here.

Plans to intensify their picketing during the coming week and thus bring "mass pressure" on the labor board have been laid. Matthew Smith, president of the Mechanics Educational Society, the strikers' organization, set next Monday noon for all in such jobs to walk out and register as strikers.

"If they do not come out by then things will be made mighty uncomfortable for them," he said. "This strike canot be won at the hearing in Washington unless the strikers here stand firm."

600 Ford Men Return.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—About 600 workers returned to the Ford Motor company assembling plant today at Chester, near here. They passed about 1500 fellow workers still on strike. Those who returned have formed an organization known as the "Loyal Ford Employés' association."

The strikers want minimum pay of $25 a week.

Ends Weirton Strife.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—(AP)—An immediate end to the Weirton, W. Va., steel strike was won today by the national labor board with an agreement by which the National Steel corporation bound itself to abide by a board supervised election of worker representatives in December.

At the end of a half day session at which Ernest T. Weir, chairman of National Steel and its subsidiary, Weirton Steel corporation, first served notice that he would not submit to arbitration, Senator Wagner, the board chairman, announced a settlement which labor leaders said meant a second break in the steel industry's steadfast opposition to recognizing unions.

A signed pact bound the thousands of strikers at Weirton and other plants of the company to return to their work immediately, and their employer to take them back without discrimination. Further, it provided that the national labor board prescribe procedure for an election of worker representatives to be held under its supervision the second week in December; the company to deal with whomever is elected, even if union officials.

"Captive" Mines Still Closed.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Coal mines owned by steel companies—"captive" mines—remained closed today, although some of the 55,000 strikers in bituminous fields returned to work in response to Gov. Pinchot's plea.

Negotiations will be resumed soon by Philip Murray, international vice president of United Mine Workers, and Thomas Moses, president of the H. C. Frick Coke company, representing "captive" mines.

Textile Strike Ending Balked.

Pawtucket, R. I., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Early settlement of the strike in the textile mills was prevented by the action today of the United Textile union leaders in calling off a vote on acceptance of a settlement. It was predicted that a joint strike committee would be formed by the United Textile union and National Textile workers, so-called radical organization. The latter group demands a 30 hour week in all of the 97 plants involved.

Strike at Rayon Mills.

Paterson, N. J., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—The textile workers' strike resulted in the picketing of 11 silk and rayon mills in this district today. About 2,000 workers are affected. They are ready to let the Wagner board intervene.

REV. H. L. BOWMAN ACCEPTS CALL TO CHICAGO CHURCH

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The Rev. Dr. Harold Leonard Bowman, for the past 13 years pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Portland, Ore., has accepted a call to be pastor of the First Presbyterian church, 6300 Kimbark avenue. This was announced last night by Attorney Francis I. Clark, vice moderator of the session of the Chicago church.

In announcing his acceptance of the Chicago call Dr. Bowman said his resignation from the Portland church would take effect Nov. 20, and that he would take up his new pastorate early in December. Dr. Bowman's new pastorate is regarded as one of the most influential churches of the Presbyterian communion. It celebrated its 100th anniversary last June and is the oldest Protestant church in Chicago.

Native of Nebraska.

The Rev. Dr. Bowman is 44 years old and a native of Nebraska. He was educated at Coe college, Cedar Rapids, Ia., and at the McCormick Theological seminary, now the Presbyterian seminary. Following his graduation from McCormick, he became instructor of English at the American university, Bierut, Syria.

After two years in the near east he became assistant pastor of the Second Presbyterian church of Chicago. In 1917, Dr. Bowman became pastor of the Woodlawn church where he remained three years until his call to Portland.

Succeeds Dr. Boddy.

As pastor of the Woodlawn church, Dr. Bowman was the predecessor of the Rev. Dr. William M. Boddy whom he now succeeds as pastor of the First church. During Dr. Boddy's pastorate, the congregations of the Woodlawn church and the First Presbyterian church, which was then located at 41st street and Grand boulevard, voted to consolidate and be known as the First church. A new Gothic edifice costing $500,000 was erected as a result of the merger on the site of the Woodlawn church.

Dr. Boddy resigned from the pulpit of First church last spring to become the pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church, Minneapolis.

Dr. Sullivan said Dr. McGrath was considered one of the leading surgeons in the country. He was author of many papers on surgical practice and research, and one of the organizers of the Catholic Hospital association.

THOS. F. O'BYRNE, CITY INSPECTOR, KILLED IN CRASH

Thomas F. O'Byrne, 70 years old, 2300 Sheffield avenue, an inspector in the city building department for the last 25 years, was fatally injured yesterday in an automobile collision at Catalpa and Western avenues. The automobile in which O'Byrne was riding collided with a truck driven by Joseph Young, 2434 South 57th avenue, Cicero.

The deaths of O'Byrne and two others brought to 823 the Cook county motor toll for 1933. The other victims:

Anthony Moncelli, 11 years old, 1353 Sedgwick street. Fatally injured when he was run down by a motor truck which sped away after the accident. The youngster was playing in Division street at Chatham court when the truck, east bound, hit him. Witnesses said the driver made no effort to slow down. Anthony died shortly afterward in Henrotin hospital.

James N. Mangalaris, 35 years old, 19 East Marquette road. Died yesterday in German Deaconess hospital of injuries suffered Sunday when his automobile collided with another at Princeton avenue and 45th street.

Miss Regina Ludwig, 55 years old, 1836 South Sawyer avenue, suffered fractures of both legs last night when she was struck by an automobile at Morgan and Randolph streets in an unusual accident. The car, driven by Edwin C. Boutella, 926 Galt avenue, had collided with her automobile a few moments before. Miss Ludwig alighted from her automobile to inspect the damage. Boutella reversed his car, then started forward, hitting her.

Bronchial Troubles Need Creomulsion

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing element which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, and attacks the seat of the trouble.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Your own druggist is authorized to refund your money on the spot if your cough or cold is not relieved by Creomulsion.

IDEAL FIGURE IS GOAL OF MODERN GIRL —SAYS DOCTOR

New Reducing Method Explained by Dr. Frank S. Orland Over Radio Station KYW

"The modern girl loathes fat, but often takes the wrong road to lose it," said Dr. Frank S. Orland in his talk over KYW recently. "Many of them try dangerous drugs (which should only be taken under the direction of a competent physician). Others try the exhausting method of violent diets and exercises which seldom give permanent results, but may lead to permanent injuries.

"Now Science," says Dr. Orland, "has come forward with a new discovery, Vannay, which contain no laxatives, no dangerous drugs. In fact, the Vannay method of weight control is so pleasant and certain that it has already been adopted by many thousands of women. Vannay, a convenient sugar-coated tablet, is a safe, natural regulator of the digestive ferments (Lipases) which control the production of fat in all human bodies."

"You don't have to starve yourself or go through painful exercises. You simply take the tablets each day and continue to eat three meals. The fat disappears at just the places where you want to lose it."

It is possible now for the modern woman to set her weight at the ideal figure and easily reach it. This remarkable product is for sale at all Liggett Drug Stores. Come into our store today and learn about Vannay. Ask for the booklet, "How to Reduce with Absolute Safety." Avoid fattening foods.

EPILOGUE, as presented in communication on letterhead bearing "Room 511 Trinity building, 111 Broadway, New York, Telephone Rector 1013," in neat red lettering:

"This paper was formerly Mr. Samuel Insull's private stationery for use in his New York office. After his fall from grace it was divided up among some of his employés and this sheet, for your archives, was purloined from a house in Winnetka where the small children use it for scribbling and the mother for market lists. "Is this all one baby, please?"

AS an example of understatement we offer the list of names of foreign delegates attending the American Library association at the Stevens and its attendant note, prepared by the association press bureau for the benefit of newspaper reporters. The note points out that names starred with an asterisk indicate that the persons thus designated have "a fair command of English." Two names thus starred are Mr. Arundell Smith, secretary of the British museum in London, and Mr. John D. Cowley, librarian of the Lancashire county library, both of whom are among the great scholars of the world.

THE Gossip Shop, Helen Hayes, while rehearsing for the title rôle in "Mary Queen of Scots," has to wear shoes with raised soles and is finding rehearsals more a matter of handling her feet than her lines. Mary probably was the tallest queen in history, if we know our queens—and Miss Hayes hardly is regal in stature. . . . We learn about her rehearsal trouble from Alfred MacArthur, her brother-in-law, returned from a trip to New York. . . . Confirmation that Vladimir Horowitz is to marry Wanda Toscanini—and soon—came to a Chicagoan the other day by cable from Paris from Horowitz himself. . . . Leonard Liebling, the new commentator on New York Philharmonic broadcasts, calls Richard Strauss the "big bad wolf of modern composers." . . . And did you know there was a new Walt Disney picture called "The Pied Piper of Hamlin"? A fashionable Chicagoan back from a European summer murmured the other day: "It was so nice to stop with Lord So-and-So this year without paying for one's bed and board." Which leaves one in doubt as to whether the answer is the improved condition of His Nibbs' finances or a new conception of his guest's social standing. . . .

GEORGE W. DULANY, back from Washington after some six weeks of strenuous work preparing the retail lumber code, was being questioned about the various industries seeking codes. It was all pretty serious business, it seems, with such powerful industries as steel and textile, lumber and coal listed, but there did seem to be a ray of humor in the fact that among the industries desiring codification were, believe it or not, the dress suit renting industry, the horsehair dressing industry, and the academic costume industry (caps and gowns).

Chapmans' pretty daughters, will be gaining experience in walking with poise and rhythm at the two fashion showings that the St. Luke's hospital woman's board is sponsoring at 2:30 o'clock and at 7:30 o'clock Thursday in the grand ballroom of the Stevens hotel. That experience she will be able to put to good use when she precedes her sister down the aisle in the Fourth Presbyterian church on Oct. 28, which is the day that Miss Virginia Chapman will become the bride of J. Brooks Fenno Jr. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Mary Breckinridge, Head of Nursing Service, to Visit City

BY JUDITH CASS.

THAT vivid person, Mrs. Mary Breckinridge, whose charm and magnetism make every one who meets her or hears her talk full of enthusiasm for her Frontier Nursing Service, is coming to Chicago next Sunday to give a public lecture in Lake Forest on Monday. Mrs. Breckinridge has talked in Chicago several times to invited audiences, but this is the first time she has appeared publicly.

She would be the first to correct our calling it "her" Frontier Nursing Service, for she would insist that she alone isn't responsible for the splendid work it is doing for Kentucky mountaineer mothers and babies, but every one who has worked with the service or knows anything about it would insist that "her" is right, for she started it and has been the inspiration of all who have worked with her ever since, especially during the last two years when she has carried on in spite of a broken back sustained when she was thrown by a horse when riding over the district.

Mrs. Edward Arpee told us yesterday that she had just heard that Mrs. Breckinridge covered the 800 square mile district on horseback not long ago, the first time she has done it since her accident. Eight days in the saddle, less than two years after suffering a broken back, seems to us to be a remarkable achievement, doesn't it? but it is only in line with the other wonderful things Mrs. Breckinridge does constantly.

Mrs. Arpee Former Courier of Service.

Mrs. Arpee, you will remember as Katherine Trowbridge, went to Kentucky to be a courier in the service a year or so ago, and her tales of riding over the mountains with the nurse-midwives on their errands of mercy are thrilling and touching, too. She is chairman of the committee in charge of the lecture Mrs. Breckinridge will give on Monday. The lecture, which is under the auspicies of the Lake Forest League of Women Voters and the Lake Forest Y. W. C. A., will be at 3:30 o'clock in the Ferry Hall chapel. Following the talk, which is entitled "One Step Ahead," tea will be served in the lounge.

Mrs. Arpee's mother, Mrs. Cornelius M. Trowbridge, will be Mrs. Breckinridge's hostess in Lake Forest Monday night, and Mrs. Donald R. McLennan, whose daughter, Margaret, now is doing courier work with the service, will entertain at luncheon before the lecture for Mrs. Breckinridge. Serving with Mrs. Arpee on the committee in charge of the talk are Mrs. Frank Hixon, Mrs. M. Scott Bromwell and Mrs. William McPheeters. Tickets may be obtained from the committee members or from the Y. W. C. A.

Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, chairman of the Chicago committee of the Frontier Nursing Service, will be back from a trip to Atlantic City and New York on Thursday of this week. The Chicago committee is meeting with Mrs. Breckinridge, who will be at the Drake hotel while she is in Chicago, Wednesday afternoon of next week at 3 o'clock at the Woman's Athletic club.

Miss Mary Chase to Give 2 Lectures.

Mrs. Arpee also is interested in two lectures that will be given this week in Lake Forest at the residence of Mrs. Louis E. Laflin by Miss Mary Ellen Chase, professor of English language and literature at Smith college.

Miss Chase will discuss "The Modern Reader and His Literary Standards" this morning, and on Thursday morning she will develop her theme further with a lecture on "The More Intelligent Reading of Fiction."

Assisting Mrs. Laflin as hostess this morning will be a group of Lake Forest Smith alumnæ who are interested in having their neighbors and friends hear Miss Chase. Among them will be Mrs. Arpee, Mrs. George W. Blossom, Mrs. Frank E. Harkness, Mrs. David W. Buchanan, and Miss Ellen Holt.

Gives Tea Today for Mme. Taschereau.

At 5 o'clock this afternoon Mrs. Robert R. McCormick is entertaining at tea at her house at 1519 Aster street for Mme. Taschereau, the daughter-in-law of the prime minister of Quebec. While visiting the Fair Mme. Taschereau is the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Mellen C. Martin in Winnetka.

Mrs. Benjamin C. Allen, who has spent the last few months abroad, returned yesterday to her home on

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

If the professional stage cannot give Chicago an adequate supply of plays, the amateurs and semi-pros of the town will arise to do their civic duty. At any rate, this seems to be the slogan of the Playwrights Theater, a new "group" which has colonized the attractive Punch and Judy playhouse on Van Buren street and which made its bow last night with Alice Gerstenberg's dramatization of Lewis Carroll's "Alice" fantasies.

This play, an excellent arrangement of the "Wonderland" and "Through the Looking Glass" material, has a history. It was produced in the Playhouse of this city in the winter of 1915 with a professional cast, and had a New York engagement that spring. The company included a number of players who are easily remembered. Vivian Tobin, sister of Genevieve, was the Alice; Mary Servoss was the White Queen; Donald Gallaher, who became a star in boy's rôles, was the White Rabbit; Geoffrey Stein was the Mad Hatter and the March Hare, and France Bendtsen, who became a fair Shakespearean actor, was the Five of Spades. Since that time the text has been widely used in the little theaters of the country.

This revival is in a satisfactory vein of semi-professional execution. It may be compared favorably with the early ventures of the Provincetown Players, who will be remembered in American stage history because they formed the germ of the Theater Guild. Tony Gillman, a winsome child actress, carried the rôle of Alice with surprising assurance for her age, which is a mere 10. The costuming and scene designs represent good experimental work by the technicians who are affiliated with the "group." The musical accompaniment is Eric DeLamarter's score for the original production.

After two weeks of "Alice in Wonderland" the Playwrights Theater promises an intimate revue called "Headlines" and a dramatic production to be selected from the following works: "The Bride the Sun Shines On," "Cradle Song," "Desire Under the Elms," "The Marquise," and "Easy Virtue." The former is scheduled to open Oct. 30; the latter Nov. 20.

The Chicago company of "Sailor, Beware," a current hit in New York, will begin an engagement at the Selwyn theater on Nov. 9. The cast, not yet completely organized, will contain Eric Dressler and Marjorie Peterson in the leading rôles.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

A modern rendition of an ancient line of the Psalms reading, "I will lift up mine eyes to the books from whence cometh my help," might interpret the spirit in which the members of the American Library association, which began its fifty-fifth annual conference at the Stevens hotel yesterday, look upon the problems of the world within which their lives move and that bewildering, challenging world outside their windows and book rows.

There is a correlation here. It is safe to say that the economic changes and clashes which are rocking the world today come from ideas that have been entombed in books on dusty shelves for generations. One sunny day, when the cocoon stage is passed and a mysterious unity of the public mind is reached, the butterfly emerges, or the four horsemen. Plato, Christ, and at last Lincoln.

The librarians take this thesis and test it out in a variety of ways—that ideas rule the world always. All the slow, painful progress of the race is written down, in statistics, perhaps, or in the flashes of intuitive genius. The individual must bring his questing here, whether it be the search for new ways of adjustment, an ark in the flood, a chart amid perilous seas.

The librarians find themselves facing cuts in funds for books and salaries, makeshift economies at countless points, increased demands from the public and a general bewilderment. They know they are facing a change, but they do not know what the direction will be, according to President Harry Miller Lydenberg of the New York public library, who delivered an address o "Unanswered Questions" at a general session last night.

"Mass production," he said, "has swept into the world of books. The output of typewriter, machine compositor, high speed presses has increased prodigiously; the reading public is larger, though perhaps not proportionately increased; the space for shelving and the capacity for digesting and absorbing this Gargantuan mass lag far behind. The same specialization that besets us in our industrial or professional life demands observance in the book life. Are the economic world and book world alike condemned to this welter of uncertainty until they develop and apply proper controls?

"And now when the camera, the offset process, the rubber blanket, the film slide, the phonograph record—to say nothing about radio broadcasting, television, sound pictures—are so emphatically at our elbow, what can we as librarians do but ask earnestly where we may find the man with vision extensive enough to picture exactly whither we go and what we are to encounter?"

"An era is past," he said, "and we are entering on a new world. The capitalistic rule is over, and a new economy is to control us. The values of the past are discounted, and new judgments are to be entered.

"There has been no essential change. Paper values have shifted but no real value has been affected in the long run. Human nature is today what it has always been; this valley is marked by steeper and longer descents than those we have plotted in previous expeditions, but it is man's universal experience that no matter how sharp the decline, how dark and discouraging the valley road, a new prospect invites him once he reaches the summit of those hills in front.

"A change certainly has come; a new vision has been seen. But interpret it and explain it as you will, never do you find a prophet who dreams of a world without books, without contact with those records of what has been said and done and thought in the past, those inspirations and stimulations for new visions in the future."

Here are a few observations by Josephine Adams Rathbone, vice director of the Pratt Institute School of Library Science, Brooklyn, N. Y., who conducted a study in reading in five branch libraries:

"The average reader is quite young, a majority being high school age; different nationalities read much the same type of book; foreigners are perhaps more serious readers than the American born; men are more serious readers than women; surprisingly few of the so-called 'educated classes' were represented. Waiters, printers, clerks far outclassed lawyers, doctors, teachers. Poetry, drama and fiction far exceed biography or sociology in circulation."

A library in New York or Chicago should have one and a half books for every resident, according to standards set by the council of the association. A minimum tax of one dollar per capita should be used to pay for them. Chicago now has 1,600,000 books in its public library, with 695,000 regular borrowers. Chicago has not bought any new books in two years.

Educational Value of Toys in Development of Child Is Explained

An exhibit of toys and a series of daily lectures on the educational value of toys was opened at Marshall Field & Co. yesterday in cooperation with the University of Chicago. Ethel Kawin, a research psychologist of the Illinois Institute for Juvenile Research, will speak daily.

"Play is an essential of childhood and toys are the tools of play," Miss Kawin said. "Toys are no longer regarded merely as things to amuse children. Modern education recognizes that play materials have specific functions in child development. Through play the child lays the foundation for the development of a wholesome personality and the ability to adjust satisfactorily to the world in which he lives."

THIRD AND LAST

By NORVAL RICHARDSON

SYNOPSIS.

Sheila, known as "Bun" O'Reilly, an American, makes a comfortable living abroad by helping fellow countrymen out of difficulties. Fred Crawford, who works on a Paris newspaper, is her friend and counselor. Bun is appealed to by James B. Finlay, an elderly, wealthy American, to help find his young wife, Helene. He wants no publicity. He had met Helene after the war in Bucharest. He had installed her family, the Bobianoffs, in a villa on the Riviera. Her brother, Ferenz, he had brought to America. No trace can be found of Helene and her parents since the last time she returned to visit them. Bun's suspicions are aroused by Finlay's niece, Mrs. Craymer, and her ominous appearing butler. She sympathizes with Finlay and accepts the job and 200,000 francs advance payment. A recent newspaper picture, showing Helene standing with a tall woman in a group at Biarritz, is the only clew Bun has to go on. That night Finlay is murdered. Bun's apartment is broken into by a masked man and woman, her maid, Liberte, bound, and the money Finlay had given her stolen. Bun meets Finlay's son, Robert. His unlikeness to his father and his desire for secrecy puzzles Bun. She feels under obligation to continue the search. She motors to Biarritz, where Robert Finlay arrives shortly after with a woman and registers at the hotel as Count Morales and wife. The photographer, who took the group picture, identifies the tall woman as the Countess de Vernadon.

INSTALLMENT XIV.

SUSPICIOUS INCIDENTS.

"I remember, now." The photographer took the print from Bun's hand and stared at it. "Yes—it was this group. I know now. The lady—the tall one—objected to my taking the photograph. I had done it before she knew it—as I had other groups along the beach. She was very angry. Nothing would do but that I should bring her the plate as soon as it was developed. I remember now all the details. That is why I have no copy in my collection."

Bun listened carefully. "But you must have made a print of it before you gave her the plate—unless"—she looked quickly at the photographer, whose face was now a study in embarrassed guilt—"she had the print made herself and sent it to the paper."

There was an exchange of glances between the hotel director and the photographer, and a slight nod from the former, which Bun did not miss.

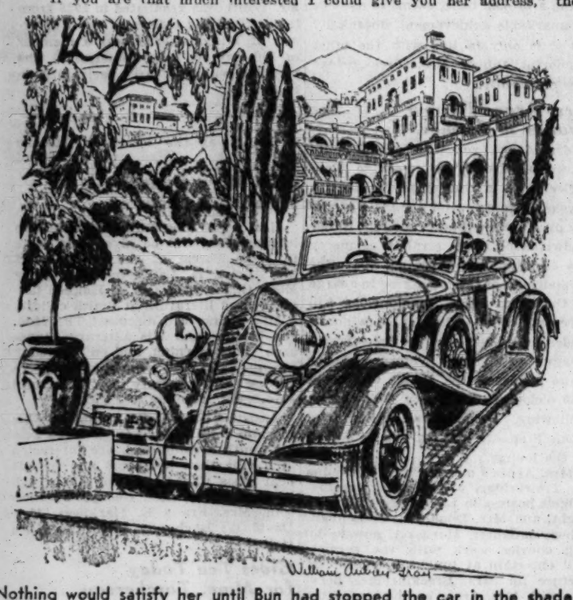
"Mademoiselle, I have a confession to make," the photographer said. "I did make a print before I took the plate to her. It was too good a picture to destroy. I felt sure it would be acceptable to the paper. What harm could there possibly be in publishing it? No one comes to Biarritz to hide."

"Of course not," Bun admitted with a smile. "On the contrary." Then, to the director: "I should so like to know if a Mrs. Finlay—Mrs. James B. Finlay—was registered here at the same time."

The director said it would only take a moment to find out. When he returned he was shaking his head. There had been no such name on their Easter list.

Bun sighed with disappointment. "I suppose it's entirely too late to find out now. Of course—if I had the Countess Vernadon's address—I might write and ask her——"

"If you are that much interested I could give you her address," the director replied. "I noticed the address given when I was looking at her name—it is a villa near Grasse. Of course, I do not know that she will be found there now. But surely mail sent there would reach her."



Nothing would satisfy her until Bun had stopped the car in the shade of an olive tree.

Grasse! Bun scribbled down the address with a thrill of excitement. It was at Grasse that Mr. Finlay had told her he had established his wife's family. She gathered up the photographs, dismissed the photographer, and crossed the hall to write out a telegram.

It was while sitting at a table and trying to find some amusing words to add to the otherwise literal message to Crawford that she saw a couple come into the hall and go up to the desk. At first her interest was casual. They were like a hundred other motorists, clad in dust coats, enveloping caps and scarves. The only detail that made them somewhat conspicuous was that both wore goggles, though still in the hotel.

While the man lingered a few minutes at the desk, apparently settling his bill, the woman went out of the hall to the front entrance. Watching her, the pen still held in her hand, Bun felt a flaming suspicion shoot through her. But what under the sun had made her think there was a resemblance in that woman to Mrs. Craymer? When the man had followed out to the entrance she could not resist the impulse to rise and watch them. As she reached the door she saw them get into the car, as she had seen the night before, and drive off.

"Were they the Morales?" she asked the director as he came back from bidding his guests good-by.

Bun finished her telegram and decided it was wiser to send it from the main office of the town. Past experience had taught her that messages sent from hotels were rarely private matters after they had passed through several of the staff's hands.

Immediately after luncheon she and Liberté left—much to the director's disappointment. Bun purposely made inquiries about the road to Paris. She even turned her car in that direction when she left, and at Bayonne she made pretense of going still towards the north for several kilometers before turning into the road for Pau. The next day she reached Marseilles late in the evening. The following noon she was comfortably installed in a hotel overlooking the Croisette at Cannes.

So many possibilities had been stirred into life since she had left Paris that she found herself baffled by the maze of conjecture. The discovery at Biarritz that the Countess de Vernadon lived near Grasse and was the woman in the photograph with Finlay's young wife was the only fact which she would admit held water. Liberté blew upon the flame of suspicions constantly. She never ceased recounting her experience with the burglars and clung to the fact that Mrs. Craymer used the same scent as the woman who had accompanied the man.

"I know, mademoiselle," she reiterated at least every hour during the two days' journey, "that this will be the means of your finding that two hundred thousand francs. It is little things like this that bring fortune."

"They might bring fortune," Bun grumbled. "Restoring one is another matter. I've made up my mind that money is gone. I'm only now trying to work off my debt."

"If mademoiselle would only speak clearly. How can I help if I do not know what all this journey is about?"

Bun burst forth in a full description of the case. Liberté listened with ever bulging eyes. She could hardly wait for Bun to finish, and in the end, when the story had reached its climax, nothing would satisfy her until Bun had stopped the car in the shade of an olive tree that overhung a cliff looking down on the incredibly blue Mediterranean, and let her explain the whole matter. It was as clear as the sunlight on those red rocks. Mrs. Craymer was the son's mistress. And were they both not to profit by the old man's death? And the young wife—was that not simple to understand, too? They had got rid of her first. Killed her with her parents. In that way the inheritance would come to the son without any division. He had made all these arrangements with his mistress. She carried out this part of the contract while he was still in America. This would relieve him of all suspicions. Then, when his father came over to search for his wife, he had been killed. Another one out of the way! But who had helped her? Why—the butler with the scarred face. Any one would know that at once. He was her—what would you call it?—homme des affaires criminelles. When the son was advised that his father was out of the way he came at once. In fact, he was already on the way before the murder was a fait accompli. And she, mademoiselle, was only a decoy—some one whom they might throw suspicion upon if this became necessary. But one thing had been too much for them. It was that which was going to lead to their downfall. They could not stand seeing her left in possession of two hundred thousand francs. They must get that—and they had. And now—they were following mademoiselle. They would probably be in the same hotel in Cannes. She would see. They would probably have a room with a door connecting with hers. She must be on her guard every minute. Liberté herself was not going to close her eyes. If she slept at all, it would be when the sun was shining—and when every door was locked and chairs placed before them. You could not trust these hotel directors. They were all paid to aid criminals. Take that one in Biarritz. Had he not told everything he knew about mademoiselle's searching for the photograph? Had he not given her an address that would be no address at all? Had he not told that Count Morales—who was no Count Morales at all—what she had been doing?

Admiral Byrd's Diet of Flakes Doesn't Appeal

BY MARY MEADE.

Well! What little things one does learn by reading the papers! And the latest reason most of us are not accompanying Admiral Byrd on his Polar expedition is that his diet looks just a little bit too flat and flaky. We read that his vegetables this time are going along in the form of "flakes" which have been treated to a process eliminating the water but retaining the chemical composition. He's trundling off with him 490 pounds of carrot flakes, 762 pounds of soup [not soap] flakes, and 510 pounds of spinach flakes.

All of which at least got us off to a good start—which is half the battle. But to switch from things flat to things round and plump, there are a number of new notions about apples that I'm itching to pass on to other food mix-upers.

It must be the eternal Eve in all of us that keeps us pursuing new ways and means of applefying our menus, but since 'tis so, as a starter, we'll offer—

2 tablespoons sugar.
2 tablespoons melted butter.
¼ teaspoon salt.
1 egg, well beaten
2 teaspoons baking powder.
2 cooking apples.
Cinnamon.

Roll the crackers into crumbs and add the sugar, butter and salt, working them together thoroughly. Add the milk, egg and finally stir in the baking powder. Turn into greased muffin pans, filling them only ⅔ full. Now lay two or three slices of apple on top of each muffin and sprinkle with cinnamon. Bake in a hot oven [425 degrees F.] 20 to 25 minutes. This makes a dozen small apple muffins.

Or have you tried glorifying the apple flavor with bright Merry Christmas cranberries? One way is in—

CRANBERRY APPLE PIE.

You may use a regular short pie crust, fitting it neatly over the pan, or saltless white crackers, crumbled fine and mixed with melted butter and a dash of sugar, then patted into the pan to form a crust, which makes a hurry-up variation.

Cook all together until the fruit is tender. Cool and then pour the mixture into the lined pan. Bake in a hot oven [550 degrees F.] for about 14 minutes.

Packaged gingersnaps [or ones you have made and the family hasn't yet found] plus peanut butter [believe it or not] make a spongolious stuffing for baked apples. Do it this way:

PEANUT BUTTER STUFFED APPLES.

1 dozen gingersnaps, crumbled.
¾ cup peanut butter.

Wash the apples, core them and arrange in a baking pan. Blend the gingersnap crumbs with the peanut butter and stuff into the centers of the apples. Simmer the sugar and water together for 5 minutes and pour over the apples. Bake covered until tender in a moderate oven [350 degrees F.]. Uncover to brown. Serves 6.

MINUTE MYSTERY

By H. A. RIPLEY

[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

A CHANCE MEETING.

Prof. Fordney, from his sidewalk table at a smart café on the Riviera, observed a man and a beautiful girl step out of a roadster. The man carried a brief case. He knew them both.

After they were seated at a corner table inside the café where no view of their car would be possible, Fordney sauntered over to it, closely but quickly examined the empty luggage rack, swiftly lifted the cushions and frowned. Not a parcel of any kind did he find.

He entered the café just as the couple were joined by wealthy, young Lord Millington and secured a table next to them.

"How awfully nice to meet you again," he heard the young woman say with a provocative glance. "My stepfather and I have been on a motoring tour for several days and we just stopped here for refreshments. We're winding up our trip in Venice next Wednesday; we'll be there for some time. It would be delightful to see you there."

"She was a beautiful creature," mused the professor.

Millington said something Fordney didn't catch and then he heard the older man reply. "Why, yes . . . we'd be charmed to see you in Venice. We'll be stopping at the Hotel Palazzo. And now we must continue on our way."

Another inviting glance from the girl and the couple departed. Millington sat down, seemingly in sort of a daze.

"He'll be putty in her hands," Fordney said to himself. "They're lying to him and I know it . . . and he's probably in for blackmailing. Well, I guess it's Venice for me. I'll get them this time!"

WHY DID FORDNEY KNOW THE COUPLE'S STORY WAS AN INVENTION?

'Problem Child' a Phrase Too Loosely Used

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

It is just about time that some one make a very necessary definition—or distinction, if you prefer to call it so.

People are always speaking of "the problem child." It has gotten to be a form of patter. "I have a problem child," writes a mother. "This is a problem child," says the case record. "What shall we do about this problem child," says the teacher. "That woman has a problem child," says the neighbor.

Immediately we get a picture. We take the child out of his natural setting. He seems different—and difficult. We set him apart. He is not "like other children." And our attitude changes and our mien becomes solemn and worried. He is "a problem child."

Some one has recently said that instead of that time worn phrase "the problem child" we should use some different terminology. In most of these cases a more correct word would be "the child with a problem."

Immediately with this more accurate phrase the child becomes to us what he really is—merely a normal child with a personality or behavior problem to be solved. He is no longer "different" or set apart. He is not something to be put under a microscope, an unusual specimen.

A mother who has little contact with children other than her own will be concerned over behavior that to a more experienced mother or teacher will seem, let us say, usual. Tantrums, shyness, hitting, biting, scratching—all are usual phases that many children go through. Even more serious behavior does not warrant the "problem" adjective that so many people are quick to use.

Appliqued Roses.

BY NANCY CABOT.

A simple little design, "Appliqued Roses," makes up most attractively in its combination of prints and plain colors. The flowers can be in any color harmonious with the scheme of the room in which it is to be used.

For a quilt pattern in this design send five cents in coin or stamps to Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, printing your name and address clearly. Or call at the Tribune Public Service Office, One South Dearborn.

Life in a City Very Tiresome to Will James

BY ROSALIND SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Will James, the cowboy author, who came here from his 20,000 acre Montana ranch to play in the picturization of his best seller, "Smoky," is one film newcomer who can't wait until he gets the signal to leave Hollywood. City life, or what passes for it here, makes James so jittery that he spent his first three days here without leaving his hotel room.

He wants to get back where he can breathe air, not perfume, he says; and he wouldn't have come this time if it hadn't been the one book of all he has turned out—"Smoky"—which was the screen vehicle. He alludes to "Smoky" as "the classic." The rest of his books are just so many books to him.

For months Joan Crawford has always carried a gardenia. Called it her "good luck" flower. Now she's got Franchot Tone, the boy friend, wearing a gardenia everywhere, too. He wants to share in the good luck symbolism.

Sponsor Talk by Mrs. Mary Breckinridge

Nursing Service Founder Will Visit City.

Dearborn parkway. She divided her time in Europe between her daughters, Mrs. Oliver C. Bryson, in England, and Mrs. Allen Wilson, Maj. and Mrs. Bryson are not coming over to the United States this winter, but Mrs. Wilson and her little boy will be here in December to spend the Christmas holidays.

Miss Catharine Noyes, the M. Paul Noyes' pretty and popular daughter, has had an equally attractive visitor over the week-end in the person of Miss Grace Roosevelt, Col. and Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt's daughter. Miss Roosevelt is here essentially to see the Fair, and she is making a very thorough job of it, for although she is leaving today or tomorrow, she will be able to describe most of it to her distinguished father, son of the late President Theodore Roosevelt.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark J. Lawrence are dispatching little notes to their many friends telling them of the arrival of a six pound daughter last Saturday at the Chicago Lying-In hospital. The baby is the third child in the Lawrence family, since Mrs. Lawrence has a daughter, Nancy Blaine, by her former marriage to the junior Emmons Blaine, and Mr. Lawrence a son, John, by a former marriage.

Stewart Shermans Have Daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Sherman are being congratulated on the birth of a daughter recently at the Evanston hospital. The baby, whose maternal grandparents are the Charles S. Pearces and whose paternal grandparents are the Lucius B. Shermans, has been named Leslie Coates. Mr. and Mrs. Sherman are living at 209 Lake Shore drive.

Late visitors to the Fair who have come from Long Island to see the Exposition are Mrs. Devereaux Milburn and her daughters, Nancy and Kathryn, of Westbury, and Mrs. James G. Blaine of Manhasset. They are at the Blackstone hotel for several days.

The Count and Countess Beck-Freis of the Swedish degation in Washington are arriving today at the Drake hotel for a visit to the Fair.

Changes of address are prevalent among the fashionables. The Wesley M. Dixons have given up their Scott street apartment and have moved into the John C. Mechem house on Illinois road in Lake Forest. The Mechems are staying at the Deerpath inn for the winter. The Mechems' boys, John and Robert, are away at St. Paul's school, but their daughter, Barbara, is in Lake Forest with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Northam Whipple have taken William E. Casselberry's house in Lake Forest and will be at home in the Berry Patch for the next year.

"From Monday on—" Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Lamport have been saying to their many friends among the very newly marrieds and post-debutantes, "we will be in our own apartment, and you must come and see us!" Monday was yesterday, so the former Julia Kramer and her attractive husband should by now have all their furniture placed to its advantage in the new abode on Greenwood boulevard.

More Interesting Personal Items.

And still more personal addenda: The young Eugene Carys, who have been living in Lake Forest since their marriage in the early summer, moved into an apartment at 1400 Lake Shore drive the middle of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. George J. Jaeger are going to be at the Churchill hotel for the winter. They recently returned from their summer home at Wianno on Cape Cod.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Dallstream of Astor street have sailed for a trip to South America. They will be gone a month.

The Patrick A. Valentines, who have been spending the summer at Southampton, will be back in their apartment at 1500 Lake Shore drive on Saturday. They are making the trip home by way of White Sulphur Springs.

Mrs. Edward G. Pauling left Friday for Boston, where she will visit her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Elliott, for several weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Pauling's other daughter, Mrs. Pauling Donnelley, is planning to spend the winter in Boston and New York.

Contrary to her former plans, Mrs. James B. Waller will be spending the winter on this rather than the European side of the Atlantic. She will be home in Libertyville until after the Christmas holidays and then will go to Pinehurst to be with her mother, Mrs. John Given.

This morning Mr. and Mrs. Arthur William Lammers of Orrington avenue, Evanston, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Gertrude Risdon, to Samuel De Coster Atkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Samuel Atkins of Basking Ridge, N. J.

Junior Friends of Art Meet Today.

Gov. Frank H. Cooney of Montana will be the speaker at the opening meeting of the season of the Junior Friends of Art this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the ballroom of the Blackstone hotel. Fortune Gallo of the San Carlo Opera company will speak and a musical program will be given by Mme. Alma Peterson, Mme. Ina Bourskaya, Mme. Koyke, Arnoldo Lindi, Leon Rothier, and Dr. Glenn Dillard Gunn. John McMahill Jr. will give dramatic interpretations.

The women who are disposing of the tickets for this year's Town Hall lectures, from which the Vocational Society for Shut-Ins will receive a percentage, met yesterday for their regular Monday luncheon. Mrs. Dewes Burgweger, president, announced that the tenth Town Hall event will introduce to Chicago Nina Theilade, Max Reinhardt's leading dancer, which announcement was received with enthusiasm by some of the women who had seen this young Danish dancer in Reinhardt's production of "The Tales of Hoffman" in Berlin in 1931.

The first of the series will be a lecture by William Lyon Phelps Saturday morning at 11 o'clock in the Drake ballroom. His subject will be "Contemporary Books Worth Reading."

Among those who will be seated in boxes tonight at the Auditorium for the operatic debut of a young Joliet girl, Lucille Gowey, known on the stage as Lucia Diano, will be her father, Albert Gowey, Mrs. Frederick W. Woodruff, and State Senator and Mrs. Richard J. Barr, all of Joliet, and Mr. and Mrs. George Woodruff, Mrs. Grant Houston, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard M. Prince, Mr. and Mrs. William Corlett, Miss Florence E. Woodruff, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Tagney, Mrs. R. Townsend McKeever, and Mme. Vittorio Arimondo, with whom Miss Diano has studied.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—President and Mrs. Roosevelt had several guests at luncheon today. Among them was Miss Hilda Smith, a friend and fellow worker of Mrs. Roosevelt from New York.

Mrs. Harold L. Ickes of Chicago, wife of the secretary of the interior, who returned here last week to complete the details of settling in their Washington home, was the guest this afternoon of the Newspaper Women's Club of Washington in the women's section of the Men's Press club.

Miss Morini Scores Great Hit in 'Lucia'

"LUCIA DI LAMMERMOOR."

Lucia ..... Rosalinda Morini
Henry Ashton ..... Mario Valle
Edgar of Ravenswood ..... Sidney Rayner
Raymond ..... Leon Rothier
Norman ..... Faust Bozza
Alice ..... Viollette Allfree
Lord Arthur Bucklaw ..... Francesco Curci
Conductor, Carlo Peroni.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

This is a work that dates to the period when grand operas were really grand. It is nothing to deride even in these days, when there are different theories about the functions of music as accompaniments to dramatic situations, and when, incidentally, the gift of Donizettian melody has become a lost art among most of the composers.

It is a stellar opera for a coloratura who expires after a long scene of greatly brilliant and greatly difficult bravura song. One hears again the theory that there is no great dramatic validity to a pretty display of vocal fireworks as an expression of homicidal mania. But here again one prefers to stop in the past and accept the justly famous mad scene just as one has accepted the equally famous sextet of a few moments before as an effective and stirring piece of music.

When it is well done it almost never fails of its effect. And so Miss Morini, clad in a nightgown as ornamental and elaborate as the music itself, made the hit of her life last night. She was an extraordinary juggler with high and rapid notes, and the brilliancy of her juggling was only comparable with her dexterous ease during the performance. She was even better than she had been in an earlier rendition of "La Traviata."

Sh was in good company, too. Mr. Rayner, who has done much of his previous singing at the Opéra-Comique in Paris, is a distinguished artist, rating high among the good American singers of the present generation. He has voice, personality, poise, and manner, all in a high degree.

Add to these items the singing of Mr. Valle, in just about the best voice that he has displayed in Chicago; the dignified distinction of Mr. Rothier, and the spirited tempo of Mr. Peroni's direction, and one is able to see some of the reasons why the San Carlo company excels with the old works no less than with those of a more modern origin.

Mr. Rayner will sing again tonight in "Cavalleria Rusticana," to the Santuzza of Bianca Saroya and the Lola of a Chicago singer, May Barron. Following this will come the American operatic debut of Lucia Diano, who in Joliet answers to the name of Lucille Gowey. She will sing Nedda in "Pagliacci." She made her debut two years ago in Italy, thereby climaxing study which began in Chicago under Mme. Aurelia Arimondi.

Well, Menfolk, What's Verdict on Gal's Tricks?

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"You hear so much talk today about holding your man by beauty parlor tricks, dieting and clothes, I, a ten year married woman, would like to have your readers' opinion on this subject."

Come on now, readers, and let Mrs. X. in on your opinion. We'd like more than anything to hear the male viewpoint, because it is the one that matters most. Only don't go saccharine on us, gentlemen, and say your dear wife would be just as dear to you if she weighed 200 and never got a wave.

On the other hand, we know there are women who are nothing short of idiots in your opinion [and ours] the way they put everything in the manholding game into beauty parlor coffers and dress emporiums.

There is a happy medium somewhere along the line. What is it?

Or, are we wrong? Does it make a particle of difference to you whether your best girl dresses up and fixes up, or not? We recall a recent article, widely exploited, but by a woman, who maintained that in marriage women put far too much emphasis on this thing known as personal upkeep, and not enough on the power of love itself, that where love exists, a man loses sight of the personal appeal and thrives on the woman's good cheer.

It was argued that no amount of paint and powder, massage or reducing, would prevail against a cooling emotion, which is probably true. And yet, we have known instances where a rejuvenated wife has recovered her mate in time to get him away from the other woman. However, it may not have been the clothes, the new silhouette or the new complexion, but the conquering spirit that so often comes with the physical transformation.

Beauticians Say Many Women Neglect Skins

Advise Daily Lubrication with Face Cream.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

I was telling yesterday of an interesting convention I sat in on recently and of the few things I heard about the woman public as the hairdressing and cosmetologist trade see it.

We're pretty smug on our side of the fence; probably feel we are doing enough when we report once in two weeks or three to get a shampoo and wave. But we're not getting by the particular eye of the conscientious operator unless we raise the standard of our complexion and hair upkeep to prove a credit to the salon we patronize.

Well, these people do know their jobs. They know their cosmetics. And they know their hair and scalp ointments. They know if we would take a little more interest in what they are telling us, practice the tips they so willingly give us, we would show improvement in no time.

Now, as I said yesterday, one complaint made against the average beauty patron is her indifference to the condition of her hair and scalp.

But it was the charge against complexion care that intrigued me. This representative body from all parts of the country, and from all parts of the world, in fact, including Honolulu and Canada, was unanimous in the agreement that it is only a small percentage of our women who take the home care of their skins—care they could take with great benefit and comparatively little expense. I was surprised to hear from these people who are in a position to be informed on the matter that a number of women use no face cream at all, or buy a jar, use it a few times—maybe when they have a date ahead—anyway, do not rub into their faces daily some of this necessary lubricant.

Give an ear to Smart money

WHEN Smart Money steps up to the counter it talks with a Missouri accent. Give an ear! Learn from it the secret everyone wants to know—how to make your dollars do tricks others can't do. Watch Smart Money spot bogus "bargains" quicker than it nails counterfeit bills. It hobnobs only with genuine value, says "show me" to fast-talking salesmen, makes its own sane decisions.

Smart Money makes thrift a habit. It was first to perceive the amazing economy of General Electric's patented Monitor Top refrigerator. Looking over the field in the early days (before much was known about electric refrigerators) these Missouri-minded people reasoned this way: "The Monitor Top has no fans, no belts, no pulleys, no exposed moving parts — no place for dust or dirt to filter in and steal life from the machine. With such a safeguard against wear, the Monitor Top should run for years without need for attention or service. Besides, it's made by a company whose name is the greatest in electricity." Money-smart these people paid more for General Electric at the outset, saved the difference many times over in service economies, food savings and peace of mind.

Now these thrift-conscious people are making another significant decision. Their General Electrics have saved enough money to pay for themselves . . . and the savings keep on rolling up. Smart Money counsels that these savings be put to work electrifying the home still further . . . a General Electric Range which introduces new cleanliness, new convenience, still more economies; a General Electric Dishwasher Sink, Vacuum Cleaner or Home Laundry Equipment. Smart Money is farsighted. It knows that these marvelous conveniences produce their own economies, bring a new order of freedom to housewives. R. Cooper Jr., Inc. will gladly show you how.

Give an ear to Smart Money. You can't go wrong. Phone Franklin 5720 and an R. Cooper representative will tell you the remarkable story of General Electric Refrigerator's service-history, will show you how electricity can be used to bring a new joy of living to you, produce the money to pay for it out of its own savings.

SHORTEN SEASON ONE WEEK IN BIG LEAGUES

MICHIGAN SEES SELLOUT FOR OHIO GAME SATURDAY

It's 1928 Again in Ticket Office.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Pre-depression confusion enveloped the Michigan athletic department today as preparations were begun for the Ohio State game here Saturday. While the coaches fretted over inability to practice outdoors because of a driving rain, a steady influx of ticket orders prompted conferences over the advisability of erecting the temporary bleachers to increase the seating capacity of the stadium from 73,000 to 87,000. A sell-out crowd, reminiscent of the halcyon days of 1928, was believed likely.

The team's workout was limited to a rehearsal in Yost fieldhouse of the favorite plays which failed to click against Cornell with the precision the coaches anticipate will be necessary to overcome Ohio. This was particularly true of the running plays, on which Coach Harry Kipke has evidenced a desire to rely until the aerial attack has reached a higher degree of efficiency.

Kipke announced he would make no changes in the starting line-up against Ohio, unless injuries crop up in the meantime. The greater portion of his attention this week, however, will be centered on reserves. Sufficient capable substitutes for a game like the Ohio State encounter are lacking at the moment.

O. S. U. IGNORES RAIN.

Columbus, O., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—The rest scheduled for the Ohio State varsity football players tonight was canceled and despite the rain which fell steadily during the afternoon, Coach Sam Willaman put the whole team through a long practice session for the game with Michigan Saturday.

The punters received a long workout, John Kabealo getting the most attention. Two complete back field combinations were used during the offensive practice, which consisted of new plays and a tag scrimmage against the reserve team.

In the first Cramer was at quarter back, Wetzel at full back and Fisch and Smith at halves. In the second Oliphant was at quarter, Jones and Keefe at halves and Kabealo at full back. Later Kabealo was shifted to the first team.

A long drill on forward pass defense was carried on later in the afternoon with members of the second team pitching. Two passes by Harry Newman led to the Michigan victory last year. Both resulted in touchdowns.

Meanwhile the freshmen were being drilled in Michigan plays and are scheduled to be thrown at the varsity in tomorrow's practice. All of the regulars were on hand for the practice. Conrad was heavily bandaged for a body bruise received in the Vanderbilt game, but is expected to resume his place at tackle tomorrow.

CUNNINGHAM AND SCHILDBERG WIN IN PRO-AMATEUR

Alex Cunningham, veteran Scottish professional at North Shore, and Edwin O. Schildberg, amateur, gathered 36—33—69 to lead a field of 40 in the District Pro-amateur Golf league semi-final program yesterday at Calumet Country club. It was the second straight victory for this pro-amateur combination.

Four teams tied at 72s for second place. Awards for professionals were lumped and then split four ways, while each amateur received a prize. In this division were Carl Gustafson and Gil Morgan of Calumet, Herb Walters of Gary and John Jewett, Gunnard Nelson of Rockford and Bill Wright, and Bruce Herd and Fred Sterling.

Joe Noonan and Frank McNamara of Lincolnshire won the last prize with 35—38—73. Howard Davis and Charles Becka Jr., tied at 74 with Joe Paletti and C. H. Billeter. James Wilson of Ravisloe and Johnny Lehman of Olympia Fields had 75.

NorthwesternGlad to Be 'At Home' for Indiana Game

Northwestern's return to Dyche stadium Saturday for its game with Indiana will be its first appearance on the home field this season. Both the Iowa and Stanford contests were played at Soldiers' field.

The change to Dyche stadium will be welcomed by the Wildcats, who are convinced that the lake front gridiron is a jinx field as far as they are concerned. Not since the memorable 3 to 2 victory over Michigan in 1925 has Northwestern won a game at Soldiers' field.

Last Saturday's scoreless tie with Stanford, however, has done much to bolster the spirit of the squad in its preparation for the Hoosiers.

Yesterday's drill was confined entirely to the reserves, the 13 players who participated in the game against Stanford being excused. Coach Dick Hanley made it plain, however, that in future contests the Wildcats will not resort to such an "iron man" procedure.

Overlook That Tie---Purdue Is Still Dynamite

BY WILFRID SMITH.

What about Purdue? Do the Boilermakers deserve all the nice things said about them before the season started, or have they been overrated?

The Minnesota game Saturday, which ended in a 7 to 7 tie, although disappointing to Purdue, is the answer. Although Purdue, in the first half, failed to reach the center of the field and did not make a first down, it was superior play by Minnesota, rather than unsuspected weakness of Purdue, which set this record.

Add to this that last Saturday Purdue did not complete a forward pass and the futility of the attack is more apparent. But Purdue did drive 37 yards for a touchdown, and therein lies the answer to the question of what Purdue may be expected to do this week against Chicago and in subsequent games.

Minnesota showed more power than any conference team we have seen in recent years, but Purdue was more intelligent. In this game, at least, intelligence broke even with strength.

Here's Dangerous Play.

Let's consider a forward pass that Purdue used twice last Saturday and which nearly scored on each occasion. It was designed by Coach Noble Kizer to take advantage of Duane Purvis' long distance throwing. The first time it was used, James Peelle, quarter back, was sent in to replace Paul Pardonner with instructions to call the play. Frank Haas, a substitute left end, was sent in to receive the pass on the theory that a fresh man can run faster.

Spears Says He Gave Cameraman Only Light Push

Madison, Wis., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Dr. Clarence Spears, University of Wisconsin football coach, whom a Milwaukee newspaper photographer accused of breaking his camera during the Wisconsin-Illinois game at Champaign last Saturday, said today that he gave the photographer "a light push."

"It was just a light push. I don't see how he was injured. However, he fell down, and in falling landed on his camera," Spears said. "The charge that I kicked his camera is false."

Spears said he told photographers to stay away from the Badger bench several times. The cameraman, Albert M. Sullivan, was absent from his office today on the advice of physicians, who said X-ray photographs revealed an injury to one foot.

Coaches Find Pro Football Is Good Game

[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

New York, Oct. 16.—After a long period of probation the business of professional football is beginning to develop customer appeal in New York. If the magnates will now decide upon a definite and permanent league line-up their game will be established.

This is the ninth season of the New York Giants, and if it is a profitable one, as seems likely just now, it probably will be their first successful campaign from a standpoint of Tim Mara, the promoter. Since the panic set in and college graduates, athletic and otherwise, have been compelled to scale down their notions of suitable employment for educated persons, the old prejudice against professional football has greatly diminished.

In boomtime it seemed that a college football player ought to find something better to do upon his graduation from school, and several of the fine old idealists of the coaching profession denounced the professional game as something very sinister. Of course, even the finest idealist among the exceedingly right minded character builders would have to admit that he is a professional in sport himself. But their professionalism is different.

They Have It Easy.

They live an easy life amid scholarly surroundings, and itt is not very hard for a man of some years, dealing always with kids, to acquire the character of a sage. Very dumb or ordinary phrases become gems of philosophy and there is a tendency to regard these old boys, some of whom are not so old, either, as institutions.

They have a great advantage in that few of the students are with them for more than four years. By the end of his third year the student begins to develop a very practical opinion of his surroundings and by the end of the senior year he may see no great difference between the professionalism of the coach, or old man, and that of the professional football player. But by that time out he goes.

It seems quite foolish now to recall that there ever could have been a time when any one seriously objected to the participation of varsity alumni in professional football on the ground that the professional game was un-

STANFORD STRATEGY.

STANFORD perpetrated a bit of strategy in Saturday's game against Northwestern, successful in conception but faulty in execution, which, if it had gone over, would have meant the ball game and publicly would have been heralded as "smart playing." As it turned out it probably cost the tie which to Northwestern was a victory in everything but the record book.

The play took place in the third quarter. Stanford had the ball on the Purple 11 yard line, third down, seven to go. Stanford players took positions for a place kick. Corbus was brought back from his place in the line for the rôle. The wind was at his back.

Now all Northwestern players knew it was Corbus who place kicked the goal which enabled Stanford to beat U. C. L. A., 3 to 0. It was a logical play. Instead of kicking as expected, however, Corbus had the signal to pass into the end zone for a possible touchdown and 6 or 7 points instead of trying for 3. The pass was high and incomplete and the opportunity was gone.

In second guessing, of course, one may question the judgment. In the light of subsequent events 3 points would have been every bit as good as 6 or 7. Corbus is a good place kicker. The ball was nearly enough in front of the goal posts, so he had an excellent chance of making his field goal, especially with the wind.

This reminds of a very similar situation in the Michigan-Minnesota game of last fall at Minneapolis, except the play was almost at the end of the first half. Michigan had the ball on about Minnesota's 11 yard line. Michigan took positions for a place kick, with Harry Newman dropping back.

Even the Minnesota stands shouted "fake," thinking Newman would pass with the score 0 to 0. Minnesota's defense, fearing a pass, half waited, allowing Newman plenty of time, and the ball sailed between the bars for the 3 points which gave the Wolverines the conference championship, for there was no scoring in the second period.

Now Harry Newman is a very self-confident young man, deservedly so. He felt he had better than an even chance to make the field goal. He reasoned that on a day when the temperature was only 6 above zero, a pass, even if not intercepted, might slip away from numb fingers. His

BANG! ILLINOIS HUNTERS BEGIN WAR ON DUCKS

BY BOB BECKER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Bath, Ill., Oct. 16.—Illinois' big duck hunting army, which annually burns thousands of rounds of ammunition in the northern Illinois country around Fox lake and many more thousands in the extensive marshes and sloughs of the Illinois river valley, went over the top promptly at noon today in an offensive which bagged mallards, pintails, mudhens, and other species of water fowl.

Government regulations specified a noon opening hour for both the water fowl and the jacksnipe hunters so the large number of sportsmen who went into the marshes for the first duck hunt of the season spent the morning making last minute preparations for the afternoon.

Seek Mallards Downstate.

Whereas a large majority of the northern Illinois hunters who invaded the Fox lake country on opening day devoted much of their time and powder to coots or mudhens, down here the highly prized mallard and pintail ducks were the objectives of the hunt. Considering the early start of the duck season, hunters in this locality found a plentiful supply of targets. Darting in and out of the flooded woodlands of the river valley were thousands of wood ducks, which, although on the list of birds which cannot be shot by hunters, added to the spectacle of flying waterfowl in the lowlands.

Even before breakfast this morning all of us here on Cuba island, a big tract of marsh and slough in the heart of the mallard country, were scanning the skyline to watch the flocks of mallards and pintails work back and forth over the water and the timbered areas. A brisk northwest wind was the order of the day.

Now for the Blind!

After 10:30 o'clock lunch we gathered up shells, guns and decoys and stowed them in a duck boat. Then, in company with Malcolm Vail of Highland Park, we started to pole our heavily loaded craft down the drainage ditch to the blind which we were to occupy for the afternoon. Lou Barkhausen, the third member of our party, took his live "Susies" [the common name for live hen mallard decoys in the bottom lands], and a bunch of block decoys, and headed east from us to another stretch of marsh and water near the Sangamon river where both mallards and pintails were working.

A good sized flock of old greenheads and a few teal flushed from our shooting hole with a noisy beating of wings when we poked the nose of the duck boat through the brush. But it was still too early to shoot. After placing a stool of decoys around our blind we watched the hands of our watch slowly move to the 12 o'clock position.

A few minutes later a pair of mallards zoomed over the tree tops and set their wings. In they came against the northwest wind, their wings breaking their flight. Wham! went the shotguns. The 1933 duck season had opened.

Dempsey's Sister Undergoes Operation for Appendicitis

PENNANT RACES BEGIN APRIL 17, CLOSE SEPT. 30

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The major leagues, profiting by the lesson of last spring when there was more bad weather than baseball, have decided to delay the 1934 opening by one week. The next pennant races will get under way Tuesday, April 17, and close Sunday, Sept. 30. This year's inaugural occurred April 12 and the conclusion on Oct. 1.

Decision to shorten the season, announced here yesterday by William Harridge, president of the American league, was made at a secret meeting of the majority of National and American league club representatives during the recent world series.

The April 17 date was a compromise arrangement, the National league preferring to go ahead as in other years and the American favoring an opening as late as April 24.

National Wants to Play 168.

The original plan of the National league, an arrangement which sounded as though the spirits of the late Charles Ebbets of Brooklyn and Charles Murphy of Chicago were guiding the ship, was to defy present economic conditions by furnishing more days in which the teams could play to empty stands.

The consensus of the National was that the season, instead of being 154 games in length, should be so arranged that each team would play 168 games with the opening April 12 and the closing Sept. 30.

The long schedule was first proposed by the National leaguers as early as last June, and the American league promptly took the stand that the 168 game arrangement would not be considered. The American league was so firmly opposed to the innovation that it was prepared to adhere to its old schedule with an April 17 opening even if the National had decided to adopt a 168 game chart and start April 12.

Voters May Erase Difficulty.

The April 17 opening will cause no difficulties except in the cities where Sunday ball now is banned. A few scheduled double headers will be made in the home dates of the Pirates, Phillies and Athletics, just as has been done in recent years. These doubleups may not even be necessary because Pennsylvania votes on Sunday ball next month, and indications are that the blue laws hanging over from the revolutionary period will be erased. The actual schedules will not be made until after this matter is decided at the polls.

At the meeting in which the opening and closing dates for next year were determined there was no action on the proposal to devote one month next year to games between American and National league teams. The subject will come up at the annual meetings in December, but probably will be voted down.

Stockholders of the Cubs will hold a special meeting in the Wrigley building Friday to fill executive committee vacancies caused by the recent deaths of President William L. Veeck and Adolph Schuettler. Following this meeting the board will act to fill the president's chair.

KID IRISH BEATS FITZPATRICK IN 6 ROUND WINDUP

Frankie Mirabal knocked out Jimmy Loring [1].

'You Weren't So Hot,' Shaughnessy Tells Maroons

Clark Shaughnessy, the old complainer of the Midway, proceeded yesterday to puncture any illusions the University of Chicago players may have about themselves as a result of their two practice victories.

Prefacing the afternoon's drill with some caustic remarks about blocking and tackling, the coach plunged his men into a long, rough contact session on fundamentals. "I saw nothing to get enthusiastic about Saturday," he said. "We weren't actually 40 points better than Washington. Our blocking was bad and our tackling was mediocre."

Nevertheless, Maroon fans yesterday were talking in terms of victory over Purdue at Stagg field Saturday. They think the Maroons have at least as good a line as the Boilermakers. And with Zimmer, Sahlin, and Berwanger, all of them potential game-breakers, in the back field, an attack almost as potent as Purdue's.

Not since 1927 has Chicago defeated Purdue. That year the Maroons upset a team led by Welch and Wilcox, 7 to 6, when Ken Rouse blocked Purdue's try for the extra point. Since then the scores have been as follows:

BY FRENCH LANE.

Most of the folks in the crowd of 7,000 assembled at Sportsman's Park for the opening of the fall racing season yesterday concluded after the running of the Inaugural handicap that the judges need a new pair of specs.

The crowd watched Captain Red flash past the winning post two inches ahead of Stuyvesant. Peabody's Miss Melody. It also watched Jockey Arcaro on Captain Red grab the arm of Jockey O. Webster on Miss Melody a few strides from the finish line and jerk the Peabody color bearer back just enough to turn certain victory into defeat.

Webster Gets Sack.

Jockey Webster was so enraged at the foul committed against him that he struck Jockey Arcaro with his whip. Of course the blow wasn't just according to Hoyle, but it happened after the horses had passed the line of finish.

Captain Red racing for C. E. Davidson of Chicago, paid more than 8 to 1 in the betting. The bulk of the wagers had been made on Miss Melody and Sobieha and they went to the post about even first choices. Sobieha wasn't able to finish in the money. Third place went to Help Yourself.

Maybe It Was A Break.

The judges probably did a good deed by the players when they suspended Jockey Webster. Despite his victory on Anna Adelia later in the afternoon, Webster was helpless most of the time when he was in the saddle. He took all his mounts back repeatedly and seldom gave them a chance to run. At times it looked like he might be going to fall off the horses he rode.

Despite all of the turmoil the opening of the fall season on the West side was most successful. The crowd, braving bad weather and a muddy track, was larger than had been expected.

Cabotin Finally Wins.

Most everybody in the crowd must have been happy when Valentine Crane's Cabotin raced to victory at odds of better than 15 to 1 in the first race.

Crane owns some of the most fashionably bred young horses in the country. Yet for some reason or other they haven't been able to hit their stride.

A fellow who didn't like horses so well would have weakened a long time ago and might have sold his steeds. Not Mr. Crane. He came up smiling after each defeat and kept trying until he watched Cabotin sail past the winning post ahead of Silva, Chica and seven other rivals. Cabotin is a son of the English bred sire Strolling Player-Sun Mary.

"Did you win a nice bet?" somebody asked.

Betting Is Brisk.

Cabotin has the build of a genuine mud runner and perhaps is just coming to hand late in his 2 year old campaign. A lot of English bred horses do it.

Horses that never have amounted to much were winning the other races in the muddy going. Among them were Voltina, Saucy Maria and Lady Menifee. A thousand dollars would just about be top price for any of them.

Yet many times the value of each nag was won and lost yesterday, for the betting was quite brisk. It always is brisk when those west siders get together at a race track.

Equipoise Is Done; Cancel Winooka Race

Negotiations for a match race with the Australian horse, Winooka, were abandoned today when its owners informed Cornelius V. Whitney, owner of Equipoise, that their horse would not compete except in a short race. This ultimatum killed the match, as Whitney asserted Equipoise is strictly a route runner and could not do his best at any distance under a mile.

Equipoise Continues to Train.

Whitney first announced, after Equipoise was beaten in the Jockey Club Gold cup, that the champion would be retired to the stud following the recent Havre de Grace Stakes. However, the Australians challenged Equipoise to a match race with Winooka and the American star remained in training pending the completion of negotiations.

Winooka, however, still will have a chance to match speed with some of the best sprinters in the east. Officials of the United Hunts association announced that if the Australian horse runs a good race at Laurel Friday they will add a special sprint event to the second half of the Hunts association's autumn meeting at Belmont Park early in November.

They plan a six furlong sprint in which the entries, in addition to Winooka, would be George D. Widener's Jamestown, F. S. Fairbanks' Gold Step, and John Simonetti's Sergeant Byrne. The purse would be $5,000, winner take all.

Stadium Signs Nagurski for 1st Mat Show

Bronko, who was a football star with Minnesota, will meet Pat O'Shocker in one of the supporting bouts to the match between Jim McMillen and Joe Stecher.

Ray Steele vs. Gino Garibaldi.
Bronko Nagurski vs. Pat O'Shocker.
George Zaharias vs. Joe DeVito.
Milo Steinborn vs. Everett Marshall.

The commission laid down its rules, chief of which was that all the feature events will be one fall matches with a 90 minute time limit.

The flying tackle received the commission's okay. The wrestlers, however, were warned that they must not throw each other out of the ring.

IOWA LOSES TWO REGULARS FOR WISCONSIN GAME

Schneiderman Is Called Home; Schammel Hurt.

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—The morale in the University of Iowa football camp was at its lowest ebb of the season today following the loss of two varsity men before Saturday's game against Wisconsin here.

Francis [Zud] Schammel, 220 pound veteran guard, was in a Des Moines hospital with an infected leg, resulting from a cleat injury sustained last Thursday. It is unlikely that he will recover in time to play against the Badgers.

Coach Ossie Solem found it difficult to replace Schammel in the first string line. Wilmon Hass and Lumir Kouba, reserve guards, were kept on the sidelines by minor injuries. Hass has a bruised shoulder and Kouba a sprained ankle.

Solem tried William Hawkins, a converted center, at the vacant guard job. If Lloyd Hoffman, erstwhile tackle, is in condition by mid-week he may start at guard.

BADGERS CHECK INJURIES.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—The principal activity in the University of Wisconsin football camp today consisted of checking injuries sustained in the Illinois game last Saturday with a view of conditioning the squad for the Iowa game this week end.

Practically every member of the first two teams who participated in the 21 to 0 defeat at Champaign reported injuries. Only two, however, were hurt seriously enough to preclude their appearance against the Hawkeyes.

Marvin Peterson, half back, suffered a dislocated shoulder for the second time and will be out for the remainder of the season. Leo Porrett, quarter back, reported with a hip injury which will prevent his playing for at least two weeks.

Members of the squad who were not used against Illinois scrimmaged today against the freshmen, who used Iowa formations. The varsity will oppose the freshmen in a long scrimmage tomorrow, Coach Clarence Spears announced.

PURDUE RESTS REGULARS.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Members of the Purdue squad who appeared against Minnesota were given a rest this afternoon as preparations were launched for the game with the up and coming Maroons at Chicago on Saturday.

Chicago's display of scoring strength in rolling up two topheavy victories over Cornell and Washington of St. Louis, coupled with the fact that the Purdue offensive has been able to score only three touchdowns in the first two battles, has provided added worries for the Boilermaker coaching staff. However, Coach Noble Kizer is hopeful that the squad will hit its stride against the Maroons. As a result of the Gopher battle, Purdue is likely to be minus the services of two line veterans next Saturday. Art Lawrence, center, split his hand between two fingers in making a tackle, and Capt. Dutch Fehring, left tackle, has a badly bruised side.

ILLINI WILL IMPROVE.

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Expressing belief that Illinois against Wisconsin had not reached its top form and will improve, Bob Zuppke today began preparations for the Army game.

Every Illinois scout who has gone to West Point has returned with the report that Army is strong and Zuppke, who has seen the Cadets play annually, is inclined to believe they are better than last year.

Although the regulars who appeared against Wisconsin rested today, there was plenty of work for the reserves. Zuppke is spending much time with Antilla and Palmer, substitue tackles, and it is not improbable they will start Saturday's game.

Another possibility is that Cliff Kuhn, 165 pound guard, will displace Lind Platt, 205 pound veteran.

CADETS STUDY CHARTS.

GOPHERS DRILL FOR PITT.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—The Minnesota football squad returned to work today for its game with Pittsburgh here next Saturday. The Gophers reported in first class condition after their 7 to 7 tie against Purdue Saturday.

Scout Red Dawson returned today from the east, where he scouted Pitt in its 34 to 6 defeat of Navy Saturday. He declared that the Panthers are better than a year ago, when they went to the Rose bowl after cleaning up in the east and middle west. Pitt lost only two 1932 regulars and they were replaced by men just as good.

Coach Bernie Bierman gave the reserves a lot of hard work today and indicated that for the first team he would be satisfied to polish up the attack and defense this week.

GORMAN TO LEAD IRISH.

Gorman alternated with Jack Robinson Jr., last season at the pivot post. This year, with Robinson out with an eye infection incurred during the summer, Gorman has been carrying the burden with the varsity. He has played in two games against the Tartans.

Three Irish Free State army captains, youthful in appearance but veterans in competition around the world, arrived in Chicago yesterday to tune up for the World's Fair horse show, which will open Saturday night at the 124th Field artillery armory, 52d street and Cottage Grove avenue.

Other teams entered in the international military jumping contests—namely, the United States, Sweden, and Czecho-Slovakia—are bringing a spare rider. But not the Irish. They are standing pat on Capts. Daniel J. Corry, leader of the team; Cyril B. Harty, and Fred A. Aherne.

Bring Star Mounts.

Traveling with them from Ireland and prepared to lead the cheering in the armory was Joseph McAuley. Likewise, their nine horses, seven of which comprise the team of mounts, made the trans-Atlantic and continental journey in de luxe style. The horses in the shipment include Ireland's Own, Blarney Castle, Silevenamon, Shannon Power, Limerick Lace, and Gallowglass, and all of them have a record quite as impressive as that of their riders.

The Irish army trio were met at the Park Row station by Porter Fox, president of the horse show; Col. T. A. Siqueland, head of the foreign division; Buck Owens, movie cowboy who will appear in the show; Roger Faherty, chairman of the Irish committee; Judge John P. McGoorty, Commissioner Peter M. Kelly, Kelvin Kelly, and Col. William Roche.

Go On Tour of Loop.

After a tour of the loop under motorcycle escort the Irish riders were taken to the armory to look over their horses, then to their headquarters at the Chicago Beach hotel, and finally to meet Mayor Edward J. Kelly at the city hall.

The United States army team, expected yesterday from Fort Riley, Kas., will arrive this morning with their horses at 7:30 o'clock. They will detrain at the La Salle street station.

SCOTS GET NEW PLAYERS FOR SPARTA CONTEST

The Ravenswood Scots have strengthened their lineup for the game with the league leading Spartas which will open the National Soccer league's fourth double header Sunday at Sparta stadium, 21st street and Kostner avenue. In the other half of the bill the Wieboldt Wonderbolts, formerly the Brickies, will play the Hungarian-Americans.

Manager Coubrough of the Scots has obtained the services of Jim Murray, formerly of the Brooklyn Wanderers, and Jimmy McCowie, outside right of the former Brickies. Coubrough hopes these men will help the Scots upset Sparta.

Tommy Riley and Steve MacAvoy, both of whom played with the Brickies last season will appear for the Hungarians against the Wonderbolts.

Agents of the Northwestern Union Packet company are authorized to ticket passengers to St. Louis at two-thirds of the tariff rate. This is to afford excursionists an opportunity to see "The Black Crook," which is now having a great run in St. Louis. The regular rate from Winona to St. Louis and return is $33.00. The rate for the excursionists will be $22.00. The Itaska will leave Winona Sunday next. O. R. Orr.

WILMAN SHOOTS 777 FOR RECORD IN PIN LEAGUE

Joe Wilman set a season record for the Windy City Major league last night at the Windy City alleys by bowling 777 on games of 256, 266 and 255, while helping the Corina Cigars win three games from Soper Brothers. The A. J. Cermaks also took three games, the main ingredient in the victory over the Blazek Tailors being George Theel's 666 series with games of 218, 225 and 223.

The league leading Illinois Pies won two from Rosedale Dairy to bring the record up to 16 victories and two defeats.

Overlook That Tie—Purdue Is Still Dynamite

The blocking in the line was the same as used for any forward pass. The ball was snapped back to Hecker [No. 3], who ran to his right and a few steps back as if to pass. He drew the Gopher linemen, as they charged, to him. Then Hecker tossed the ball laterally and back to Purvis [No. 4], who had faked across and then dropped back about 15 yards behind the line of scrimmage. This gave Haas, at left end, time to sprint down field at least 40 yards. Other eligible men had gone out as decoys, forcing the Minnesota secondary to cover them.

Purvis threw the ball and it fell just beyond the outstretched hands of Haas who, if he had reached the ball, would have had no one between him and the goal.

On the other occasion this play was used the left end went straight down and to his left. Again the play nearly succeeded. A Minnesota back stepped on Haas' shoe, ripping the back of it, but this interference was not seen by the officials.

Gophers Devise Pass Defense.

Minnesota used a six man line on defense, withdrawing Roy Oen from center and stationing him at the left end of an irregular three line secondary. In this line Sheldon Beise, the full back, was in the center. Two other backs formed a second backfield line. These five men, and the right end who covered the flat zone, were expected to stop Purdue's pass attack, which Minnesota feared.

Purdue used only two different plays to carry the ball over the goal line. The strategy was directed from the Purdue bench and a backfield of George Basker, left half; Howard Keegan, full back; Leon Dalley, right half, and Dan Toriello, quarter back, was sent in for the drive. Minnesota's linemen were handicapped by fatigue, but more important, Minnesota did not change its defensive tactics during the Purdue offense.

Starting from Minnesota's 37 yard line, three plays reached the 26 yard line. Two more, a four yard gain on a spinner by Basker and a six yard gain on a wide run by Dalley, made it first down on Minnesota's 16 yard line. Then two plays, one by Dalley and the other by Basker, lost two yards. It was third down and 12 yards. But Basker, in this crisis, made first down on the four yard line by two spinner plays. Three more tries were needed to reach the goal.

Why Drive Came Late.

Why didn't Purdue show this ground gaining ability earlier? Principally because Pug Lund outkicked Purvis and during the first half kept Purdue deep in its own territory. Consider that Purdue only had the ball for 20 plays in 30 minutes and that seven of these were punts, and you have the answer.

Minnesota had the ball for 42 plays in the first half. In other words, Purdue was on the defensive more than half of the time.

Chicago on Saturday will have several advantages over Purdue. The Maroons have pointed for this game from last spring and Coach Clark Shaughnessy's system of attack is new to conference opponents. The game should be closely fought. At this time, if any conference team is to defeat Purdue, we would pick Chicago rather than Wisconsin, Iowa, or Indiana.

Talking it Over

BY ARCH WARD.

It is improbable that the linesmen in intercollegiate football games get much kick out of reading the late Saturday afternoon and Sunday morning newspapers, presuming, of course, that they are able to read.

Digesting the thousands of words that were written on Saturday's games in Chicago journals, you can only conclude that the old custom of lionizing the back field players is still in vogue. The ball carriers received all the credit. Linesmen apparently were necessary evils, like a dummy in bridge.

Chicago reporters are no exceptions in this regard. Almost from the beginning of football spectators and critics alike have paid less attention to the boys who clear the paths than to the firebrands who hasten goalward with great speed once they are in the open.

Glancing over the headlines and leads of Big Ten games last week-end, I find that the stars were Everhardus and Regeczi of Michigan, Beynon and Lindberg of Illinois, Elser and Pilney of Notre Dame, Zimmer, Nyquist, and Berwanger of Chicago; Lund and Biese of Minnesota, ad infinitum. They all are backs.

If you were to ask Dick Hanley of Northwestern and Tiny Thornhill of Stanford the oustanding player of their battle at Soldiers' field, I imagine they would tell you it was Manske, the Purple's left end. He played one of the finest all around games I have ever seen. But he received scant mention in the press.

Michigan appears to be one of the great teams of the year, but few know that in Bernard they have one of the best centers the game has produced. Conceding that Everhardus and Regeczi are brilliant ball carriers, they would make few long runs without a stout line in front of them. There probably was no better back in the Western conference last season than Pug Rentner. Yet he could make no substantial gains, as he had done the two preceding years, because his line bogged down before he could get into the clear.

Football is a game of intricate maneuvers and it is difficult for the boys in the press box to identify the ball carrier, let alone the interferers. But in justice to the players, as well as the readers, a good reporter after the game will try to find out who provided the blocking on those 60 and 70 yard runs for touchdowns.

There ought to be some way of crediting the linesmen and the blocking backs with an assist on touchdown plays.

Most of the football results which have been considered upsets this fall occurred in this territory. There has been none in the east, and the reason is simple. There have been no games on the Atlantic seaboard between teams of equal skill and power. The big fellows down there cling to the idea that they should bowl over smaller schools before facing a real test. Scan the list and you won't find one game thus far between eastern teams of matched ability.

Out this way we found Northwestern taking on Iowa, a Big Ten rival, in its opening game. Notre Dame met Kansas, a strong opponent even in midseason. Indiana and Minnesota came together on the second Saturday of the season, and the following week end brought contests like Illinois-Wisconsin, Purdue-Minnesota, and Indiana-Notre Dame.

Most of the teams out this way now know their potentialities. It will be another week or two before the eastern boys have their awakening, Cornell excepted, of course.

worthy of them. But that was so only a few years ago. It was thought to be much more desirable that the young graduate should apply his energy and education to the selling of bum bonds.

Teams Change Fast.

Nowadays there are just as many bum bonds to be sold and some of them are bummer than bonds ever have been before in the history of swindling, but nobody seems to have any money or any desire to buy them. So the graduated varsity football player finds his professional football job quite an important help and nobody has the nerve any more to suggest that he should lay off for the sake of his alma mater.

Up to this time the trouble with professional football has been that the leagues have changed shape, size, and membership too rapidly for the customer interest to keep informed. Teams enter the leagues and drop out casually and very often the customer is puzzled to learn that a game does not count in the league standings but is only an exhibition contest.

Of course, the personnel changes constantly, too, and even the most enthusiastic customer could hardly keep up on the names of all the athletes on his favorite football club. But that seems to be an inherent condition in professional football which the game, if it succeeds, will have to succeed in spite of. So many new stars are graduated every year and fame is so brief in football that unless a man is a Benny Friedman, a Cagle, or a Grange he is not likely to be missed by the public if his employer drops him in favor of a new graduate whose reputation is fresher.

Collegians Laud Pros.

The college coaches were the first to recognize and publicly admit that professional football is far superior to the varsity kind even at its best. They took to visiting the Polo grounds in New York on Sunday afternoons on hack drivers' holidays to watch the game played as they wished their immature young students could play it. Some of them brought their varsity players along to peer among the professionals and learn how. Coaches from other cities, finding themselves in New York or Chicago on Sunday afternoons following their college games, dropped in to be entertained by a very high expression of the art.

In New York and Brooklyn there is only the narrowest interest in the football affairs of the local colleges and universities. This interest has been whipped up in some cases as the college people, who are not at all dumb, perceived that there was money in the football business.

However, the popular interest in the schools is not very great compared to the potential interest which can be aroused by a couple of good local professional teams playing known opponents on an intelligible schedule.

The football magnates have one great advantage in the fact that they did not have to buy real estate and build huge parks for their game. The baseball magnates did that for them long ago.

CARDINALS BUY NESBITT; DROP TWO PLAYERS

Former Bear Will Make Trip to Boston.

The Chicago Cardinals, professional football team, purchased Dick Nesbitt from the Bears, Dr. David J. Jones, Cardinal president, announced yesterday. Nesbitt will join the Cardinals immediately and will accompany the team on the eastern invasion, which starts in Boston next Sunday.

He is regarded as one of the best punters in the National league as well as a good ball carrier. Nesbitt is expected to add driving power to the Cardinal back field, one of its most pressing needs.

The Bears will begin drill today in preparation for the first invasion of the Green Bay Packers Sunday at Wrigley field. Although some of the Bears carry marks from the Cardinal game, the squad is expected to be at full strength for the Packers.

Next to the Bears-Cardinal feud the Packers and Bears' annual rivalry is the oldest in the National league. The teams first met in 1921, the Bears winning, 20 to 0. They did not meet in 1922, but have faced each other each year since. Sunday's encounter will be the 28th. The Packers have won twelve; the Bears, eleven. Four were deadlocks.

DE PAUL FACES NIAGARA; SEEKS FOURTH STRAIGHT

Niagara Falls is the next stop on the De Paul university football schedule. The north side eleven, seeking its fourth straight victory of the season, will travel east to tackle the University of Niagara Sunday.

De Paul players were excused after a brief drill yesterday, but intensive work on offense is slated for this week. Although St. Ambrose was defeated, 6 to 0, at Davenport Sunday, Coaches Jim Kelly and Ben Connors were highly displeased with the showing of the squad.

No serious injuries were sustained in the St. Ambrose struggle and Coach Kelly expects his squad to be in better physical condition for this week's contest.

Carlson, Lannon, Cella, and Covington, who appeared in the starting lineup for the first time as a result of juggling made necessary by injuries, played well.

TICKS DEFEATS VAUGHAN, 50-30, IN CUE TOURNEY

Harry Ticks of Chicago won the first game in the qualifying rounds for the northern sectional three cushion billard championship at Bensinger's Randolph room yesterday, defeating Carl Vaughan of Chicago, 50 to 30, in 80 innings. Ticks had a high run of five to a three for Vaughan.

At the Pioneer Arcade, 1537 North Crawford avenue, where the central division No. 2 tournament is in progress, William Hardt nosed out John Hahman, 50 to 47, in 67 innings, Hardt scoring a high run of six.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 16.—Bond prices broke sharply today on the stock exchange, with the exception of United States government issues, which finished irregularly higher. The decline in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE average of forty representative domestic corporation bonds was the widest since Sept. 21.

Examination of the corporation group, however, reveals that the issues, notably rails, which have come to be considered speculative bonds, showed the principal losses, while high grade issues held comparatively firm.

Speculative Issues Drop.

The setbacks in the speculative liens ranged as high as 4 points for the active issues. In the rails the principal losers included the bonds of the Allegheny corporation, Baltimore and Ohio, Chicago and North Western, Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific, the Erie, Illinois Central, Missouri Pacific, New York Central, New York, Chicago and St. Louis, Seaboard Air Line, Southern railway, and the Wabash. Utility issues were particularly weak.

With the leading foreign exchanges down, foreign loans closed lower. German issues moved irregularly lower with by far the heaviest trading appearing in the government 5½s and 7s, off 1¼ and ½ a point, respectively.

Foreign Gold Bonds Lower.

Gold payment issues, so-called, lost considerable ground as the dollar rose in the foreign exchange market. Dutch East Indies loans dropped 2⅝ to 8¼ points, Swiss government 5½s lost 5 points, and the French government and municipal issues were down ¾ of a point, to 4¼ points on the day. Only a handful of issues in the entire foreign list was able to make any headway against the downward trend.

Both foreign and domestic bonds were weak on the curb exchange with the losses ranging from fractions to more than 5 points. Most of the issues, however, are still selling comfortably above their lows for the year to date.

Oklahoma Gas and Electric.

Investors' Guide: Will you kindly give me an analysis of Oklahoma Gas and Electric 5s, due 1950?—W. T. L. I.

Answer: Oklahoma Gas and Electric company is an operating company supervised by Byllesby Engineering and Management corporation. It is controlled by Standard Gas and Electric company. It is the largest electric utility in Oklahoma, servicing 209 communities in Arkansas. It serves over 50 per cent of the urban population of Oklahoma.

Gross in 1932 dropped 5½ per cent. This was the result primarily of drop in revenues from industrial and commercial service rather than loss of customers. Number of residential customers served dropped only 2¼ per cent. Revenues should reflect any pickup in general conditions, especially in the petroleum industry which operated on a restricted basis in 1932 as a result of proration measures.

Fixed charges in 1932 were earned 1.82 times, against 2.02 times in 1931 and 2.61 times in 1930. Interest was earned 2.88 times in 1930, and 2.79 times in 1929.

Current assets on Dec. 31, 1932, totaled $3,944,000 and current liabilities were $2,879,000. There were no bank loans and no funded debt maturing prior to 1940. Total funded debt was $42,671,000.

During the last 6½ years the company has reduced domestic rates about 32 per cent. The annual report stated that there had been some agitation for rate reductions, but the voluntary reductions made by the company should make its position more secure than that of utilities in other sections of the country.

The $34,500,000 first 5s, due 1950, are secured by a first mortgage on all assets subject to a $954,000 prior lien.

Flint Motor.

Investors' Guide: Please send me a report on Flint Motor company of Detroit, Mich.—Mrs. R. C. F.

Answer: The Flint automobile was first introduced in 1923. Producers found it difficult to secure distribution and had to establish their own outlets. This necessitated the expenditure of considerable sums. It was not successful. The management had to discontinue the outlets, which stifled the distribution system. Small volume prevented the company from making full use of its productive capacities.

The large Flint, Mich., plant was sold and the company moved to New Jersey. It was without working capital. The purpose of moving was to enable the organization to use up the productive material on hand.

"Proceeds from the sale of assets would be insufficient to take care of liabilities, and therefore the statement is regretfully made that your Flint Motor company stock has no value."

SELLING FLOOD SMASHES PRICES IN COMMODITIES

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Semi-demoralization developed in all speculative commodities yesterday. Prices plunged downward under an avalanche of liquidation which swept aside all opposition.

Only the grain exchange regulations which prevent a decline of more than 5 cents a bushel on wheat, rye, and barley limited the losses in the three grains, while cotton dropped around $2.00 a bale, silver over 1 cent an ounce, hides 5 to 10 points, silk 4 to 7 points, and sugar 5 to 8 points. Gold was down nearly $1.00 an ounce.

All markets were affected by the same influences—the letup in inflation talk at Washington and uncertainty regarding the European situation. Holders of contracts for future deliveries of all commodities apparently developed a sudden disposition to get out of their holdings and found the markets poorly supported.

Grains Close at Bottom.

Grain markets closed at the bottom, with December wheat and barley the only futures that failed to get into new ground for the season. While corn did not sell quite as low as it did on Saturday, the inside figures of that day were the lowest on the crop.

Stop loss orders were uncovered in profusion in grains on the way down. The markets made a valiant effort to rally after an opening break, and, with the exception of rye, advanced to above Saturday's close, only to drop drastically in the last half hour of the session.

Wheat was off 4¾ to 5 cents, corn 1 to 1⅝ cents, oats 2½ to 2⅞ cents, and rye and barley 5 cents for the day. December wheat was 69⅞ cents at the close, which was within 1 cent of the low level on the crop and compared with a high of $1.24 in July.

Prices Far Below Peaks.

December corn finished at 37¾ to 38 cents, and at the low was off 39½ cents from the recent high. December oats dropped to 25½ cents and closed there, or 27¼ cents below the best level of the season. A decline of 63⅛ cents from the best figures in July was shown on July rye, which closed at 48⅝ cents. December barley at 39½ cents was 62½ cents below the July level.

Lard and bellies both broke 50 cents per 100 pounds in the early trading, the maximum allowed under the exchange regulations, and showed 1 cent a pound under Friday's finish, all futures being at a new low for the season.

Traders gave little consideration to the prospects of war in Europe as the result of Germany withdrawing from the league of nations, but this was given as one of the factors in causing violent price changes in sterling exchange. Liverpool wheat closed equal to ⅝ to ¾ cent a bushel higher compared with Saturday, with short covering a factor.

U. S. REFUNDING IS GOING WELL, TREASURY SAYS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—Pleasure over the reception which the public and the security markets today gave the federal government's attempt to refund the Fourth Liberty loan and to borrow half a billion dollars, in addition, was expressed by Acting Secretary of the Treasurer Dean G. Acheson tonight.

The treasury's new 3¼ per cent twelve year bonds being offered today to holders of the 4¼ per cent Fourth Liberty loan bonds and to cash purchasers were "going very well," Acheson announced after receiving reports from the federal reserve banks. Reports were that the cash purchases would be stopped at the close of business tomorrow, or soon thereafter.

The treasury also announced tonight the sale of 75 million dollars' worth of 91 day bills, dated Oct. 18, at an average discount of .13 per cent. They were oversubscribed more than two and a half times.

Inflation Takes on Modern and Intricate Form

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Back a few generations when business was done largely on a cash basis inflation meant inordinate expansion of the circulation of money.

In these days of highly organized finance, however, business is done not so much with actual cash as with credit. To the uninitiated the word "money" still connotes nickels, dimes, and dollars. To the banker, the business man, the treasury, and the RFC, however, money is credit—checks, bonds, mortgages, shares of stock, rediscounts, asset currency, etc.

* *

In big transactions there is no exchange of actual dollars and cents. Things are arranged largely by entries on books and by the interchange of pieces of paper evidencing credit of different kinds.

"Inflation," therefore, or rather the results of this thing called inflation, in these complicated times, might be the consequence of an expansion of credit rather than an actual increase in the amount of money in circulation.

The layman still thinks of inflation in terms of "greenbacks," because inflation in the nineteenth century was the result of the issuance of greenbacks. The expert, on the other hand, has his eye on credit. He is inclined to define inflation as "an increase in money or credit in excess of the ordinary needs of trade."

* *

If that is the correct viewpoint, then inflation is well under way. The federal government has undertaken a 12 billion dollar "credit expansion" drive through the RFC, the public works administration and other agencies.

Now the administration is engaged in a big drive to free frozen deposits in closed banks by a billion dollar lending scheme. Still more "credit expansion" is promised through the pressure being brought upon open banks to lend more freely to business under the NRA. The purchase of preferred stock in banks by the RFC is part of this plan.

Loans are credit, and the government has undertaken a vast program of loans to farmers, loans to states, loans to cities, loans to banks, loans to home owners, and so on.

* *

Accompanying this great credit expansion campaign is the expansion of the government debt to raise funds to make these various loans. The government is not printing greenbacks, but it is printing bonds. Bonds, like greenbacks, are secured, not by gold, but by the general credit of the federal government. They bear interest. Greenbacks do not.

In order to get the effects of inflation—that is, in order to send prices soaring—there must not only be the fact of inflation but there must be public recognition of this fact. The psychological element is a big factor.

There could be any degree of inflation and prices would not be affected if the inflation were obscured from the public's eye. It is only when buyers recognize it that the markets are affected.

* *

The printing of greenbacks would be immediately recognized as inflation by the general public and would shoot prices skyward, because the public has had experience with greenbacks before and it knows how the animal performs.

When you get into loans, asset currency, expansion of the public debt, federal reserve rediscounts and other complicated credit operations, however, the public is lost. If inflation is concealed in these things then it's as good as written in Chinese and it won't be recognized until long after its actual application. It won't be recognized until somebody in high position shouts about it from the housetops.

The question that expert financiers are still trying to settle in their own minds is that. Is this "credit expansion" merely inflation by another name? They haven't yet been able to agree on this question.

In fact, they are just as befuddled as the barbers, the plumbers, and the iceman. Nobody really knows.

* *

One expert who dabbles in this kind of crystal gazing and who thinks we are already well into an era of inflation, although we don't know it yet, says he thinks the effects of inflation—that is, soaring prices—won't come until we've had more of this credit expansion medicine.

"It's like a man pushing on a window pane with his fist," he says. "First he presses a little and nothing happens. Then he pushes a little harder and still nothing happens. He keeps on and finally it gives way with a crash. Inflation is like that. It isn't a steady, smooth operation. It goes by fits and starts and when something happens it happens all of a sudden, and then people wonder why they didn't discover what was happening a long time back."

December closed at 36.05 to 36.10 cents; March, 36.45 to 36.50 cents; May, 36.85 cents; July, 37.25 cents, and September, 37.65 cents.

North Dakota Puts Embargo on New Wheat

Bismarck, N. D., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—In an attempt to center attention on the plight of the wheat farmer with that grain selling for 53 cents at North Dakota elevator, while prices of manufactures are advancing under the NRA, Gov. William Langer today announced an embargo halting shipments of spring wheat from this state.

The state's military forces may be used to enforce the order, which will be served upon all common carriers, notifying them not to accept spring wheat shipments. The overnor will ask that other wheat states join in his action.

To Attract Attention.

Gov. Langer said he realized that the prices in the world grain markets would not be materially affected by the embargo, but that it was a "legitimate" way of calling the plight of the northwest farmer to the attention of the nation.

The proclamation was issued under a law passed this year by the state legislature, authorizing an embargo on any farm products should prices fall below the cost of production.

Gov. Langer explained he believed the legislature intended that the measure should be used in a situation such as that now prevailing in the wheat market.

Wheat Is Leading Crop.

Wheat is North Dakota's leading crop. It sold for 53 cents in Grand Forks on Saturday, threatening ruin to farmers, if prices in other lines continue to advance, Gov. Langer said. He charged that the farmer is the "forgotten man" under NRA.

"I think the time has come to use that power with which the legislature invested me," Gov. Langer declared. "If the embargo nationally advertises the need and right of agriculture to the consideration which has been given other lines, it will have served its purpose. I have an abiding faith in the fairness of the American people.

"If this action brings to the national administration and the people the realization that the 'new deal' has not reached the farmer, it will have made some progress."

The preliminary report of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. for the quarter ended Sept. 30 indicates earnings of 95 cents a common share, including 22½ cents received from the company's investment in General Motors corporation. For nine months the company's earnings were $1.98 a share, including 68½ cents from investment in General Motors, compared with $1.37 a share, including 92 cents from General Motors, for the corresponding period in 1932.

GENERAL MOTORS SAYS CODE INCREASES COST OF LABOR $21 PER CAR

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 16.—The temporary automotive code is costing the General Motors corporation $21 a car in additional labor expense, according to W. S. Knudsen, who assumed today his new position of executive vice president. The estimate, he added, does not take into consideration the additional cost of materials.

Mr. Knudsen asserted the corporation is now working on a plan for leveling out employment and eliminating as far as possible the seasonal fluctuations.

"One method we are using to accomplish this end is to increase inventories and go into body work earlier," he explained. "It will be impossible, however, to avoid seasonal fluctuations entirely."

Mr. Knudsen admitted that the tool and die makers' strike was affecting work on Chevrolet's new models, but "not seriously."

The appointment of Mr. Knudsen, formerly president and general manager of the Chevrolet Motor company, was announced Saturday by Alfred P. Sloan Jr., president of General Motors corporation. Mr. Knudsen will supervise all car and body manufacturing operations in the United States and Canada. Marvin E. Coyle, vice president and general auditor of the Chevrolet company, was appointed general manager.

DOLLAR GAINS; CRISIS ABROAD CAUSES BUYING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 16.—Uncertainty over the European political situation and the American monetary question combined to produce confusion in the foreign exchange markets.

For a while it appeared that traders were more uneasy over the European situation than the American and a modest flight to the dollar developed. It was counteracted later, however, and the dollar eased to close at an indicated gold value of 69.58 cents, a net gain of 12 hundredths of a cent from Saturday's final quotation.

The French gold franc declined to a low of 5.43 cents, but then rallied to close at 5.63, a net loss of one point. The German mark gave a similiar performance, dropping 1.15 cents to 33.25 and then rallying to close at 34.12 cents. The British pound dipped sharply to $4.46¾, but came back to finish 2¾ cents below Saturday's price at $4.54½. Canadian dollars closed at 96.87½ cents, against 97.12½ last week.

Am. Telephone Holders Pay Dividend Tax

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 16.—Stockholders of the American Telephone and Telegraph company received approximately 42 million dollars in dividends today, less a 5 per cent government tax in the case of all but holders qualifying as domestic corporations. On account of the tax this was the first time in the history of the company that individual stockholders sustained a cut in net income per share.

Accompanying the dividend checks the company sent an income statement covering the first nine months of 1933 and a letter from President Walter S. Gifford pointing out that in September the Bell System realized a net gain of 53,000 in the number of telephones connected.

First Gain Since 1931.

This was the first month to show an increase since September, 1931. The result had been forecast by reports of individual companies.

Treating the system as a whole, including the Western Electric company, which is showing a current deficit, earnings on American Telephone stock were about $3.85 a share for the first nine months of 1933, or at the annual rate of about $5.13 a share, compared with $5.96 a share for 1932.

Earnings of the American Telephone company itself totaled $175,546,336, compared with $191,040,407 in the corresponding period of 1932. Net income after all charges, available for dividends, totaled $101,225,316, compared with $110,704,774 last year.

In the earnings were dividends totaling $94,627,106, compared with $103,414,238 last year. The associated companies as a whole did not fully earn these dividends by about $17,000,000 in the first nine months of 1933 and by about $16,650,000 in the first nine months of 1932.

Total earnings for the September quarter were $59,449,332, compared with $60,670,353 in the third quarter of 1932. Net available for dividend was $35,110,807, or $1.88 a share on 18,662,275 shares of stock, compared with $34,859,282, or $1.82 a share, in the second quarter, and $35,413,893, or $1.90 a share, in the third quarter of 1932.

STOCKS SLUMP; WORLD EVENTS WORRY TRADERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 16.—With speculative sentiment switching sharply to the bearish side, stocks were given a severe drubbing in active trading today.

At the low levels of the day leading issues showed losses ranging up to eight points. The list was given some support toward the close, however, and the session ended with prices somewhat above the lows. The turnover was in excess of 2,666,000 shares.

With the rail, alcohol, and mining shares bearing the brunt of selling, the market settled back to new bottoms on the current downswing. At times the industrials approached the resistance levels on the July break.

News Disturbs Market.

The market had to cope not only with disturbing news from Europe on the disarmament problem but with a sharp rise in dollar in terms of other currencies and abrupt declines in wheat, other grains, and cotton.

Beneath the surface it was evident that deflationary forces dominated sentiment, and on the assumption that expansion of the currency was out of the picture at the moment traders pressed the selling side of stocks.

There was an inflationary inference in the week-end announcement of the administration's plans for releasing a billion dollars in frozen bank deposits as an aid to national purchasing power. However, that development was shunted aside by the rally in the dollar, the Liberty bond refunding operation, and the European crisis.

Trading Outruns Ticker.

With selling in such heavy volume that the ticker fell minutes behind floor transactions, speculative positions built up in recent weeks on inflation hopes weakened rapidly. Weak positions were uncovered in all directions as each dip in the price of wheat brought out a new burst of unloading.

Stock movements followed much the same pattern as the market for wheat and dollars, the latter probably affecting both to an equal extent. Despite the fact that loadings are holding well, railroads were especially weak, losing 2 to 5 points at the worst. The behavior of the carriers did much to unsettle the general market.

National Distillers and shares of other big alcohol and distilling companies suffered the sharpest losses as a group, the bears using the government's decision to hold seized liquors instead of destroying them.

Allied Chemical Slumps.

Allied Chemical, Commercial Solvents, and other chemicals were heavy, the former closing off more than 6 points.

Gold mining and metal shares generally reacted acutely to the anti-inflation tone of the news, losses running to more than 3 points.

The slump in commodity prices pulled J. I. Case down more than 5 points net, and Deere and International Harvester were not far behind. The mail order leaders, Montgomery Ward and Sears-Roebuck, also slid off.

Most commodity groups, such as the oils, sugars, rubbers, and foods were nicked for losses of 1 to 5 points at bottom levels.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 16.—The New York Stock exchange announced today that arrangements have been made for the sale of a membership at $135,000, a decline of $15,000 from the last previous transaction. This was the lowest price since May 8 when a seat was sold at the same level

U. S. Pegs Oil and Gasoline; Boosts Prices

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—(AP)—In the first government effort at pegging prices under the NRA program, Secretary Ickes tonight ordered minimum levels fixed for oil and its products, effective as of Dec. 1, to prevent "competitive abuses."

SEC. H. L. ICKES.

A complicated structure of prices was established by the order, which was expected in some oil sources to force quotations to consumers upwards from 1 to 2 cents a gallon for gasoline.

Ickes, the oil administrator, approved recommendations of the industry's planning and coördination committee in his order, but provided that hearings would be held at the request of objectors.

The base level for 36 gravity midcontinent crude, in which class falls the bulk of the domestic production, was set at $1.11 a barrel, while the prices for other classes ranged up and down according to their quality, with a base of $2.15 for Pennsylvania crude of the Eureka grade.

Adds to Recent Advance.

Prices for these base grades have risen in recent weeks to slightly more than $1 and $2, respectively, as the result of federal regulation of production and sharp curtailment of the flow of oil to market. Differentials were set up throughout the wholesale field to govern the filling station prices as well as quotations at refineries.

The price of 60-64 octane gasoline in the midcontinent area, one of the major bases, was put at 6½ cents a gallon, while for the eastern seaboard it was placed at 7¼ cents for terminal or barge deliveries, and 7½ cents for tank car deliveries.

The Pacific coast was allowed 7½ cents for tanker gasoline and 7¾ cents for tank car prices, while varying schedules were established for areas in which special factors such as transportation costs were above or below the general level.

Net prices to consumers will be governed by the spreads allowed between the wholesale prices, to which taxes will be added by the retail dealer.

Retail Price Spread Provided.

For gasoline within the 50 to 59.9 octane rating, in which falls a large share of that consumed, a spread of at least 5½ cents a gallon was allowed, of which 3 cents shall be the minimum allowance to the retail dealer.

Gasoline between 60 and 70 octane rating, or the high test types, was allowed a spread of 6½ cents or more, of which 4 cents was stipulated as the minimum allowance to the retail dealer.

Special differentials were provided for Colorado, Wyoming, Montana, Utah, Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Nevada, California, Arizona, New Mexico, Alaska, and the Hawaiian islands, which in the main corresponded to the general levels provided.

Ickes ruled in the order that any objections to the price levels would have to be filed in writing, accompanied by a statement of facts on which they were based, before Nov. 15. The petroleum administrative board, of which Nathan Margold, interior department solicitor, is chairman, was authorized to begin hearings Oct. 30 on objections that may be presented.

NO COMMENT BY STANDARD OIL.

Standard Oil of Indiana officials last night refused to comment on the order of Secretary Ickes establishing minimum oil prices. Standard of Indiana was one of several companies that had opposed efforts to fix oil prices.

PLEDGE SPEED IN LIQUIDATING ILLINOIS BANKS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—President Roosevelt's plan to pay out a billion dollars to depositors of closed banks was launched today with a special promise of speed for Illinois.

Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, pointed out that the Illinois practice of vesting the receivership of all state banks in the state auditor instead of having a separate receiver for each institution will enable quick work under the new plan.

Speed and the reappraisement of the assets in closed banks are the two new factors in the President's drive to pay off depositors in part at once, according to Jones. Otherwise, he said, the program is exactly that in which the R. F. C. was already engaged of making loans on the assets of closed banks.

Appraise Assets Higher.

Under the new drive, he admitted, the corporation may be somewhat more lenient in appraising the assets. Instead of accepting them at a "loan value," the corporation now will take them over at "liquidation value," Jones explained.

"Liquidation value" is the worth of the asset at some future date when, in the course of orderly liquidation, it would be marketed, officials said. It is higher than "loan value," which is very close to market value.

To speed up the lending on assets in closed banks, the RFC is setting up special boards in each federal reserve district, Jones said. Members of these boards will contact closed banks, urging them to apply for grants.

In addition, these boards will take care of checking the appraisement of assets for the closed banks in their districts. They will be clearing houses for the work, according to Jones.

Borrow Billion or More.

The billion dollars which the corporation hopes to push out through its new loans into the hands of depositors will be borrowed by the RFC from the treasury. If the billion dollars borrowing power which the corporation has left under its original act proves insufficient to carry out the plan and the other commitments of the corporation, congress will be asked to appropriate more money, Jones announced.

He explained that for the time being the plan will cover only banks which closed after Jan. 1, of which there are 3,500. He also warned depositors in closed banks from expecting to get 100 per cent pay off. Fifty per cent probably will be the average, Jones declared.

Previous plans to reorganize banks will not be interfered with by the new liquidation drive, Jones said, explaining that it will only tend to hasten the decision by closed banks as to whether they want to reorganize or liquidate.

AIDS ONLY 88 ILLINOIS BANKS

BY WALTER FITZMAURICE.

Chicago and Illinois again stand to take the short end of federal easy money in the distribution of the billion dollar fund created by the Roosevelt administration for the swift liquidation of state and national banks closed since last Jan. 1.

Of the 532 Illinois state banks closed since the depression began, only 88 come under the Jan 1 deadline the other 444 have closed during

INSULL COMPANY LENT MILLIONS NOT AUTHORIZED

Recovery of Securities Is Believed Doubtful.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—(AP)—Testimony that $30,000,000 in securities was lent by the Middle West Utilities company to other companies and to individuals "without proper authorization of the board of directors," was given the trade commission today in its final study of the Insull concern.

Aaron J. Hughes, a commissioner examiner, said that "the recovery of these loaned securities in most, if not all, cases is considered very doubtful and in all probability the company will suffer a loss of the entire book value of such securities."

He also said that the company lent $5,000,000 in securities to subsidiaries and individuals on collateral worth only $800,000. The $5,000,000 later was written off as a loss, he said.

Losses of $138,000,000 Found.

The examiner said that receivers of the company had made allowance for losses of some $138,000,000 and that another $6,000,000 was lost to brokerage companies which "were used in supporting the market for Insull company securities and failed in the early part of 1931."

The examination covered the period from Sept. 30, 1930, to April 14, 1932, the date when the company went into receivership.

Other testimony by Hughes showed how Martin J. Insull distributed about $350,000 of losses in a personal brokerage account to Middle West and its subsidiaries.

"The company's records," Hughes said, "were made to show a participation in a so-called syndicate in which the Middle West Utilities company recorded a loss of $61,220. As a matter of fact, the transactions were in connection with a brokerage account of Martin J. Insull held in the name of Washington Flexner.

Prorating of Losses.

"Contributions or payments made to Middle West by the so-called participants and credited to the syndicate account were simply the prorating of the loss to certain subsidiary companies of Middle West. The total amount thus paid in, including the $61,220 absorbed by Middle West, totaled $344,720."

The testimony further brought out that some $125,000,000 of securities were pledged directly by the company for bank and other loans. The collateral for the loans has greatly declined in value, Hughes said, to represent a further loss to stockholders in that the lenders still may maintain large claims against the company which the now inadequate collateral did not satisfy.

Kimberly-Clark Reports Larger Profits This Year

New York, Oct. 16.—(AP)—The Kimberly-Clark corporation today reported net profit for the quarter ended last Sept. 30 of $234,781, compared with $161,305 for the preceding quarter and $164,202 for the corresponding September period last year. For the nine months ended Sept. 30 the net profit was $546,292, equal to 19 cents a share on the common stock, compared with $576,061, or 25 cents a common share, in the first nine months of 1932.

PLANS TO MERGE ROADS IN EAST HINGE ON DECREE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—A decision which may have direct bearing upon ultimate consolidation of eastern railroad lines was forecast today when the United States Supreme court agreed to pass upon the right of the Pennsylvania railroad to acquire large blocks of Lehigh Valley and Wabash railroad stock.

The holdings in question are 30 per cent of the Lehigh Valley stock and 49½ per cent of the stock of the Wabash, which in turn owns some 19 per cent of Lehigh Valley stock.

The case was brought to the Supreme court by the interstate commerce commision, which four and a half years ago charged the Pennsylvania railroad with violation of the Clayton act in that the purchases would tend substantially to lessen competition. The third Circuit court of appeals held for the railroad, finding that the purchases were made solely for investment.

Contends Control Is Sought.

In its brief supporting the commission's stand, the government asserts that 73.31 per cent of the Wabash's traffic and 49 per cent of the Lehigh Valley's have been shown to be competitive with the Pennsylvania. It repeated the accusation of the I. C. C. in asserting that the Pennsylvania's dominant purpose was to influence the rival roads' management.

The government asserted that the stock purchases originated in a plan by W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania, and L. F. Loree, ruler of the Delaware and Hudson, to promote a fifth trunk line system for which they hoped to gain approval in the consolidation program.

North Western Wins Tax Case.

In another railroad case the Supreme court's refusal to review a tax question involving the Chicago and North Western railroad was equivalent to holding that settlements for undermaintenance made by the government as the sequel to world war operation are not taxable income.

At the conclusion of government operation the Chicago and North Western received a final settlement for undermaintenance of $8,191,905, which the railroad sought to include in its deduction for operating expenses. The carrier and the internal revenue commissioner appealed to the Circuit court, which reversed the board of tax appeals by finding that no part of the $8,191,905 settlement should be included in taxable income.

The Wabash was denied a review of a lower court decision in favor of the city of St. Louis in a suit brought to enjoin the taxing of the carrier's property to meet damages for condemnation of property. The suit involves an assessment of $67,573.

Developments over the week-end were construed by the live stock trade as bearish and all classes dropped in value. New 1933 lows were made in some divisions, with cattle leading the decline. Receipts of cattle were heaviest of the year, due to a heavy influx from cornbelt feedlots where steers were being held back by farmers anticipating a fall rise in prices that has failed to materialize.

Best grades of steers declined to the lowest level in more than 22 years, the top yesterday at $6.40 being lowest for a Monday since June, 1911. Hog prices fell to the lowest point of the month, showing declines of 50 to 60 cents compared with early last week, while lamb prices were at the lowest level since last May on one of the slowest markets in months.

Several Bearish Factors.

Outstanding among the bearish factors were the cut-out losses in hogs for the packer, the additional decline in provision prices early yesterday and the opening break in the grain trade. The uncertainty over the monetary situation and talk of processing tax were mentioned as adverse influences in the trade.

Sharp declines were recorded in hogs at all of the leading outside markets. Prices at Chicago declined 15 to 25 cents soon after a dull and barely steady opening. Top sales held at $5, for only a short time at the start and then slipped down another 10 to 15 cents, with $4.85 kinds at the close similar in quality and weight to the $5 hogs at the start. The general average for the session showed a loss of 15 cents at $4.50.

Heavy Kinds Break.

Declines in lard at the opening restricted the buying of heavy hogs and these were off as much as 35 cents in places, with some bids on extremely heavy butchers, 50 cents lower on stock that sellers were holding over in hopes that the decline might be checked.

Despite the sharp break of the last few days, hogs are selling 90 cents to $1.10 above a year ago.

Lambs also are selling higher than a year ago, yesterday's sales of ovine stock being $1 to $1.25 better than at this time in 1932, but cattle make a sad showing compared with a year ago.

The bulk of all beef steers sold yesterday at $5 to $6.25, only a scattering of prime 1,057 to 1,068 pound averages reaching the $6.40 top, while on the corresponding day last year the top was $9.50 and the bulk of sales was $5.50 to $8.25.

Heifers Maintain Position.

The lamb trade reacted a little after an early break of 25 to 50 cents and closed mostly 25 to 35 cents under the close of last week. Since the high point of the season in August when lambs were selling up to $8.90, the lamb market has declined $2 to $2.25. Yesterday's top sales of both natives and westerns were made at $6.75.

PROVISIONS DECLINE LIMIT ON GENERAL LIQUIDATION

Weakness in hogs, grain, stocks and cotton had a depressing effect on provisions, and prices dropped 50 cents per 100 pounds early, the maximum amount permitted for one day under the exchange regulations. Packers bought both lard and bellies on the decline and a strong rally followed. Net losses on lard were 5 to 17½ cents while bellies were off 25 to 37½ cents at the close.

Cash lard was 7½ cents lower for regular at 4.65 cents, loose was off 5 cents at 4.57½ cents, and leaf 12½ cents lower at 4.50 cents. Cash bellies 25 cents lower at 4.50 cents. Hogs were 5 to 25 cents lower. Liverpool lard was 3 to 6d lower.

Stocks of lard in Chicago were 105,217,410 pounds Oct. 14, compared with 111,530,320 pounds a month ago, and 23,948,165 pounds a year ago. Stocks of dry salted clear bellies were 27,856,074 pounds, 3,002,819 a month ago, and 8,464,891 pounds a year ago. Fresh pork loins were lower at 7 to 14 cents. Prices follow:

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—(AP)—COTTON—Lower raw led to a weak and quiet cloth market today. Men's wear opened moderately active, women's wear quiet. Settlement of silk strike troubles is still uncertain and business is limited. Rayon was firm and quiet. Burlaps were steady.

EGG FUTURES RECOVER FROM EARLY DECLINES

Egg futures recovered from early declines and closed steady on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday. Butter eased ½@¾c. Early selling in eggs apparently resulted largely from weakness in stocks and grains, but statistical news favored the late buying.

The four markets moved out 15,800 cases more eggs than last year, and receipts were less. The butter surplus gained 630,000 pounds due to the fact that the four markets reported a rather heavy inward movement of stocks.

BUTTER AND BEEF TO BE PURCHASED BY GOVERNMENT

Both Producers and Idle Aided by Plan.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—(AP)—Two million pounds of butter and an undetermined quantity of beef will be bought weekly by the Surplus Relief corporation for distribution to the idle in accordance with plans formulated several days ago, Harry L. Hopkins, the relief administrator, and Secretary Wallace announced today that the purchases were to be made. The cattle will be of the canner and cutter grades.

The food will be in addition to the pork bought by the farm administration in its emergency hog program and turned over to the relief administration. The program announced today will cost approximately $15,000,000.

The butter purchasing program worked out by Farm Administrator Peek and Maj. Robert M. Littlejohn, chief of the special commodities section, is designed to cut into an existing surplus estimated at about 70,000,000 pounds. This surplus, it is claimed, has been holding down prices while the relief organization has had demands for butter far beyond its capacity to fill.

Idle Require More, Hopkins Says.

"Needy people on the relief rolls in many communities," said Hopkins, "have not been supplied with nearly sufficient quantities of meat and butter, while cattle, dairy, and hog growers are suffering from poor markets."

Hopkins said today that, pending perfection of plans by the farm administration, he was going ahead with cattle buying with the aid of the American National Live Stock association and other producers' organizations.

The average price of beef cattle was described as having declined steadily since July, largely because of the burden on the market of lower grades of cattle from the western range states. The glut was said also to have been aggravated by hesitancy of farmers in the corn growing states in buying normal supplies of stocker and feeder cattle.

Two alternative methods are open for financing the beef plan, neither of which has been chosen. A compensatory tax could be levied on beef when a processing tax is levied on hogs or corn to finance the corn-hog program being worked out by the farm administration.

Consider Marketing Agreement.

A marketing agreement also could be used to increase prices of high grade steers. By either method the farm administration could contribute funds to the surplus relief corporation to help finance expansion of the present beef program.

Not less than two million pounds of butter per week or nine million pounds per month are to be purchased.

The treasury department, it was announced, has approved an allocation to the farm administration of $10,000,000 for the purchase of butter. Additional funds will be supplied from federal emergency relief funds, and through processing taxes.
